PRESSURE BROUGHT BY UNITED STATES TO DEPOSE HUERTA

Ambassador Wilson Resigns and Ex-Gov. Lind Is Ordered to Mexico as Personal Agent of President.

MEXICANS TO BE TOLD HUERTA MUST ABDICATE

Believed American Ban on Huerta May Force Resignation—Henry L. Wilson Asked to Keep Out of Mexico.

MISSIONARIES ORDERED TO GET OUT OF MEXICO

Anderson, S. C., August 4.—Secretary of State W. J. Bryan, in a telegram marked "confidential," has instructed Dr. Pressley, treasurer of the board of missionaries of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church, with headquarters at Due West, S. C., to order all missionaries of that church out of Mexico at once, as they are in peril.

Washington, August 4.—President Wilson today took the first steps in the policy through which he proposes to deal with the Mexican situation. He formally accepted the resignation of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, to take effect on October 14, and sent to Mexico City as his personal representative—but not accredited to the Huerta government—former Governor John Lind, of Minnesota, a lifelong friend of Secretary Bryan. The understanding is that when a stable government is established in Mexico Mr. Lind will be formally named as ambassador.

Lind's Mission Announced.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan had frequent conferences during the day; Ambassador Wilson had a long talk with Mr. Bryan and Chairman Bacon, of the senate foreign relations committee, discussed the situation with the president at the white house. But for the announcement of Mr. Lind's mission, no explanation of the policy to be pursued by the American government was forthcoming. The statement from Secretary Bryan read:

"Ex-Governor John Lind, of Minnesota, has been sent to Mexico as the personal representative of the president to act as adviser of the embassy in the present situation. When the president is ready to communicate with the Mexican authorities as to the restoration of peace he will make public his views.

"Governor and Mrs. Lind departed for Mexico tonight by rail, to proceed via New Orleans or Galveston."

It became known that a further announcement would be made by President Wilson in a few days, possibly on the arrival of Mr. Lind in Mexico City.

Huerta Being Urged to Resign.

It is said the president is observing with keen interest the efforts of leading Mexicans to bring about peace and will offer no suggestions until these apparently prove futile. That Mr. Lind will be empowered to explain to all inquirers the unalterable opposition of the American government to the recognition of the Huerta administration is expected to be a factor which may assist the situation. Prominent Mexicans have taken it upon themselves to try to persuade General Huerta to retire in favor of another provisional executive acceptable to all factions.

Meanwhile arms and munitions of war from the United States will continue to be denied to the two warring forces and unless it is apparent that eternal efforts to bring about peace have failed the United States will not offer its services as a mediator. Mr. Wilson and undoubtedly will act in that capacity when the time comes.

Declarations from both Huerta and

SENATE INDORSES CUT OF $280,325 IN MONEY SHEET

Upholds Action of Committee in Making Outgo of State Equal to Income by Chopping 7 Per Cent Off Figures.

SENATORS VOTE TODAY ON PENSION DECREASE

All Other Amendments Are Agreed To on Monday. University Accepts Smaller Appropriation.

The state senate completed half of the general appropriations bill as amended by the appropriation committee yesterday afternoon. There were many amendments offered to the bill and to the committee's amendments, but in every instance the action of the committee was sustained by a handsome majority.

The most animated fights of the day came over the amendment of Senator E. L. Smith, of the ninth, to completely strike the section giving $30,000 to the State Medical college at Augusta and the effort of Senator M. C. Tarver, of the forty-third, to cut the appropriation to the Georgia Tech from $80,000 to $70,000 instead of $74,400 as recommended by the committee. Both of these attempts were lost.

Committee Amendments Adopted.

The following amendments of the committee were passed:

University of Georgia, $52,500 to $48,725.

Georgia Tech, $80,000 to $74,400.

Georgia Normal and Industrial college, $52,500 to $48,725.

Agricultural college at Dahlonega, $21,500 to $19,995.

State Normal school at Athens, $47,500 to $44,175.

State College of Agriculture, $100,000 to $93,000.

Georgia Medical college, $30,000 to $27,900.

Common school fund, $2,550,000 to $2,371,500.

Premium due on insurance of Georgia School for Deaf and Dumb, $450.

The following other amendments were passed:

By Senator Tarver, of the forty-third, to decrease the number of doorkeepers in the house of representatives from five to four.

Amendments Lost 21 to 15.

The amendment of Senator Olliff, of the fourth, to the committee's amendment, providing that the cut in the common school fund shall only be from $2,550,000 to $2,500,000, was lost by a vote of 21 to 15 after a lively debate. Senator Olliff deplored the fact that the poor people of the state were made to suffer at the hands of the state, while certain schools of higher education were given the same amount as they have been getting or even more in view of the fact that 7 per cent was cut from their appropriation which was raised in the house.

In all cuts the amount was 7 per cent of that given by the house and those institutions which had been granted a larger sum by the house benefited accordingly. Only one committee amendment remains to be considered, the cut from $385,000 to $310,100 in the pension fund, and judging from the manner in which the senate supported its committee Monday this decrease will in all probability be made today.

Only One Amendment Probable.

Although many amendments have been sent to the desk, it is probable that the amendment of the committee decreasing the pension fund will be the only one that is passed by the senate today. If the bill is passed as amended by the committee and free from other amendments it will cut from the general appropriations bill the sum of $280,325, approximately the same amount which is in excess of the anticipated revenue.

Probably the most striking incident of the session occurred when Senator R. T. DuBose, of the thirtieth district and a resident of Athens, made a short talk to the upper house seconding the motion to cut the maintenance fund of the University of Georgia from $52,500 to $48,725.

Senator DuBose stated that he knew that the University of Georgia was perfectly willing to give up her share of money along with the other state institutions in the interest of the betterment of the financial condition of the state. "Of course," said he, "the university needs the money as much, if not more than most of our educational institutions, but at the same time when a serious crisis is facing our state I know it is willing to sacrifice itself for the state."

Senator Smith Explains Position.

The amendment striking the $30,000 from the Augusta Medical college was lost by a vote of 29 to 8.

Senator Smith, of the ninth district, in support of his amendment striking the appropriation of $30,000 to the Augusta Medical college, among other things, said: "At the last session of the legislature the trustees of this college came before the legislature and offered this college to the state as a gift, and, I understand, that they stated they would ask for no appropriation. Now, at this, the very first session of the legislature after the property has been given to the state, they come and ask for $30,000.

"The state now is having to appro-

RATE CASES WON BY GEORGIA TOWNS

Freight Rates to LaGrange, Carrollton and Vienna Declared Unjust—Will Cost Railroads $4,000,000 Year.

Washington, August 4.—(Special.)—Commissioner Clements, in rendering the decision of the interstate commerce commission today in the LaGrange, Carrollton and Vienna rate cases, condemned the existing arbitrary differences in rates to these points as compared with rates to Atlanta and Cedartown, the basing points.

The decision of the commission is of tremendous importance. It will cause a readjustment of rates throughout the south, and it is estimated to mean a loss to the railroads of $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 a year, or a reduction of 10 per cent.

The decision does not prohibit lower rates to basing points which have water competition, or to Atlanta, which, by reason of competitionfi has long been a basing point. It does condemn the existing so-called "arbitrarles," or differences above the rates to basing points, and "differentials," or differences below the basic rates.

How Southern Rates Are Based.

All rates to the south from the east are based on the rates from Baltimore and Louisville to Atlanta. The commission finds that the arbitrary increase of 27 cents to Carrollton, as compared to the Louisville-Atlanta rate is too high by 15 cents. It holds the arbitrary increase of 20 cents over the Baltimore-Atlanta rate is too high by 8 cents.

In other words, taking the rail and water rates from Baltimore and Louisville, as controlling all these rates, it decides that the differentials shall not exceed 12 cents from east or west and that the arbitraries shall not exceed 12 cents. The basing point system of making rates is not condemned per se. The commission recognized the fact that trading centers and trade routes existed long before the establishment of railroads. This was recognized in fixing rates to interior

How Atlanta Is Affected By the New Express Rates

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, August 4.—(Special.)—Here are the new express rates from Atlanta to a selected list of cities, ordered by the interstate commerce commission, to become effective October 15. The rates ordered by the commission will undoubtedly be used as an argument for further reducing the parcel post rates. It is predicted that within five years the express companies will have been abolished entirely.

The figures given below are a comparison of the present parcel post rates, present express rates and new express rates for packages weighing one, five and ten pounds. The last two columns are the present express rates and new express rates on 100 pounds of merchandise.

The new limit for parcel post packages is twenty pounds, but this increase was ordered after the interstate commerce commission had made up its table of comparisons and these are not carried beyond the former eleven-pound parcel post limit.

NEGRO IS SOUGHT BY ARMED WHITES

Residents of Lampkin Street and Vicinity Stirred by Attemped Assault Upon Girl 11 Years Old.

As the result of an attempted assault upon a little white girl 11 years of age, London Green, a negro, was sought for hours last night by a large crowd of white men.

The attack took place in the home of the negro at 38 Lampkin street, about 7:30 Monday morning. The young girl was playing with her sister, age 13 years, on the porch of her home, which is directly across the street from where the negro lives, when Green called her, asking her if she did not want a bunch of flowers.

According to her own story, when she arrived at Green's door he asked her to step inside, as he had the flowers in a back room, already cut. Upon reaching the second room of the house, she states that Green, who is a large negro about 45 years old, threw his arms about her and kissed her. She immediately began to struggle, but made no outcry. Although of small stature, the girl succeeded in frustrating the negro's evil designs for perhaps ten minutes, when he became frightened and released her.

The little girl sped swiftly up the street to the home of her sister, where she sobbingly poured out her pitiful story. Police were notified and officers were hastily dispatched to the scene, but the negro could not be found.

In the meantime, a determined body of men, heavily armed and provided with a rope and headed by the near neighbors of the little girl, were going through every house in the vicinity of the crime, and had he been captured, Green would doubtless have met death

SENATE WAITING FOR HOUSE BILL

Will Start Work on Revision When Sheppard Substitute Is Transmitted—No Reconsideration.

There was no reconsideration of the Sheppard substitute by the house yesterday and the bill should be engrossed in time to be transmitted to the senate today.

Chairman Miller, of the senate finance committee, said that his committee was waiting for the bill and would go to work on it just as soon as it is obtained from the house. It all depends now on the time required to copy the bill by one of the engrossing clerks of the house, and there seems to be no reason why the measure may not reach the senate today.

In speaking on the subject of tax reform, Senator Miller said:

"It has not yet been determined whether or not the house bill will be simply amended or passed by substitute in the senate. It will not go through the finance committee without some provision being made for a tax commission or some form of state board to supervise tax returns of the whole state. I do not believe that the senate will accept a bill that makes no better provision for equalization than merely county boards of equalizers."

Motion to Reconsider Withdrawn.

When the house met yesterday morning Representative McMichael, of Marion, who had given notice of a motion to reconsider the Sheppard measure, asked the unanimous consent of the house to withdraw his motion so that the bill might be transmitted to the senate earlier. This was granted and there was no further effort made to reconsider the bill.

An effort will be made to have the senate finance committee adopt the amendments of Mr. McMichael and Mr.

REMARKABLE STORY IS TOLD BY NEGRO IN ACCUSING FRANK OF PHAGAN MURDER

Chief Witness for State Admits, Under Cross-Examination, That He Has Been Under Arrest Seven or Eight Times, and That Many Statements Made in His Three Affidavits Are False. Hangs His Head and "Fools With His Fingers" When He Lies, He Says.

LOOPS MURDER NOOSE AROUND HIS OWN NECK TO ILLUSTRATE STORY

By Order of Judge the Court Is Cleared of Women and Children at Afternoon Session Owing to Revolting Testimony Given by Conley—Dr. Roy Harris, It Is Understood, Will Be Closing Witness Summoned by the Prosecution.

The long-looked-for sensation in the Leo M. Frank trial came Monday morning when Jim Conley, the negro sweeper formerly employed at the National Pencil factory, took the stand and told a revolting as well as dramatic story of what he claims to know of the murder of little Mary Phagan.

Following the telling of this story, parts of which can only be hinted at, Conley was placed under cross-examination by Luther Rosser. For five hours and a half the able attorney for the defense wheedled and coaxed and cajoled and used every tactic known to the legal profession to break down the fabric of the story and to tear the tale to tatters.

He succeeded in confusing the negro as to minor details only. He failed to shake the foundation of the main story—which was that, on Saturday, April 25, Leo M. Frank had asked him to "look out" for him while he "chatted" with a young woman; that later Frank had called to him and told him the girl had "refused him" and that he had struck her. He then described seeing the body of the girl lying on the floor near her machine with a cord and a piece of cloth around her neck. She was dead.

Asked Him to Help.

He recited that Frank had asked him to help him dispose of the body and that he had taken it to the basement. He told of Frank's plan to have him burn the body. He told of writing the notes which were given to Frank and which were later found near the body.

These things he told in a fashion so rapid it was difficult for the stenographers to follow him. During the recital he was as calm and composed as it was possible for a human being to be.

When the cord, which was found around the little girl's throat, was handed him he placed it around his own neck to illustrate how it was tied, and as he did so his hands were as steady as if he was tying a scarf.

The story was one of the most remarkable that has ever been recited in the state of Georgia. On it the case of the state will stand or fall.

Explaining how he happened to be at the factory on Saturday he said he had been asked to "look out" for Frank while he was engaged with a young girl. This was no uncommon thing for him to do, he said.

Watched Out Before.

On several occasions Frank had asked him to watch out for him to see that no one entered the building, he said; and he told of one occasion when he surprised Frank and a woman in a compromising attitude. According to this statement, the woman was seated in a chair and Frank was kneeling on the floor.

On one occasion he says Frank and another man were alone in the building with two women and he stood guard for them.

A significant feature was brought out by the state in regard to the writing of the notes, which have proved so baffling to the detectives. The state attempted to show that Frank knew Conley could write. This was objected to by the defense.

"Your honor," said Mr. Dorsey, "we expect to show that while the detectives were having Newt Lee write and getting specimens of Frank's writing, Frank knew that Conley could write, but never once informed the authorities of the fact."

Will Conley Stand Up?

Will Conley be able to stand up under the terrific cross-fire of questions which will be hurled at him today?

That is the question which occupied every mind when court adjourned at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Only a prophet could answer this question. Upon it depends everything.

During the cross-examination Conley admitted having been in jail seven or eight times—he could not tell how often.

Conley's statement on the stand Monday differed in many essentials from the three affidavits he had made. He admitted quite frankly that he had lied in some of the statements made in them, but he said that all three contained elements of truth.

This morning at 9 o'clock Conley will once more be placed on the stand and it is safe to say he will be on the stand when court adjourns, unless the unforeseen takes place and he wilts and collapses under the white heat of the fire through which he must pass.

Dorsey Is Pleased.

When court adjourned Monday, Solicitor Dorsey expressed himself as pleased beyond expression with the way Conley had stood up.

While the defense had little to say, it was obvious that Monday's cross-examination was but the faintest forerunner of what is to come—the preliminar skirmishing to mix up the witness, to undermine him and to get him in condition for the big coup today.

Room Cleared of Women.

After the noon recess, Judge Roan had the room cleared of women and children. There were fully 150 women and several small children in the room at the time and they displayed the keenest resentment that they were not permitted to remain. The testimony had been of such a revolting nature that Judge Roan deemed it no place for a woman to be.

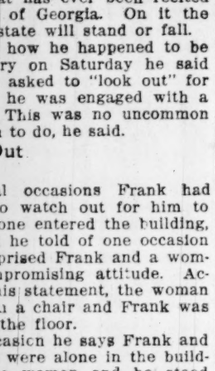

Solicitor Dorsey at one stage of the afternoon proceedings showed evident displeasure at the attitude of Judge Roan and sharply snapped to a law book he was about to read from. Judge Roan had turned to listen to a question addressed to him by some one seated by his side.

The state will not close with Conley. Dr. Harris, whose illness prevented him from finishing his testimony last week, will take the stand as soon as he is well enough. It is understood that the state will endeavor to bring out much additional information as to the time of Mary Phagan's death.

Conley Taken to Tower.

At the conclusion of Monday's proceedings Mr. Arnold asked that Conley be taken in charge by the sheriff and placed in the Tower, where no one could see him or talk to him. William Smith, his attorney, asked that he be allowed to send him food. Judge Roan ordered that this be done, and he was removed to the jail in Chief Beavers' automobile. Just as he was leaving the courtroom he asked a reporter for some cigarettes. He was not nervous and was apparently in good condition.

OPPOSES SEGREGATION OF RACES IN P. O. DEPT.

Washington, August 4.—Opposed to segregation of the races in the post-office department, Senator Clapp, of Minnesota is prepared to insist that Postmaster General Burleson explain the grounds on which a department order providing for such a separation of the white and negro employes was in contemplation.

The senator contends that the two races have worked together for a half century, and he does not believe any greater need exists for their separation now than at any time in the past. The proposed plan, Senator Clapp says he has been given to understand, would increase the expenses of the department by approximately $150,000 a year.

While there have been no very strenuous complaints from employes of post-offices throughout the country, officials admit that vigorous protests against working with negroes have been filed by employes in the railway mail division. On long runs, the complainents have represented, white railway mail clerks frequently are compelled to eat and sleep with negro clerks. They have made a concerted effort to have this condition remedied.

Amazing Testimony of Conley Marks Crucial Point of Trial; Says Frank Admitted Crime

The crucial point of the entire case of the state versus Leo M. Frank, charged with the murder of little Mary Phagan, an employee in the National Pencil factory, of which he was superintendent, came Monday morning when after putting one or two witnesses back on the stand to bring out minor points, Solicitor Hugh Dorsey called out, "Bring in Jim Conley."

The state had been gradually paving the way for the testimony of the negro sweeper who declares that Frank called on him to hide the body of the dead girl and told him that "he had struck her too hard," and as the darkey's name was called out a murmur ran through the crowded courtroom and several women spectators even clapped their hands together before the sheriff's deputies could restore order.

Jim Conley came in after a short wait. Police Chief James L. Beavers had brought the negro from the station house in his automobile and the negro came slowly into the courtroom walking directly in front of the chief and with no handcuffs or other evidences of being a prisoner.

Conley on the Stand.

After the usual questions to establish his identity the solicitor asked: "Do you know Leo M. Frank?"

"Yes, sir."

"Point him out."

The negro did so, indicating with his right hand the defendant who was sitting within a few feet of him.

"Did you talk to him on Friday, April 25, of this year?"

"Yes, sir."

"Tell about it and what was said?"

"Well, about 3 o'clock that day Mr. Frank came up to where I was at work and told me to come back Saturday morning that he had work for me to do."

"How long had you been working at the factory?"

"About two years."

"Had you ever gone back before for Mr. Frank?"

"Yes, sir;" replied the negro.

"Did he give you any instructions about coming back Saturday?"

"I dunno what you mean by 'instructions'," said the witness.

"Well, did he tell you what he wanted you to do on Saturday when you came back?"

"He told me to come back there Saturday about 8 o'clock."

"Did you go?"

"Yes, sir."

"What time did you get there?"

"'Bout half pas' eight."

"Who got there first, you or Frank?"

"We both got there 'bout the same time."

"What was said?"

"Well, I said, 'Good mornin', Mr. Frank,' an' he said, 'Good mornin', Jim.' an' I followed him into the building right away. He then told me I was there rather earlier than he thought I'd be there and that he wanted me to watch the door for him, as I'd done lots o' times before."

"Had you ever watched the door before?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why did you watch the door, what for?"

Frank Trusted Negro.

"Well, when Mr. Frank would have young ladies up dere to chat with them I'd always watch the door for him while dey wuz chattin'."

"Well, I dunno 'bout dat, but dey wuz up dere whilse I watched de door; dat's what I had to watch it fur, so's nobody could disturb 'em while he and de ladies wuz chattin'."

"How many times had you watched the door for Frank before that day?"

"I can't remember 'zactly how many times, but it was lots o' times I'd done it."

"Well, tell us some particular time that you'd watched the door before."

"Well, I 'members watchin' de door on last Thanksgiving day for him; dere was a big, handsome lady up dere then and another man and another lady, too. They all stayed up in the factory whilze I watched de door."

"Well, go back to that day."

"Well, when Mr. Frank said I was dere too early I tole him I'd go down to the Capital City laundry and see er pusson an' come back, and he said for me to be shore and be back in 40 minutes."

"Did you come back, and when did you next see Frank?"

"Well, sir, he told me to meet him on Forsyth street near Nelson street, long where Montag's is, an' I met him there."

"What time did you meet him there?"

"I dunno 'zactly."

"About what time was it?"

"Well, it was about half past ten."

Meet By Appointment.

"You met Frank there, which way did he come from?"

"He came on his way to Montag's."

"Did he say anything?"

"Yes, sir."

"What was it?"

"He said, 'Ha, ha, youse here's is you,' an' I said, 'Yes, sir, Mr. Frank I's here all right.'"

"Well, what did he say then?"

"He told me to wait there for him whilse he went on to Montag's and he said he'd be righ back."

"Did he come back?"

"Yes, sir; he come back in a few minutes and told me to come on with him and I followed him down the street, going towards the factory."

"Did you go to the factory and no where else?"

"Well sir, we stopped in at Curtis' drug store, least Mr. Frank went in there a moment and I waited for him, an' then we went on down the street, me er followin' Mr. Frank and once he looked back to say something to me an' he run into a little baby on the sidewalk and I 'members that 'cause the man what was with the baby looked at me like he thought I done it, but the white man didn't say nothing and Mr. Frank and I went on to the factory and he told me to go sit on a box near a trash pile on the first floor and I did that.

Arranges Signals.

"Then he said, 'Jim, there'll be a young lady up here to chat with me in a while an' I want you to watch the door whilse we are up there. I wants you to do jes like you allus do, he says, 'and when a lady goes up if I stomp my feets on the floor, you go an' lock the front door an' then when you hear me whistle, you go an' unlock the door and get back some-

"Well, did you start to watching then?"

"Yes, sir; Mr. Frank, he went on upstairs and I started to watch an' bimeby Mr. Darley, he came up and went on up the steps and then Miss Mattie Smith, she come up and then came on back down and in er little while Mr. Darley, he come back and went on out right after Miss Mattie an' he patted her on the back an' I heard him say, 'Dat's all right Miss Smith, you jes wait; you'll get dat on next Saturday an' you needn't worry no more.' Dat was all I heard 'em say and de lady went on out, wiping her eyes with a handkerchief, an' Mr. Darley went back up stairs."

"Was this talking between the two people before or after you and Mr. Frank came back to the factory from where you met him at Forsyth and Nelson streets?" asked the solicitor.

"It was after we come back," replied Conley.

"Well, what happened then?"

"Well, after de lady done lef', then Mr. Darley lef' too."

"Well, go on, what happened next?"

"Well, a lady, she come in and went up the stairs and then a nigger come on in. He was a nigger drayman er peg-leg nigger, and he went up the stairs and I waited around er while and Mr. Darley and Mr. Holloway bof came down and lef', and then Mr. Quinn come in and he went up stairs."

"How long did he stay?"

"He stayed just er little while and he came down and left."

"Who came next?"

Mary Phagan Came.

"Den de lady, she came up and went up de steps."

"What lady?" asked the solicitor.

"De lady what's dead."

"What is her name?"

"Miss Mary—Miss Mary Perkins, I allus called her," said the negro witness.

"Well, go on."

"Well, den I hears footsteps an' thought that two people was coming from the office and going to come down de steps, but I hear the footsteps all pass the head of the steps and go back towards the back of the building, back towards the metal room, an' after a little while I heard a lady scream back there an' then everything got quiet again."

"Well, what took place next?"

"Well, dis Miss Montee Stover, she come on in an went up the steps."

"How was she dressed?"

"She had on er rain coat an' tennis shoes."

"Had you ever seen her before! Did you know her?" asked Dorsey.

"Yes, sir; I'd seen her onct or twice befo' an' I knowed who she was."

"Go on, Jim," urged the solicitor.

"Well, dis Miss Monteen Stover, she come on down and everything was quiet and den I heard somebody tiptoin' from de back of the building towards the head of the stairs on the second floor, sounded lak dey wuz kinder runnin' on dey toes," he added.

"Then I heard somebody go back towards the metal room on dey tiptoes again, an' 'bout dat time I des dozed off an' I waked sometime later, I dunno how long 'twas, but it wuz Mr. Frank er stompin' on de floor above what waked me. I locked de door lak he done tole me to do when I heard him er stompin' an' finally he began to whistle and I unlocked de door and went back to my box and den in a few minutes I walked up dey steps."

"Did you see Frank then?"

Frank Was Scared.

"Yes, sir; I seed him. He was standin' dere in his office jes er shiverin' an' er rubbin' his hands together an' he had er cord in one han'."

"Did you look at his eyes?"

"Yes, sir."

"How did they look?"

"Dey was large and he looked funny out of them."

"How did his face look?"

"His face was all red like."

"Is this the cord you saw?" asked the solicitor, displaying a small piece of wrapping twine similar to that found tied around the dead girl's neck.

"Well, it was cord jes like dat," replied the witness.

"What was said?"

"Well, sir; Mr. Frank asked me ef I'd seed er girl come up and I told him I'd seed two of 'em come up and seed one of 'em go back down, but I hadn't seed the other go down yet. Then he said I never would see on of them go back down."

"He said that the little girl went to the metal department with him and he tried to be with her and when she tried to stop him he guessed he hit her too hard.

"'Jim,' he says to me, 'You know I ain't made like other men.'" added the negro witness.

"Had you ever seen that he was not made like other men?" asked the solicitor.

"Yes, sir."

"When?"

"Well, on las' Thanksgiving day, for instance, I seed him with a lady up there.

The negro sweeper then went on to describe in detail what he claims to have seen in regard to Frank and his conduct with women and with girls in the factory and declared that what he was telling he had seen with his own eyes.

"Had you seen this often?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"Yes, sir; several times."

"In this factory?"

"Yes, sir."

Finds Girl Dead.

"Well, what did Frank tell you to do when you came upstairs?"

"He told me to go on back and get the girl and bring her up there and I went back and found her lying there on her back with her hands kinder stretched out above her head and a cord tied round her neck."

With a cord furnished by the solicitor the negro showed the jury how he meant the cord was tied around the dead girl's neck.

"She was dead and when I saw that I went back to where Mr. Frank was in his office and told him that the girl was dead an' he then told me to get a piece of cloth and tie her up in it and take her downstairs to the basement. He said I could get a piece of dat baggin' like dey wrap cotton in and that it was in er box on the same floor and I got it and went back to wrap her up.

"I took the young girl," the negro said, "an pulled her hands down to her sides and closed her feet together and wrapped the sack around her, and then I got kinder scared and went back to see Mr. Frank and I looked at er clock and it was four minutes to one."

At the solicitor's order Conley then pointed out to the jury on the cross-section diagram of the building the spot where he had found the body.

"I went on and I walked up to Mr. Frank and told him that girl was dead and he done just like this and said, 'Shh'" the negro held up one hand as persons do when they warn another to stop talking.

The negro then pointed out where he got the bagging to wrap the dead girl in.

"I then rolled the dead lady over and went on and tied her up in the sack."

"Why did you do this?" the solicitor interrupted the grewsome story.

"Well, Mr. Frank, he was my boss and he tole me to," said the negro simply.

"Go ahead," replied the solicitor.

"Well, I saw her hat and a piece of ribbon lying on the floor and I layed that across her and tied her up jes like er washerwoman does clothes on dem from the white folks' house to wash 'em. I picked her up and she was so heavy I drapped her on the floor and when she fell that scared me and I called to Mr. Frank to come help me.

"He said he would and he come running back there on his tiptoes and he was trembling awful like, but he grabbed her by the feet and helped me carry her to the elevator. We started on down and at the first floor the elevator hung up and finally we got it started again and went on down to the basement and Mr. Frank told me to take the body on back to the far back end of the basement and put it on the sawdust pile and I did, half draggin' it, it was so heavy," he added.

Threw Body In Corner.

"I throwed her down and took off the cloth she was wrapped in and her umbrella and hat fell to one side and I picked them up and started back towards the elevator and called out to Mr. Frank to ask him what I was to do with the umbrella and hat and he said drop them right there and I flung 'em to one side.

"Coming up the elevator Mr. Frank went to get off and he was so excited he could not wait for the car to stop, but jumped off and fell an' the car door hit me er awful whack on the shoulder." Here the darkey rubbed his right shoulder and winched, as though the remembrance of the pain made it hurt again.

"And Mr. Frank, he went on back to the sink to wash his hands where he'd got them dirty when he fell and as he went he says, Gee! that was a tiresome job.'"

"Was his face red then?"

"Yes, sir; and his eyes was looking like diamonds."

"What happened next?"

"Well, he heard someone er coming and he made me hide in the wardrobe for fear they'd see me and he shut me up in there and I heard someone come in the office and talk to him and then they went out together and after a while, when I thought I would jes die in that close place he came back and let me out.

here a long time and he said, 'I here a long time,' and he said, 'I reckon I did Jim, you are all sweating,' and he gave me some cigarettes out of a box and told me I could smoke. It was against the rules to smoke ever in the factory, but he told me to go ahead and smoke.

"What did he do then?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"Well, he sat dere in the chair an' squirmed about and finally he said, 'you can write, can't you Jim,' and I told him that I could that I'd written before him.

"He then said there was only one way for us both to get out of it and asked if I'd help him and I told him I would. He was a white man and my superintendent," explained the witness, "and I thought I ought to help him out of his trouble.

Jim Writes the Notes.

"An he made me write some notes for him, he telling me what to write and when I had written four notes he slapped me on the back and said that was right, that was fine, and he took out a nice roll of greenbacks and handed them to me and I said, 'Mr. Frank, I'm going to take some er this money to pay for my watch,' and he said I needn't worry about that watch, that we'd both have plenty of money, and wouldn't have to worry about nothing.

"'Jim,' he went on, 'I've got lots of money ahat I've saved up; that fat wife o' mine wanted to buy an automobile, but I wouln't do it, I've saved my money.'

"Then he told me he wanted me to go to the basement after a while for him and then he asked me to hand that money he'd give me back to him for a minute and I thought he wanted to count it and I handed it to him and jes kept the little money what he had given me with the cigarette box.

"Well, then he put the money in his pocket an said that it would be all right about that and finally he jumped up and clapped his feet together and he says, 'Why should I hang? I've got wealthy folks and they'll care for me.'

"Then he tole me to take the notes and put them near the dead lady's body and said, 'What ever you do, Jim, you keep your mouth shut,' and I promised him I would and went and put the notes by the body and then I came back and he said he wanted me to come back there in about 40 minutes, but I could go out for a while.

"Well, what did you do then?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"I went to a near-beer saloon and bought a 'double-header' and some sandwiches and fooled around in the place for a while and then I looked at a clock and it was twenty minutes to two and I came out with a nigger and he made me lend him a dime.

Jim Goes Home.

"After a while I decided I would go on out home and give the old lady some money to pay the rent with before I went back to the factory and I got there and found no dinner ready for me and I give a nigger chile a quarter and says, 'here, you kid, you run up to dat store and buy me some sandwiches,' and when I got dem I ate 'em and went to sleep and when I woke up it was about 6 o'clock."

"Did you see Frank again that day?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"No."

"No sir, next time I seed him was on er Tuesday following when I saw him at the factory and he came up and told me to keep my mouth shut, and then he said for me to come back to the office after a while that he wanted to see me, and I thought he was intending to give me back that money.

"Then I worked around during the day and finally one of the ladies told me that Mr. Frank had been 'rested."

Mr. Dorsey then had the negro identify the dead girl's parasol.

"Did Mr. Frank know you could write?" the solicitor then asked.

"Yes sir, he knowed I could write."

"How did he know?"

"Well, when I'd be cleaning up I'd have to count the boxes lying around and write down the number of them on a piece of paper, and Mr. Frank told me to do that and furnished the paper for me."

"When were you first arrested, Jim?"

"I was arrested on May 1."

"Look at these tablets and notes and see if the notes are the ones you wrote at Mr. Frank's dictation," said the solicitor.

"Dem's the ones," said Conley.

"Where did you get them?"

"That young man right over there, he give them to me, he knows all about it," said Conley, pointing to where Frank sat watching him closely.

"What did he tell you to write?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"Jes what's on those notes there. I wrote jes lak he said."

Indicates Movements on Diagram.

Solicitor Dorsey then had Conley point out on the diagram his movements in the factory that day. The negro used the cross section drawing of the building and seemed to have much less trouble understanding it than Newt Lee had experienced.

He pointed out first the furnace where he said Frank had intended to burn the girl's body, and thus destroy every evidence of the crime.

"I was to help do that when I came back in the forty minutes Mr. Frank had allowed me," he said, "but I didn't come back no more."

"Could you have put the body in the furnace?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"I don't know; I didn't try it," replied Conley.

"Do you know anything about the back door?"

"No sir, not a thing."

"Do you know what became of the notes you wrote?"

"No sir, I didn't hear anything more about them till I was in prison down at the police station."

"What time did you leave home that morning, Jim?" Mr. Dorsey then asked.

"About 7 or half past," said the negro.

"Who left the factory first after you had put the body in the basement, you or Frank?"

"I left first, and Mr. Frank, he was standing there watching me like he was afraid I wouldn't go straight out."

Doesn't Remember Woman's Name.

"Do you know the name of the woman who was there on Thanksgiving day?"

"No sir, I don't: There was two ladies and another man."

"What was the man's name?"

"His name was Mr. Dawson."

"Who was it who came into the office that Saturday when Frank had you locked up in the wardrobe?"

"I don't know, sir."

Conley was then made to point on the cross section the place where he had sat on a box and watched the door.

"What sort of work had you done around the factory, Jim?"

"I worked on the elevator until last Christmas and then they took me off and put me to cleaning up the building."

"Do you know Mrs. Arthur White?"

"No sir."

Mr. Dorsey then requested a deputy to bring Mrs. White in.

"How did you find out that the girl was dead?" he continued while waiting for the woman to appear.

"When Mr. Frank sent me back there I touched her and found out she was dead and I went and told him so."

Mrs. White entered the courtroom at this moment and was led to a spot facing the negro on the stand.

"Did you see this lady that day?" asked the solicitor.

"No, sir, I never seed her."

The solicitor then requested that the defense allow him to put Mrs. White on the stand for a few moments, but Attorney Rosser flatly refused. Mrs. White was then asked to leave the courtroom and the examination went on.

"What did the lady look like that you saw in Frank's office last Thanksgiving day?" Solicitor Dorsey asked.

Describes Woman With Frank.

"She was a big, handsome woman, wearing a big hat and she had on white shoes and stockings," said Conley.

"Tell about other times you watched for Frank," said Dorsey.

"Well, I watched for him lots of times and sometimes he'd let another man and woman come in and that man and woman would usually go down to the basement."

"Tell us about that contract you made for a watch," said the solicitor.

Attorney Rosser immediately entered an objection, declaring that the negro's contract, if there was one, about a watch had nothing to do with the case.

He gave Mr. Dorsey the chance to bring before the jury one of the strongest pieces of circumstantial evidence he had yet sprung, and in explaining to the judge before the jury his reasons for holding this part of the testimony the solicitor played one of his strong cards.

"I want to show by this contract and by the testimony that Frank advised the negro about it and saw him sign it," said the solicitor, "that Frank knew that Conley could write, and yet that when Frank and Lee and Conley were locked up as suspects and detectives were making Frank and Lee write so as to compare their penmanship with that of the murder notes, that Frank kept silent about knowing Conley could write."

Judge Roan allowed the testimony to be used and Conley was made to tell of some trouble he had got into over the purchase of a watch on the installment plan and of how Frank had advised him in regard to it and been present when he signed a final contract in regard to the watch.

Rosser and Arnold Confer.

At this juncture Attorneys Rosser and Reuben Arnold, for Frank, halted proceedings while they went into an ante-room for a conference. In the interim the solicitor had a bailiff bring the negro witness a glass of water, which he drank with every evidence of being thirsty.

The attorneys for the defense then returned and Mr. Dorsey again took up his examination.

"How old are you, Jim?" asked the solicitor.

"I'm 27, sir."

"Where did you work before you went to the pencil factory?"

"I worked for Dr. Palmer."

"What made you quit there?"

"Well, I was driving for Dr. Palmer and he bought an automobile and he was a colored doctor and didn't know how to run it and I didn't know, and so I had to quit so's he could get somebody what could run that thing for him."

Cross-Examination Begun.

Then at the solicitor's request he told of several other people and firms for which he had worked previous to getting a job at the pencil factory.

"That's all," the solicitor said finally, and turned his witness over to the tender mercies of the defense.

The negro was apparently as composed as anybody in the courtroom when he finished telling his story and he sat in the chair for a few minutes seemingly at ease while the defense made ready to go after him.

When Attorney Rosser finally rose to his feet and took a few steps forward Conley was still entirely at ease, but the spectators could see that the man who felt nervous was the solicitor. So much depended on Conley's actions during what the solicitor knew was coming that he could not help show what he felt.

Mr. Rosser got up naturally and faced the darkey. He wore a pleasant and agreeable expression.

"Jim," he said, "how old are you?"

"Twenty-seven, boss," said Jim, and he seemed from the first question to warm up to the man who had started to talk to him.

"Where were you born, Jim?"

"In Atlanta, Ga."

"When did you get your first job, Jim?"

"'Bout 'leven years ago, sir."

"How old were you then?"

"'Bout 'leven, I said, sir."

"I thought you said about eleven years ago you got a job; you must have misunderstood me," said Mr. Rosser, and in the kindest of tones he straightened things out until the witness established the fact that it was about sixteen years ago when he was eleven years old that he first got a job.

Conley Beams on Rosser.

Jim seemed to appreciate the efforts of the white man to get him straightened out after he had misunderstood him and the negro, who has rather a kindly face and the soft voice of the southern darkey, fairly beamed upon his questioner.

Wise lawyers in the courtroom asw what was coming. They realized that Mr. Rosser was reaching out for Jim like a small boy does for a dog he wants to get his hands on when the dog is rather shy and refuses to let himself be approached.

Like the boy who stoops down and chirps at the dog and shows friendship on his face, the shrewd lawyer conspired to get his hands on the witness. For the next half hour or more he carried out the metaphor of the boy and the shy dog.

Mr. Rosser and Jim Conley then went through a more or less connected story of Jim's early life, his school days and what he had learned in that rather short period of his life. Jim even told of how, like most boys, he did not care for his studies and never got so he could read much, but learned to count pretty well in later life when he worked as a drayman.

Here and there the lawyer corrected in a kindly tone certain discrepancies in the darkey's tale and helped him get it straightened out. To the casual observer Attorney Rosser had only the kindest intentions toward Jim, but was possessed with a desire that amounted to an obsession in regard to Jim's store of learning and the men for whom he had worked.

Rosser Toys With Words.

They took up again the subject of Jim's ability to read.

"Can you read the papers, Jim?" Mr. Rosser finally asked.

"Yes, sir," replied Jim proudly; "I kin read 'em, only not much; I jes reads dis and dat in 'em."

"Oh, you jes read dis an dat," Mr. Rosser had dropped into the negro talk that all southerners know and that many of them use as children and never seem to forget.

"You jus' look through the papers, Jim, till you nd 'dis an' dat,' and you read 'dis' and 'dat' and then you don't read anything else," he said, as though a great understanding of the importance of "dis an' dat" had just dawned upon him.

The lawyer went on making a play upon the words "dis" and "dat," which passed entirely over the negro's head, but which almost convulsed the courtroom with laughter.

"You said you used to work for Mr. Coates, Jim," said Mr. Rosser. "Can you spell 'Coates'?"

"No, sir; I can't spell that word."

"Can you spell 'search'?"

"No, sir, can't spell dat."

Then the lawyer named over a score or more of easy words, some of the simplest of which Jim proudly announced he could spell, and some of which Jim proved that he could spell.

Spells "Cat" With a "K."

"Can you spell 'cat,' Jim?"

"Yes, sir, I can spell dat word, sho'," Jim replied.

"You spell it with a 'K,' don't you," said the lawyer encouragingly.

"Yes, sir, with a 'K,'" Jim replied, and forthwith spelled it with a "K."

"Why sure you do," said Mr. Rosser. "Jim, you and I understand each other thoroughly, don't we?"

Jim face's showed that he could not see what in the world a great big white man with the knowledge of Luther Rosser could want to take up the time in court to go into a spelling bee with him for, but he replied with his face beaming, "Yes, sir, we sho' does, sir."

Then followed more words for Jim to spell. The white man and the darkey had reached a perfect understanding, such as a white man and a negro have when they are raised together on the same big plantation.

What he could spell, Jim spelled, and what he could not he simply acknowledged he could not. Jim spelled "papa," but he could not spell "mother," and Mr. Rosser took his word for a number of other words he asked him about, and only when Jim desired to prove beyond doubt did he even have to spell the word out.

Then Jim's education in mathematics was taken up and gone over in the same detailed and kindly way. Jim did not know what was meant by the word "figuring," but he did know what counting meant, and showed proudly that he could count just as far as Mr. Rosser would let him go, and he could add, too. Jim proudly added small sums, and all the time his face beamed and pride showed. The man who was exhibiting his knowledge for him took pains, as Jim knew, not to give him much that was hard, and Jim was making a splendid impression with his knowledge.

Then the lawyer started out on his real work, but so deftly that no one realized it at the time.

"Jim," he began, "who did you work for first, and how long did you work there?"

"I worked for Mr. Truitt, of Ward & Truitt, for about a year," said Jim.

"How long did you work for the next man?"

"About five years," replied Jim.

The general interrogation had just led up naturally from Jim's school days to his life as a working man, and the same tones were used and the same perfect understanding prevailed.

"You say you went to school only about a year in all?"

"Yes, sir."

Given Job by Schiff.

"Well, Jim, who gave you the job at the pencil factory?"

"Mr. Schiff," replied Jim.

"Did Mr. Frank ever pay you off?"

"Yes, sir, sometimes."

"Tell me about how many times he paid you off."

"Well, I don't know 'zactly; sometimes I let the other fellows draw my money."

"Oh," said the lawyer, "you'd sometimes get into debt and let other fellows draw your money so you could escape the men you owed?"

"No, sir, I didn't want to get out of paying; I'd let the men I owed draw my money because I wanted them to have it."

"What was your pay a week?"

"$6.05," replied Jim.

Jim then said he did not want to tell at first what he got, as it was so small he was ashamed of it, and was afraid that other niggers would hear about it.

Mr. Dorsey protested at this juncture that all this was entirely immaterial, but Mr. Rosser declared to the court that it was, that he wanted to show certain facts about the negro and that he would show it later. Judge Roan sustained him.

Attorney Rosser then drew out of Jim the statement that when he owed a negro boy something like 15 cents he would take the boy into a near beer saloon and buy him three glasses of beer and settle the debt that way.

Never Saw Nightwatchman.

"Jim," said Mr. Rosser then, "what time did the nightwatchman come to work on Saturdays?"

"I don't know, sir."

"Have you ever seen the nightwatchman?"

"No, sir."

"Did you ever see the white watchman in the day?"

"Yes, sir."

"Ever see the colored watchman at all?"

"Yes, I've seen the negro they said was the watchman."

"Did you know old man Newt Lee?"

"No sir."

"What time did they pay off on Saturday?"

"About 12 o'clock."

Admits Watching Frank.

"You say you have watched for Mr. Frank?"

"Yes sir."

Mr. Rosser was getting into his real line of questions now, but still there was no apparent change in his attitude toward the witness.

"When was the first time you ever did that?"

"Sometime last July."

"What did Mr. Frank say at that time?"

"He just come out and called me into his office and said what he wanted me to do."

"How did they pay you?"

"Eleven cents an hour."

"Was it your duty to punch the clock?"

"Yes, but sometimes I didn't.

"If it wasn't punched every time how could they know how to pay you?"

"If it wasn't punched every time Mr. Holloway would see me and set things straight so I could get my money."

"The first time Frank talked with you was a lady with him?"

"Yes, Miss Daisy Hopkins."

"What did he say?"

"He said, 'Jim, see that lady there?' and when I said I did, he said, 'Go on down and watch the door.'"

"Was Miss Hopkins present?"

"Yes sir, she was there."

"Who else was there?"

"A man named Mr. Dawson."

"How long did this lady and man stay in Mr. Frank's office?"

"'Bout fifteen minutes," replied Jim.

"How long before Mr. Frank came down?"

Couple in Basement.

"It was about an hour before he came down, but the girl and man had come on down, and on his instructions I had opened the trap door and let the girl and man into the basement."

"What time was it when they came up?"

"It was after a while."

"What did they do when they came up?"

"The lady went on upstairs and a little while later Mr. Frank and her come down."

"What happened next Saturday, two weeks later, Jim?"

"Well, I was in the rear of the fourth floor and Mr. Frank came to me and said, 'remember what you did last Saturday, Jim,' and I said I did and he said he wanted to put me wise to this Saturday. Miss Daisy Hopkins went into his office and Mr. Frank signalled with his fingers and I went down and locked the front door and watched for them."

"What next?"

"I stood on the steps and heard them go into Mr. Frank's office."

"How long did you stay?"

Given Money by Frank.

"I stayed about half an hour, then the lady come on down and went out, and Mr. Frank gave me a half dollar."

"About the next time?" urged the lawyer. He was apparently helping Jim Conley to tell all the damaging evidence he knew on the man whom he accuses of the horrible crime.

"Well, I can't remember the exact time; it must have been about the middle of August."

"What time of day?"

"Well, it was about the time Mr. Frank came back from dinner. I was standing near the door and he came up and said he wanted to put me wise again for that day."

"What did he mean when he said, 'Put you wise?'"

"Well, he had said that on the other times he wanted me to watch for him," replied the negro.

Women Waited for Frank.

Conley then told of a woman waiting on the fourth floor who had gone up to Frank's office. Asked what sort of hair she had, he said it looked like Mr. Harper's. Mr. Harper referred to has gray hair and this statement caused a great deal of amusement.

He also told of a woman dressed in green who had visited Frank.

"Did you inquire who she was?" he was asked.

"No sir, I did not."

"Did she speak to you?"

"No, she didn't know me."

"Did you run the elevator?"

"Yes, sir, sometimes."

"Didn't you then come in contact with everybody in the factory?"

"No, sir, I didn't have to go all over the floors."

"What did Mr. Frank tell you?"

"He said for me not to let Mr. Darley and Mr. Schiff know about it."

What Occurred Thanksgiving.

"The next time was Thanksgiving, wasn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

"What were his words then?"

"He said, 'How're you feeling,' and sent me to the first floor."

"What time was that?"

"About half-past eight."

"What time did the woman come?"

"About half an hour later."

"Did you know her?"

"No, she didn't work at the factory."

"Ever seen her before?"

"Yes, I think so. I think I saw her one night in Mr. Frank's office."

"Why were you there?"

"I had some boxes to pack."

"Where were you when she arrived on Thanksgiving day?"

"On the first floor."

"What did you do?"

Had Code of Signals.

"I closed the door when Mr. Frank stomped on the floor."

"How long did you stand by the door?"

"I didn't stand by the door; I went and sat on a box for an hour or more."

"When Frank stamped what did you do?"

"I kicked the elevator, so he would know I heard him and everything was all right."

"Did Frank come down then?"

"Yes, he came down and unlocked the door and went out and looked around, and then came back and went to the stairway and called for her to come down. She came on down and saw me and asked if I was the nigger he'd talked of and he said yes, and he says, 'That's the best nigger in the world,' and she asked if I talked much, and Mr. Frank said I didn't talk at all."

"When was the next time?"

"Way after Christmas, some time in January."

"How do you know?"

"Well, it was after New Year's."

"What did he say?"

Two Girls and a Man.

"I can't remember, but one thing he said, and that was that a young man and two ladies was coming, and that I could make a piece of money off them."

"What time was that?"

"About half past seven."

"Did anybody hear you?"

"Gordon Bailey did."

"What did you do?"

"I went and stood by the door; it was open."

"Did they come right in?"

"No, sir, the gentleman, he came on in and the ladies stood back, and then when he had talked to me he went back to them and they came on in with him."

"How long did you stay that time?"

"It seemed like two hours," replied the witness.

"Did you know either of the women?"

"No, sir."

"Describe how they looked."

"I disremembers how they looked," said Conley.

"How about the man?"

"He was tall and slender."

"Ever see him again?"

"I saw him talking to Mr. Holloway several times."

"You say you don't know him?"

"No, sir, I don't know him."

"Had you ever seen the girls before?"

"No, sir."

At this point Judge Roan ordered an adjournment for lunch.

Conley Is Mercilessly Grilled

ARRESTED 7 TIMES, HE ADMITS,

At Afternoon Session of Court

Jim Conley remained on the stand throughout the afternoon session, Attorney Rosser continuing his cross-examination after the noon recess.

"Who saw you, Jim, at police headquarters?"

"Chief Beavers."

"Who else?"

"Mr. Smith, my lawyer."

"Was anybody else present?"

"Yes, Tawney."

"Did he hear what was said?"

"I guess so. He could have heard."

"You talked to no one else?"

"No, sir."

Conley Doesn't Remember.

"Did you watch for Mr. Frank since the time in January?"

"I think not."

"What did you do the Saturday after you watched for him?"

"I don't remember."

"What did you do the next Saturday?"

"I don't remember, except that I watched for him. I missed one Saturday."

"What did you do the Saturday before Thanksgiving and that afternoon?"

"I don't remember."

"How much money did you draw the first Saturday you watched for him?"

"I don't remember."

"What time did you leave home the first time you watched for him?"

"I don't remember."

"Did you draw your money the Saturday after Thanksgiving?"

"I don't remember."

"On the day before Thanksgiving, what time did you come to the factory?"

"I don't recollect exactly, Mr. Rosser."

"On the day after—did you see Frank?"

"Yes, sir."

Remembers Seeing Frank.

"You remember that, alright?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you see Mr. Darley?"

"I don't think so."

"How many hours did you put in that day?"

"I don't recollect."

"Then, you don't know how much pay you drew, do you?"

"Yes, sir, I know how much Mr. Frank gave me for watching for him—a dollar and a quarter."

"You've already told about that."

"Yes, sir, I know it."

"Where did you live?"

"37 Bynum street."

"You've been in prison, haven't you, Jim?"

"Yes, sir."

"Do you remember the day you went to prison the first time and the day you got out?"

"No, sir; I don't."

"Did you ever live elsewhere than on Bynum street?"

"Yes, sir, 172 Rhodes street, near Electric avenue."

"You were in prison twice, weren't you, Jim?"

"Yes, sir, but I don't remember the exact dates of the second time."

"You stayed how long?"

"Between 21 and 31 days."

Rosser Asks Numerous Questions.

Rosser's attack upon the negro, at first, was a slow, gradual attempt to wear away the witness in the manner of water dropping incessantly upon stone. He put innumerable questions to the witness, pertaining to Conley's past, his various homes, his sweetheart, his working career. Many seemed utterly irrelevant, but obviously were decidedly significant to the plans of the defense.

"How many times, now, Jim, have you been in prison in all?"

"Somewhere between seven and eight."

"Now, let's see: The day you found the child in the pencil factory, as you say, was on April 26. The factory was closed that day, wasn't it?"

"Yes, sir. The day before, they had tacked up signs all over the building."

"Did you read them?"

"No, sir; I couldn't. They were read to me."

Mr. Rosser remained in his seat, playing with his witness like a cat plays with a ball of twine, or a child with a toy, plying question upon question. In each answer, he would find new material for countless additional questions, with which he sought to tangle Conley in his own narrative.

Many questions were asked of the negro regarding his associates of the street and fellow-workers in the pencil factory, most of which dealt with Gheron, "Snowball" Bailey, a negro youth who was once also under arrest in connection with the Mary Phagan murder during the early part of the investigation.

"When you were in prison, who took your place in the pencil factory, Jim?"

"I don't know, sir."

Sent Him to Stockade.

"What was the fine they imposed on you the last time you were sentenced?"

"They didn't give me no fine."

"You were one of the new darkeys in the factory, weren't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"When did you see Mr. Frank?"

"I don't remember."

"When was the first time he ever talked with you except on business?"

"I don't remember. He talked and jollied with me. He and Mr. Darley, both, jollied with me."

"Did he ever jolly with you before you watched for him?"

"Yes, sir, sometimes."

"Do you remember what he said?"

"No, sir."

"Who saw him ever jolly with you?"

"Mr. Darley and Mr. Schiff."

Questioned About Daisy Hopkins.

"When did Daisy Hopkins work at the pencil factory?"

"Some time in 1912."

"What floor did she work on?"

"The fourth floor."

"What part of 1912?"

"June on up."

"Has she ever worked there in 1913?"

"I don't know."

"Do you know where she lives?"

"No, sir."

"Is she married?"

"I don't know."

"What's the color of her hair?"

"Don't remember."

"What's the color of her complexion?"

"What's complexion?"

"You're dark complected—I'm white complected."

"Oh, she was white complected."

Just Ears Like Folks.

"What kind of ears did she have?"

"Ears like folks."

"I didn't expect her to have ears like a rabbit—small ears, big ears, or what?"

"Kinder small ears."

"How old was she?"

"About 22."

"How do you know she worked there in June, 1912?"

"I knew it was 1912, and one day she sent me down to the office with a note. It had 'June' on it."

"I thought you couldn't read?"

"I could read 'June' alright."

"How many times have you ever seen this man Dalton around the pencil factory?"

"Several times."

"On the third trip, of which you've stated, how did he come to be at the factory?"

"Miss Daisy Hopkins brought him."

"How long has it been since you've seen Dalton?"

Saw Him at Police Station.

"About a month. I saw him down at police headquarters when they brought him in for me to identify him."

"Did you identify him?"

"Yes, sir."

"The first day you watched for Frank, did you see Mr. Holloway?"

"Yes, sir."

"Was he around the factory?"

"Yes, sir."

"What time did he leave?"

"About 2:30 o'clock."

"Did you see Mr. Darley?"

"Yes, sir."

"What time did he leave?"

"I don't know, exactly—he was always leaving."

"The next time you watched for Mr. Frank, who did you see of the working force?"

"Mr. Holloway."

"What time did he leave?"

"About 2 o'clock."

Watched in September.

"Thanksgiving was the next time you watched for Mr. Frank, wasn't it?"

"No, it was some time in September."

"Was Mr. Darley around the factory?"

"I didn't see him."

"Mr. Schiff?"

"I think so."

"What time did Schiff leave?"

"I didn't know."

"Isn't it true that a lot of people are at work in the factory on Saturdays?"

"Yes, sir, sometimes."

"On Thanksgiving, did anybody work there all afternoon?"

"I don't remember."

"Isn't it true that Schiff was in the office?"

"I didn't see him."

Knows Part of Plant.

"You know the whole plant well, don't you?"

"Some parts of it I do—some parts I don't."

"How big a room, then, is Mr. Frank's office?"

"I don't know."

"It has two desks in it, hasn't it?"

"I think so."

"Who has the other desk?"

"Mr. Schiff."

"How long is the outside office?"

"I don't know."

"Is there a safe in the inside office?"

"Yes, sir."

"You can't see from the stairway into the inside office?"

"Yes, sir."

"Can a man sitting in the office see anyone coming up the stairs?"

"I don't know."

"But, Frank can't see folks coming along the floor unless they go past the clock?"

"If he is sitting at his desk, he can."

Conley Shown Diagram.

At this point, Conley was given a diagram to show the jury where he was sitting on the occasion of a certain talk with Frank near Frank's office.

"How much did you say you drank on Friday, April 25?"

"Not so very much."

"Do you know Detective Harry Scott?"

"Yes, sir."

"When you were at police headquarters, you told them that you got up at 9:30 a. m. on the morning of the 25th, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"That wasn't so, was it?"

"No."

"Yet you looked them in the face and lied, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir."

"You also told them you went to Peters street?"

"Yes, sir."

"And didn't go?"

"Yes, sir. I went to Peters street, alright."

"How long did you stay on Peters street?"

"Not long."

"You stayed until 11 o'clock, didn't you?"

"No."

"You told Scott so, didn't you?"

"Don't remember about that."

Told Some Stories, He Admits.

"Do you remember what you told Harry Scott and John Black?"

"Not all."

"The truth is you lied all the way 'round?"

"I told some stories, I'll admit."

"Didn't you make three affidavits, neither of which is true?"

"Some of them are true."

"But aren't they all lies?"

"No, there's a lot of truth in all of them."

Attorney Hooper objected to this question, saying the affidavits were in existence and that they should be shown the witness as prescribed by the law.

Negro Drilled, Says Arnold.

Attorney Arnold, in discussion, said: "It is easy to see that the negro has been canned and grilled and prepared for this business, and would easily recognize the affidavits. That is not what we want to do at present."

Hooper's retort was:

"Mr. Arnold, I do not think, was called upon to explain the history of the affidavits. They are here in the court, as requested, and the law demands that they be shown the witness. This is a new way of legislating. Should the law be changed just because these men get up and demand that their rights, and their right alone, prevail. This case should be tried entirely as any other case should be tried."

Solicitor Dorsey said:

"We submit that the remarks of Mr. Arnold be considered prejudicious—his remarks that the witness had been canned and prepared in a state satisfactory to the defense. I beg that the judge make a statement to that effect to the jury."

Arnold Attacks Dorsey.

Mr. Arnold arose again.

"My friend Dorsey, in his usual fussy, snarlish way, has accused me of being prejudicious. If we sought to impeach Jim Conley finally, we will put the affidavits into evidence. Each affidavit represents a world of pumping and labor on the part of detectives. We expect to show that the affidavits followed many contradictory statements, and that Conley never admitted anything until confronted with the fact that he could write."

Judge Roan sustained the defense.

"How long did the detectives talk to you?" Mr. Rosser continued with the witness.

"I don't remember."

"The first time you made a statement of your movements, Black and Scott were together, weren't they?"

"Yes, I think I sent for Mr. Black."

"Where were you when this statement was made?"

"In the detectives' office in the police station."

"How long did they talk to you?"

"For quite a while."

"Didn't you buy a pint of liquor on Peters street at 10 o'clock, Friday, the 25th?"

"No."

"What did you tell Black?"

"That I bought it about 10 o'clock, as you say."

"Didn't you tell him you left Rhodes street about 10 o'clock."

"No, sir."

"After you bought this liquor—"

Mr. Hooper interceded, saying:

An Attempt to Impeach.

"We have no objection to any of this going before the jury, but this procedure of Rosser's is only an attempt to impeach the witness, and it is in a manner against what is prescribed by the law. There is a rule against this method of his, and it is as plain as the nose on your face, your honor."

Mr. Rosser said:

"Now, is it to be said that I cannot ask this man what he said on a certain time? I've got a right to do it to test or refresh his memory."

Judge Roan, in answer, stated:

"This rule is universal. This man, Mr. Hooper, is your witness. The defense has ample grounds to test his memory."

Mr. Hooper replied:

"Does your honor hold that this examination is not solely for the purpose of impeachment?"

"I do not know what will be the ultimate result," said the judge.

Mr. Rosser's examination was resumed.

"That statement you made to Black, didn't you say in it that you bought the liquor after 11 o'clock? You went to a saloon—which one did you go to?"

"Early's."

"Didn't you tell Black that you went to the Butt-in saloon?"

"I said I went there before I bought the liquor."

"Didn't you tell Black and Scott that some things you told them were true and some were not?"

"No; they never asked me."

"Didn't you look them straight in the face and lie?"

He Hung His Head.

"No, sir. I hung my head whenever I told them a lie, and looked them straight in the face when I told them the truth. I thought I'd tell just a little bit of the truth, so Mr. Frank would get scared and would send somebody to come and get me out of trouble."

"Oh, well we'll get to that later on."

"How many saloons did you tell them you went to?"

"Three."

"Did you tell them that you went straight home from Peters street?"

"No, sir, I told them I hung around a while."

"What did you tell them about the money you had?"

"I told them something about $3.50 I had."

"Which one of the detectives told you to look him squarely in the face?"

"Nary a-one."

When Jim is Lying.

"What good does it do you to hang your head when you're not telling the truth?"

"None that I know of."

"What else do you do when you are lying?"

"Fool with my fingers."

"How long did the detectives talk to you—hours at a time?"

"Sometimes they'd talk to me for hours."

"Didn't John Black say you were a good nigger, and didn't Scott curse you?"

"No, sir—simetimes they'd sit and whisper together, but that's all."

"Didn't they put a negro in there with you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Didn't he ask you what you were in there for?"

"No, sir."

"Didn't you tell that darkey that you weren't worried—that you didn't know anything about the crime?"

"No, sir, I didn't tell him anything like that."

"On May 24, didn't you send for Black?"

"I don't remember, I don't know what date it was; it was when the papers put it in that I was down there suffering."

Mr. Dorsey objected, but was not sustained.

"I sent for Mr. Black," the negro continued, "and told him I would tell him. I told him I had held back part of it."

"You told Black you were going to tell part of the truth and hold back part of it?"

"Yes sir."

"Was Mr. Scott there?"

"I don't remember, I didn't see him, I know."

"Did you tell them in the police station that you were telling only part of the truth?"

"No sir."

The Mysterious Notes.

"Do you remember what were on the notes you say you wrote for Mr. Frank on the day of the murder?"

"Yes, sir; something about a long, tall black negro doing it."

"In your verbal statement to Black—the first one—did you say anything about a girl being dead and toting her down into the basement?"

"I don't remember."

"In your second statement, did you say anything about this?"

"Yes, sir—I think I did. I think I remember saying something about it."

Mr. Dorsey objected to this on grounds of the statement in question being in writing, and in hands of the defense.

"Haven't we a right," he said, "to show a thing in writing as dictated by the law. Please take cognizance of the fact that we have produced these papers at their request. Then, does your honor tell me he does not know the statements are in writing, and give us no opportunity to refresh the memory of the witness. If there is any doubt in your honor's mind, then let us ask a question."

Rules for Defense.

"Suppose the affidavits contradict the statement of the witness?" replied Judge Roan. "In which case the defense would have grounds for testing the witness' memory. The man says he can't write, and did not write it himself. Does the law, in such a case, say that his memory may not be tested to oral statement he has made for transcription?"

His ruling was to the effect that the defense could ask the question which had formerly been put.

In the midst of this heated clash

DANDRUFF FELL ON COAT COLLAR

Head Broke Out in Pimples Which Festered. Hair Came Out. Head Itched and Burned. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in 2 Weeks.

604 Greenville Ave., Staunton, Va.—"My head broke out in pimples which festered. It itched me so that I would scratch it till my head got almost in a raw sore. My hair came out gradually and it was dry and lifeless. Dandruff fell on my coat collar till I was ashamed of it. My head had been that way all summer, itching and burning till I couldn't sleep in any peace.

"I tried salves but it looked like they made it worse. I got ——— but it did me no good so I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and box of the Cuticura Ointment and you don't know what a relief they gave me. In two weeks my head was well." (Signed) J. L. Smith, Oct. 28, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

CONLEY IS GRILLED AT AFTERNOON SESSION

between counsel for the defense and counsel for the state, Solicitor Dorsey attempted to read a portion of a state statute for the judge's benefit. Judge Roan, as the solicitor spoke, turned to talk with a spectator who had climbed to the bench. The solicitor recited only three words from the book, caught sight of the judge's apparent disinterest, and threw down the volume with a deprecatory gesture of resignation.

"Now, Jim," continued Mr. Rosser, "whenever you are lying or telling the truth, please be so kind as to give me some signal. Did you say anything about going into the basement in that second statement?"

"I don't remember."

"You said you were going to keep back some of it—what was it?"

"The best part."

At this juncture, when it was seen that the court was preparing to adjourn for the afternoon, Mr. Arnold arose, saying:

"We make a motion that the court take charge of this negro, Jim Conley, and let the sheriff put him in custody. The law requires such a move, and I ask your honor to do this fair and square thing. Not to let a soul talk with him, not even the sheriff."

No Objection by State.

In reply to this, Mr. Hooper stated: "So far as the state is concerned, no objection can be voiced on our part, that is, if he is put where no one at all can get to him."

Judge Roan said:

"Mr. Sheriff, no one is to get to this witness, not even you."

Attorney William M. Smith, counsel for Conley, who had mounted a seat in the jury box, vacated several moments previously, broke in:

"My connection with Jim Conley is solely for the safeguard of truth. I have full confidence in Sheriff Mangum, but there is no way in the county jail to keep persons from Conley in case he is placed therein, or, unless a special man is appointed to keep guard over him. I ask for an additional guard for his benefit. Also, he needs special food after the ordeal of this afternoon. Frank is enjoying special meals, is allowed better fare than any of the other prisoners, and I ask the same for Conley."

Sheriff Mangum assured the court that special pains would be taken for the negro, and that he would be sufficiently guarded. He left the courthouse in the sheriff's charge.

Women of Every Class and Age Listen With Morbid Curiosity To Testimony of Negro Conley

By Britt Craig.

There was a chorus girl who sat next to an aged and withered woman who is undoubtedly a grandmother—a great-grandmother, maybe; there was a painted-cheeked girl with hollow eyes who bore the unmistakable stain of crimson, who sat between a mother who held in her lap an eager 13-year-old.

There was a wrinkled and worn old woman with the lines of care stamped indelibly, who hobbled into the room on a crutch and sat beside a man who chewed tobacco and whispered profanity. Over in a corner there was a graceful young woman with a wide hat and flowing plume and pretty features crowned with a wealth of auburn hair.

They all were at the Frank trial yesterday, listening intently to Jim Conley's ugly story, many parts of which brought shame to the cheeks of the hardened court attaches. They sat throughout his tale, eager, expectant, apparently thrilled through and through and intent upon missing nothing.

Not a single one left the courtroom until adjournment time. On Friday afternoon, when Dr. Harris gave intimate testimony of details of his examination of Mary Phagan's body a number of women arose from their seats, shielded their blushing cheeks with newspapers, and strode from the courtroom.

But Monday it was different. Jim Conley's tale reeked at times and yet not a woman left the courtroom. Instead they leaned forward, bent upon escaping nothing of the odious details that came from the negro's mouth. A mother held a child in knee dresses on a knee in a position in which the child could see and hear perfectly.

The mother held a fan, with which she fanned briskly at times. That is, at times when there was a lull in the story. But it stopped, the fan did, and was held, poised in expectation, when Conley would resume relating his story.

Every Type Represented.

There was every type of woman in the courtroom Monday. There seemed to have been something in the air that foretold of sensation and scandal. There were fully as many women and girls as men. Girls in their teens, women in the eighties. There was not the hubbub of voices and talk that generally spreads over a gathering of women. There was a hush that could almost be felt.

Nobody wanted to talk. They wanted to hear. Tomorrow they would talk—tomorrow when they were in their own homes and porches. There would be plenty of topic then for talk. Now it was a case of gaining the topic—listening to Jim Conley and his scandal-reeked narrative. A staid and experienced deputy looked over the courtroom at noon and said:

"It's shameful. I'm going to see if these little girls can't be kept out hereafter."

There were plenty of little girls, sprinkled all over the place. But there were more older women—women who had mothered little girls and had seen their little girls mother little ones.

Fight for Seats.

The most prevalent type of woman at the trial Monday, however, seemed to be the ordinary housewife—the wife and mother of an uncertain middle age. They came early to the building, and stood about in groups on the street, waiting for the doors to be thrown open. They rushed forward, and, some of them, even so far forgot themselves as to fight for seats.

In a number of cases some women patronized the doorkeepers for admittance. Some of those who came late did this. These same women, no doubt, would be shocked upon listening to the gossip of a neighbor who had committed the same indiscretion. They resorted to many subterfuges. Some said they were reporters. Others declared they were friends of the defendant.

Some even went so far as to say their husbands were connected with the trial, when, no doubt, if the truth were known, their husbands were employed blocks and blocks away—maybe, miles. It was no sin to fib when the reward for fibbing was such a precious thing as a seat in which to hear Jim Conley's tale.

One thing is noticeable about the type of women at the Frank trial. There are but few women of experience, or, what might be called worldly knowledge and wisdom, seen among the gathering. The girl on whose face is stamped the wisdom of things she has seen by rubbing against the world is missing from the Frank audiences.

It might be peculiar, but it's true.

Why Do They Do It?

There are women whose features look out of place anywhere but in a neat and tidy home, or at the rocking-side of a cradle. They have come and mingled with the various characters that are found in every sensational trial. They come and sit beside the aged woman and withered, and the girl of the crimson stain and the man who chews tobacco and whispers profanity and winks significantly at suggestive testimony.

Is it that the housewife, cooped within the limited boundaries of her home-making, husband-keeping and child-mothering, pines to know the scandalous, the sensational, the underside of life which she has not seen?

Is it that she takes advantage when the opportunity affords purely because other women are doing the same?

Is it the same principle that makes the life of worldly things so attractive to the girl and woman who knows nothing but her home and neighborhood?

One little girl who said she was a newspaper reporter, but who, very likely, had never written anything more than a school essay and who had never seen any further in a newspaper shop than the business office, sat within the railing that separates the lawyers and persons interested from the audience, and scribbled enthusiastically in a notebook while Jim Conley told of an alleged scene he had witnessed between Leo Frank and a girl in Frank's office.

All Listen Eagerly.

The mother that held the 13-year-old strained eyes and ears while Conley told the same story. The woman on the crutch, whose years are but few among the living, cupped her hand behind an ear so as not to miss a word and leaned as far forward as her aching bones would permit.

The woman with the big, wide hat, flowing plume and auburn tresses, who wasn't as worldly as she tried to paint her features, while the negro prattled on, retained her standing position, unabashed, apparently unmindful of the eyes from all parts of the courtroom.

Two chorus girls, with all the appearance of the cheap vaudeville type, while Conley told his story, attempted to whisper something to each other, probably of similar incidents they themselves had seen, when the mother with the child leaned near with a cautioning whisper.

Women were all over the courtroom, sprinkled here, there and everywhere. They sat between criminals, crooks and jailbirds. They didn't care where they sat or between whom, just so they found a seat. They fought for them, they demanded them. Pride nor anything else counted. Just so they got a seat—just so they could hear Jim Conley's story. Let the consequences take care of themselves.

And the question again is asked:

Why was the woman of worldly wisdom absent?

Why was the little girl and the housewife, who, no doubt, maintains a happy home, and the woman of withered countenance and few remaining years, present in scores?

It's a question even a woman could not answer.

Flashlight in The Constitution Introduced in Trial of Frank

Police Sergeant L. S. Dobbs was the witness who followed Grice. The officer had already testified on the first day of the trial and was brought back for only a few minutes.

"Did you find a handkerchief that Sunday morning in the factory?"

"Yes sir, in the basement near a trash pile."

"That's all," said the solicitor.

Mr. Rosser then asked the officer several questions in regard to the detail of the basement and said he was through.

Mr. Dorsey then showed the officer a flashlight photograph of the spot in the basement where the girl's body was found. It was the flashlight taken by Francis E. Price, Constitution staff photographer, on the morning the body was found and used the next day in The Constitution. The solicitor had borrowed it from a member of the staff.

The picture showed Detective John R. Black standing near the spot, and Mr. Rosser interrupted with some very pleasant remarks about "My handsome friend, Black."

Mr. Dorsey then tendered the bloody handkerchief in evidence and had the officer identify it as the one he had found.

Sergeant Dobbs was then excused. He had been on the stand less than fifteen minutes.

Witnesses in Frank's Trial In Role of Marriage Witnesses

While T. Y. Brent, notary public and ex-officio justice of the peace, was waiting in the witness room of the Frank murder trial yesterday, the "big and little of it" came to him to pronounce the magic words which would make them forever man and wife, one and inseparable.

Cleve Ware, weighing at the most 120 pounds, and Mattie Turner, who could easily muster 250 pounds, if required, were the parties, being from the swell section of Darktown.

The judge performed the ceremony in the most approved style, and Frank murder trial witnesses acting as the marriage witnesses.

Handsome Woman Seeks in Vain For Witness at Frank's Trial

Shortly after the courtroom had been cleared of women during the trial of Leo M. Frank Monday, Detective Harper entered the room with a handsome woman and the two took a leisurely survey of those in the courtroom.

It was learned that the woman is a waitress at a well-known restaurant, and that shortly after the murder she is supposed to have overheard a conversation with two men who were discussing the killing. It is said they were friends of Frank and that they made admissions which would prove important to the state.

The two men were not in the courtroom.

FRANK VERY NERVOUS, TESTIFIES L. O. GRICE

Witness Had Gone to the Pencil Factory After Reading The Constitution Extra.

L. O. Grice was the first witness put on the stand when court convened Monday morning. He was kept there but a few minutes. He stated that he is employed by W. H. Smith, auditor of the Atlanta and West Point railroad, and that he lives at 270 Houston street.

"Where were you on Sunday, April 27, about 8 o'clock?" Mr. Dorsey started out.

"I was in front of The Constitution building and I saw one of their extras and went on down to the National Pencil factory. I was going in that direction towards the office where I work, anyway," he replied.

"Did you go in the building?"

"Yes, sir."

Hadn't Been in Courtroom.

"Have you been in the courtroom during this trial?" interrupted Attorney Rosser. (Mr. Grice had not been among those witnesses first named by the solicitor.)

"No; I haven't been in here before this morning," said Grice.

"Did anything attract your attention down in the factory?" continued the solicitor when his opponent had subsided.

"Yes, sir; I saw Mr. Black, the detective, and a number of men."

"Did anybody attract your attention by showing nervousness?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who was it?"

"I didn't know him then."

"Is he the defendant, there?" said Mr. Dorsey, pointing to where Frank sat.

"Yes; he was the man," said Grice.

"Tell the jury what happened then."

"Well, Mr. Black and the others went on outside the factory, and Mr. Black said something about looking for a pin, and Mr. Frank began to walk around and look for it and he trembled so I couldn't help notice him. He did just this way," added the witness, and arose and showed the jury the sight of a man trembling as though his nerves were strained to the last point.

Mr. Rosser then took up the cross-examination. He went into a detailed questioning about the reasons for Grice's appearance on the stand and was told that the young man had told some friends about what he had noticed about Frank and they had advised him to go to the solicitor and tell about it.

Hadn't Seen Girl's Body.

"Didn't you know Mr. Frank had just seen the murdered girl in the basement?" asked Mr. Rosser next.

"No, sir; he hadn't seen her there—they moved her before he came."

"Well, he had just seen the blood where her body had been found, hadn't he?"

"Well, I didn't see any blood there myself."

"You didn't attach any importance to his actions then?"

"Well, I thought about it, but I didn't want to get mixed up in this case, and only when I told some friends about it and they urged me to do it, did I go to Mr. Dorsey."

Mr. Grice was then excused, having been on the stand for about 15 minutes.

STANFORD RECALLED BY SOLICITOR DORSEY

Declares There Were Bars Across Door on Second Floor on Day Before Murder.

Following Sergeant Dobbs, Mell Stanford, a factory employee, who had previously testified, was recalled for a few minutes.

"Was the door on the second floor back locked or unlocked on Friday, April 25?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"There were bars across it," said Stanford.

"Was there any way to get down back there?"

"Only by the fire escape."

"Was the area of the metal room cleaned up after the murder?"

"Yes, sir, during the following week."

"Did you clean it up?" asked Mr. Rosser, who here took up the cross-examination.

"No, sir, I saw it being cleaned up, though."

"Could a man have removed that bar to the door back there and then gone up the stairs?"

"Yes, sir."

Stanford was then excused.

THREE MEN NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH IN FIRE

Asleep When Frame House at 88 South Pryor Catches on Fire.

Three men narrowly escaped death early this morning when fire from an unknown origin partially gutted a two story frame house at 88 South Pryor. These men were: J. C. Johnson, a city foreman at one of the rock quarries; M. Y. Stevens and I. S. Ford, of south Georgia.

The fire was discovered about 1:20 o'clock by I. H. Gilbert, Thrower building watchman, who immediately called the fire department. By the time the latter arrived the flames had gained good headway, but quick work saved the building from total destruction. The men, the only occupants of the house, were asleep at the time, and just got out in the nick of time.

SOUTH'S BANKERS INVITED BY M'ADOO

Secretary Wants to Confer About Distribution of Federal $50,000,000 — Bankers of Atlanta Are Invited.

Washington, August 4.—Representative bankers of fifty-nine large cities in the agricultural regions of the south, middle west and Pacific coast were invited by Secretary McAdoo today to come to Washington to confer with the treasury department regarding the distribution of $50,000,000 of government funds about to be deposited in the national banks of those sections to facilitate the marketing and movement of the crops.

Step Unprecedented.

This unprecedented step, which will call to Washington bankers from the centers that will finance the handling of the great crops soon to be harvested, is designed to give the secretary first hand information and advice as to the specific and relative needs of each of the farming districts.

It has been tentatively decided to place the deposits in the fifty-nine cities to be represented at the conferences. Invitations were sent by telegraph to the presidents of the clearing house associations in each of the cities asking them to send representatives or committees to Washington to discuss arrangements for depositing the big sum.

The conference with the representatives from the southern cities will be held at the treasury department Thursday August 7, with those from the west Friday, August 8, and with those from the Pacific coast on Thursday, August 14.

Atlanta One of the Cities.

These cities have been invited to be represented:

Birmingham, Mobile, Montgomery, Ala.; Little Rock, Ark.; Los Angeles, San Francisco, Cal.; Denver, Colo.; Tampa, Jacksonville, Fla.; Atlanta, Savannah, Ga.; Chicago; Evansville, Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Ind.; Des Moines, Sioux City, Iowa; Kansas City, Wichita, Kan.; Louisville, Ky.; New Orleans, La.; Baltimore, Md.; Vicksburg, Meridian, Miss; St. Louis, Kansas City, Mo.; Minneapolis, St. Paul, Minn.; Detroit, Mich.; Charlotte, Wilmington, Raleigh, N. C.; Omaha, Neb.; Oklahoma City, Muskogee, Okla.; Portland, Ore.; Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Ohio; Charleston, Columbia, Spartanburg, Greenville, S. C.; Chattanooga, Knoxville, Memphis, Nashville, Tenn.; Dallas, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, Texas; Richmond, Norfolk, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Va.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Seattle, Spokane, Wash., and Milwaukee, Wis.

Secretary McAdoo announced that it was not practicable to increase the number of cities and that he believed those selected were thoroughly representative of the agricultural sections.

Entire $50,000,000 Available.

Treasury officials declare that the entire $50,000,000 which has been offered will be deposited if the situation demands it. It was explained that care will be taken to prevent any undue inflation of the circulating volume of money and that the government would deposit only what was needed to assist in moving the crops, with the stipulation that it must be returned to the treasury as soon as that need shall have passed. At the conference with the bankers Secretary McAdoo will discuss the amount needed and the dates to be named for the gradual return of the money to the government.

The treasury department expects to begin making the deposits before the close of August and gradually to feed the money into the selected centers as the demand grows through the crop moving period.

Maddox to Represent Atlanta At Crop Movement Conference

Colonel Robert J. Lowry, president of the Lowry National bank and of the Atlanta Clearing House association, has received an invitation from Secretary McAdoo to send a representative of the association to Washington to attend a conference which will be held on August 11.

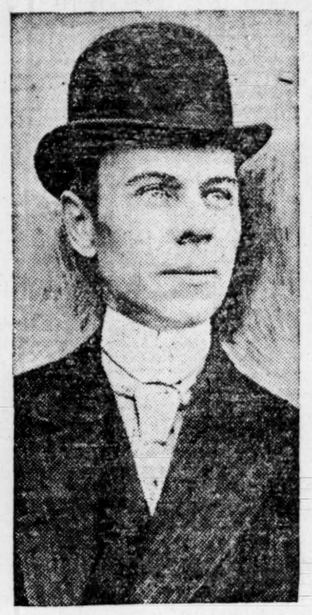

In response to the invitation Colonel Lowry, as president of the association, after consulting with members of the association, appointed Robert F. Maddox, vice president of the American National bank, to represent Atlanta at the conference as requested by Secretary McAdoo.

The conference will be in reference to the plan of Secretary McAdoo to deposit $50,000,000 in southern banks for the purpose of facilitating the movement of crops.

The telegram is as follows:

"President Clearing House Association, Atlanta: The secretary of the treasury invites your association to send a representative, or committee, to Washington for a conference at the treasury department, Thursday morning, 7th instant, at 10 o'clock, to discuss arrangements relating to the deposit of government funds which he proposes to make in certain southern cities to facilitate crop movement.

"Asistant Secretary Treasury."

priate money to about twenty colleges and universities in Georgia, besides having to maintain the state sanitarium, the common schools and other things costing the people of Georgia millions of dollars each year, and I contend that the state is in no condition at this time to take on another institution of learning and maintain it. The taxpayers of Georgia are having to pay for the upkeep of these institutions and the burdens of taxation are now as much as the taxpayers are willing to burden themselves with.

Institutions Need Funds.

"There are now institutions belonging to the state, such as the sanitarium at Alto, Ga., for consumptives, which are in distress for the lack of funds to maintain the patients. The state already has plenty of good physicians, and I contend that if we have $30,000 to appropriate it should go to the maintenance of such institutions as absolutely need it. I prefer giving this $30,000 to the common school fund rather than giving it to this medical college, which has been dumped off on the state of Georgia, and I believe the people of Georgia will call their representatives to an accounting if they appropriate $30,000 of their money to an institution which has been given to the state with the statement that no appropriation for such institution would be asked.

"I have no criticism to make of this college, but I ask in the name of God where are we going to stop this kind of thing? There are hundreds of various kinds of institutions in Georgia that are willing and would be glad to make such a trade with the state, whereby they might give their property to Georgia for an annual appropriation of $30,000."

Morning Session.

The senate spent the morning session Monday in passing local bills and general bills with local application.

The rules committee repored that afternoon sessions be started Monday, and that the appropriations bill be set as a special order immediately after the passage of all local bills on the desk.

The appropriation bill was reached shortly before the adjournment of the morning session, and was considered in the afternoon.

Bills Passed in the Senate Monday.

By Sweat of the Fifth—To provide a system of draining and reclaiming wet, swamp and overflowed lands in this state.

By Perry of the Twenty-eighth—To amend code so as to provide for taxation disputed by different counties.

By Richardson of the Thirteenth—To amend an act establishing the city court of Oglethorpe.

By DuBose of the Thirtieth—To change the time of holding the superior court of Oglethorpe county.

By DuBose of the Thirtieth—To amend an act establishing city court of Lexington.

By Ballard of Columbia—To repeal an act providing for payments in Augusta judicial circuit.

By Griffin and Jones of Lowndes—To amend an act establishing the city court of Valdosta.

By Edmondson of Brooks—To repeal an act establishing the city court of Quitman.

By Clements of Irwin—To repeal an act establishing city court of Ocilla.

By Clements of Irwin—To establish city court of Irwin county.

By Wimberly, Miller and Fowler of Bibb—To amend an act authorizing the commissioners of roads and revenues of Bibb county to use hospital funds.

By Holtzclaw, of Houston—To authorize trustees of Methodist Episcopal church to sell property in Houston county.

By Miller of Bibb—To increase the salary of the judge of the city court of Macon.

By McCrary of Telfair—To amend an act creating a commissioner of roads and revenues of Telfair county.

By Davidson of Putnam—To amend an act creating a board of commissioners of roads and revenues for Putnam county.

By Henson of Jones—To create the office of county commissioner of Jones county.

points which had formerly been served by pack trains and wagon trains.

Rates to Interior Points.

Objection to rates to "interior points," meaning the towns near Atlanta, is based on a failure to recognize that on long-haul traffic there is no reason why either the full local rates or high arbitratries should be asessed. On such traffic the terminal expenses have been paid up to the basing point. Commissioner Clement asserts that fierce competition at basing points did not result in non-compensatory rates.

"Nothing in this record indicates that the additional expense of handling this long-haul traffic to or at Carrollton would justify the present differentials," he said.

road protested against this differen-road protested against this diefferential, though it is named as the principal respondent in the complaint brought by the board of trade of Carrollton.

Commodity Rates to Be Cut.

Commodity rates are also to be cut. The rates on agricultural implements from Louisville, Ky., to Carrollton is to be cut from 47 to 43 cents, and from New Orleans and Memphis to Atlanta it will be 39 cents. On canned goods the rates from New Orleans and Memphis on carload lots are to be cut to 46 cents and 63 cents for less than carloads. The Louisville rate is to be cut in the same way, recognizing the established differential.

Guiding rates are suggested as to other commodities. All rates to Carrollton are to be lined up in accordance with these rates. The commission cities that rates on coffee and cotton ties needs to be changed.

The LaGrange Case.

The commission decided in the LaGrange case that the rates from Cincinnati should be on the same basis as those to Opelika, Ala. From other Ohio river crossings, New Orleans and Memphis, the rates to LaGrange are to exceed 10 cents on first-class, instead of 36 cents as now. LaGrange is placed on the same basis as Opelika as to commodties rates. Vienna is to be placed on an equality with Cordele. The present rates to Vienna are combination on Cordele and Macon, whichever has the lower. The commission did not pass on the applications of shippers for relief under the new long-and-short-haul clause of the commerce act.

SENATE WAITING ON HOUSE BILL

Nunnally, of Floyd. They are the two amendments which Mr. Sheppard is said to have accepted and which were rejected by the house by a close vote.

One provides for tax discoverers in the various counties, paid on a commission basis; the other gives the comptroller general the right to reject county returns and have them submitted to arbitration in the same way that returns of public service corporations may now be rejected and arbitrated.

Outlook Growing Brighter.

Friends of equalization regard the outlook for the passage of an effective measure this year as growing brighter. Several members who were opposed to the ways and means committee bill have said that they will not fight a senate amendment, providing for county equalization, if it meets their approval otherwise.

There are quite a number of members of the house who would vote for a state board if provision is made for arbitration between the state board and the county boards., when county returns are rejected. That would remove the objection that the state board would have power to raise returns arbitrarily and without further recourse on the part of the county boards.

Several Bills Offered.

Several bills will be submitted to the finance committee of the senate, either to use in revising the Sheppard substitute, or to be adopted in its stead. President Randolph Anderson is known to have prepared one, and also Senator Miller. There is a bill of Representative Myrick, which was never introduced in the house because it came too late for reference in the regular course to the ways and means committee, which will also be offered to the senate finance committee, and Senator McNeill will either offer a bill or some important amendments to the house bill.

More Returns From Counties.

Returns from fourteen more counties were received by the comptroller general Monday. Big gains from two city counties over balanced the losses and Lowndes, with $260,867. Other but the net loss from the eighty-four counties heard from to date is $630,879.

The two counties showing the biggest gains were Clarke, with $428,000, and Lowndes, with $26,867. Other counties showing gains were as follows:

Butts, $52,528; Morgan, $31,012; Newton, $93,180, and Walton, $23,867.

Counties showing losses were as follows:

Effingham, $56,300; Jasper, $22,755; Oconee, $11,878; Appling, $147,275; Banks, $152,140; Lumpkin, $22,463, and Dooly, $165,889.

To date the counties showing losses aggregate $4,027,893, while the total of the gaining counties is $3,396,914.

DR. STRICKLER DIES IN LOCAL SANITARIUM

Prominent Minister Was Once Pastor of Central Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Givens Brown Strickler, 73 years of age, one of the best-known Presbyterian ministers in the south, died at a local sanitarium Monday.

In his early youth Dr. Strickler was educated at Washington and Lee, in Virginia, and later entered the Union Theological seminary. From 1882 to 1886 he was pastor of the Central Presbyterian church in this city, giving up the pastorate to accept the position of professor of theology in the Union Theological seminary at Richmond, Va., which position he occupied until his death.

For many years he had been the president of the board of trustees of Washington and Lee, which position he filled with dignity and honor.

He came to this city about a month ago and had been in ill health ever since, his death being no surprise to those who knew his true condition.

The body will be taken from Patterson's undertaking establishment today at noon and carried to the Central Presbyterian church on Washington street, where it will lie in state until nightfall. At 5:30 o'clock a simple service will be held and later the body will be placed on the night train for Richmond, Va., where it will be interred.

Dr. Strickler is survived by one sister, Miss V. M. Strickler, of Staunton, Va.; one son, Dr. C. W. Strickler, of Atlanta; four daughters, Mrs. C. F. Rankin, of Laurens S. C.; Mrs. George H. Denny, of the University of Alabama; Mrs. R. K. Timmons, of Lawton, Okla., and Miss Mary Strickler, of Richmond, Va.

DR. TRUE TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMITTEE

Washington, August 4.—(Special.)—Dr. A. C. True, director of experiment stations of the United States department of agriculture, left Washington tonight for Atlanta to appear before a committee of the Georgia legislature in connection with the proposed removal of the experiment station from Griffin. Mr. True was in Atlanta last fall at the meeting of the National Association of Experiment Station Direotors. and inquired into the controversy over the experiment station at that time.

There are now two removal bills pending before the legislature, on which the committee of the house has not acted; one to remove the station to Athens; the second to remove it to some point yet to be selected in south Georgia.

They are to represent Wesleyan college. They were entertained at luncheon at the capitol by James Fort, of Americus.

SUFFRAGE IS OPPOSED BY CATHOLIC WOMEN

Buffalo, N. Y., August 4.—The organization of a Catholic Woman's league that proposes to counteract the tendencies of the women's movement, including their demand for the use of the ballot, marked today's session of the German Roman Catholic Centeral Verein, which is holding its convention here.

Branches of the league will be formed in all parts of the country, it was stated today by Mrs. Joseph Frey, the honorary president.

"The femininist movement," said Mrs. Frey, "is being promoted by women whose views are decidedly pagan. If their demands were to be realized the Christian family would cease to exist.

"While the Catholic church has made no pronouncement on the matter of woman suffrage, the Catholic philosophy of life is opposed to it. However, we are not centering our activities in opposition to woman suffrage, but rather in a plan for the future. The present unrest has resulted in the enfranchisement of women in several states. These women would exert an evil influence by means of the ballot if a conservative body of women was not in the field to counteract their influence."

DRESSED IN OVERALLS, WOMAN MEETS DEATH

Asheville, N. C., August 4.—Dressed in a pair of overalls, brogan shoes and a man's shirt, which was much torn and soiled, the body of Mrs. Etta Patton, wife of Zeb Patton, a former resident of this city, was picked up on the tracks of the Southern railway about three miles from this city early this morning. It is believed that the deceased was struck by a freight train which passed about half an hour before the body was found. Mrs. Patton had been separated from her husband, who is now in Cincinnati, for two years, and had been living at Knoxville. She was about 27 years old.

RESCUE OF GIRL COSTS TWO LIVES

Albany, Ga., August 4.—(Special.)—It was learned here late this afternoon that two men were drowned in Notchiway creek, near Milford, in Baker county, this afternoon, while trying to save a young lady. They were M. Geise, of Milford, and G. Price Thompkins, of Americus.

Tmopkins, who was selling gasoline engines to farmers in that section, was requested by a party of young ladies, among whom was Mr. Geise's daughter, to take them in bathing. He consented. One of the young women, whose name could not be learned, got out of her depth and Mr. Thompkins swam to her rescue. He was having poor success in the attempt to save the girl, and Mr. Geise, who was standing on the bank and had not been in swimming, jumped in to help. Both men were drowned, but the young lady was saved. How she was rescued was not learned here, as details are meager.

Mr. Geise's body was recovered. The drowning occurred about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Tompkins Well Known.

Americus, Ga., August 4.—(Special.) Price Tompkins, who met a tragic death by drowning in Flint river, near Albany, this afternoon, was one of the most prominent and esteemed young men of Americus, and the traveling representative of a large western corporation.

He was 35 years old and is survived by his widowed mother, two sisters and brothers, who are prostrated by the announcement of his death.

Our Deferred Payment Plan An Easy Way to Buy a Diamond

We believe the secret of many a man's success lies in having formed the habit of meeting some obligation each month.

With no special object for which to save a young man is apt to live up to his income. If you have a diamond note to meet won't it keep you from spending money for trifling things of no value?

At the end of the diamond contract you will be the value of the diamond better off, the money would have been spent anyway and you would have had nothing to show for it.

Diamonds are continually advancing, therefore a constant source of profit to the purchaser.

The advance in diamonds is due to increase in demand and falling off in the quantity being found each year.

Mining is much more difficult and far more expensive. The DeBeers Mining Company has reached such a distance under the surface that laborers can live only a few hours at a time in the intense heat.

Another fact tends to raise the price of diamonds—the high-grade material decreases the further the mines are worked into.

The syndicates are forced to limit the output and there can be but one result—constant increase in price.

Let us explain personally our terms and prices on diamonds. We are never too busy to give you courteous attention whether you are ready to buy or merely seek information.

Our partial payment plans are attractive and convenient and lots of good business people are using them.

COURTING COMPLICATIONS!

Apparently semi-official news dispatches make it clear that the British government is getting ready to fortify the pathway to the approaches of the Panama canal from both the Atlantic and the Pacific sides, using the Island of Bermuda as its Atlantic base and Clippertown island, which it claims, on the Pacific side. If this is true, and it seems probable, it marks a reversal of the British policy which, adopted ten years ago, removed all stations of the British fleet from the Atlantic and the Caribbean.

While it is not so stated, it is understood that this highly significant movement is the result of the action of this government in opening the Panama canal to our own coastwise ships free of toll charges, while subjecting our own foreign commerce and the commerce of the world to a uniform toll charge—and this after having made the solemn pledge that without exception the canal should be opened on the same basis to the nations of the world.

When the United States government concluded to construct the Panama canal the point was raised that the then existing treaty with Great Britain left some room for doubt as to whether or not we could proceed with the work without agreement with that government. Negotiations were accordingly entered into and the United States, solemnly and with open eyes, entered into a new treaty which became a solemn contract, regularly ratified, guaranteeing that the Panama canal should be open to the commerce of the world on absolutely the same basis. There was to be no discrimination for or against the shipping of any nation of the world.

The last congress, when the canal was practically finished, broke that solemn contract by claiming that the United States did not mean to include itself in the treaty, and it gave the coastwise shipping of the United States the use of the canal free of tolls.

When a solemn promise is violated, who is to blame? Clearly it is the violator. The last congress broke a specific pledge, and in doing so planted in the pathway of the government a patch of thorns, which if not rooted up will cause serious complications for which we will have no one to blame but ourselves.

When a man says he will do a thing he must keep his word or be accused of bad faith. Exactly the same obligation rests upon governments.

Men do not plant thorns and reap grapes—nor thistles and reap figs.

The plain duty of this administration is to stand by the solemn obligation of the government and repeal the discriminatory clause of the last canal act, doing just what we promised the world we would do when we pledged that no discrimination would be made against the shipping of any country, though we followed this with a clear discrimination in favor of our own shipping.

And the worst feature about it is that while discriminating we discriminated against that very part of our own shipping which needed assistance most. Under the canal act all our shipping from an American port to a foreign country, through the canal, must pay tolls like the shipping of other countries. This is the shipping that comes in competition with all the world. Our coastwise shipping is already the most thoroughly protected industry in America, as no foreign ship can take a coast-to-coast cargo between American ports. Already protected, therefore, to the very limit, this milk-fed "infant industry" was given free access to the canal, in spite of our promise to the contrary, while our over-the-ocean shipping, in competition with the flags of all civilization, was told to take care of itself as best it could. If any exception whatsoever could honorably have been made, it should have been in behalf of this branch of our shipping.

The sooner congress undoes the wrong already committed in violating our treaty obligation, the better it will be for all concerned, for the unfailing and unvarying truth that "whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap," applies alike to nations as it does to men.

PERMANENT COTTON EXHIBIT.

Not only Atlanta and Georgia, but the entire south must be in hearty sympathy and accord with the proposal to establish, covering an entire floor of the new Atlanta Chamber of Commerce building, a complete and permanent exhibit of cotton and its products.

Nowhere in the world can the man interested in any phase of the cotton industry go today and find such an exhibit as this. Some expositions have attempted and set them up temporarily and in incomplete shape; but no complete and permanent exhibit of cotton and all the numerous products of manufacture into which it enters has, so far, progressed beyond the stage of discussion.

The value of such an exhibit, showing cotton from the planting of the seed and the growing plant to the finest fabrics of the loom and the highest grades of oil and other products from the seed, will be inestimable. It will attract national, not to say world, attention, for it would bring to Atlanta foreign visitors to this country, who are interested in the cotton manufacturing industry.

But, perhaps, its greatest value to the south will be in the stimulation of the cotton manufacturing industry here at home, right at the cotton fields. There is scarcely a product into which cotton enters which cannot be manufactured here in sight of the growing cotton fields with equal, if not greater, facility than it can be made in the east or abroad.

The suggestion comes from the cotton products committee of the Atlanta Manufacturers' Exposition association; and so strikingly valuable did it seem when proposed, that a subcommittee with W. M. Hutchinson, a cotton oil expert, as chairman, was appointed to work out the problem. As far as it has gone this subcommittee has met with most enthusiastic encouragement and reports the prospect of a substantial fund to meet the expense of the exhibit.

As the establishment of such an exhibit will necessitate changes in the floor plans of the Chamber of Commerce building, which must be made at once, the details of the exhibit must be completed this week. Considering the value and importance of the project, not only as a local movement, but one appealing strongly to the entire cotton belt, its successful execution can scarcely be questioned.

PATTERSON'S WISE COURSE.

When a man, white or black, brown, red or yellow, takes himself out of the rut of the commonplace and does a noteworthy thing he deserves more than passing commendation.

At the request of Adam E. Patterson, the Oklahoma negro and democrat, who was appointed register of the treasury, President Wilson has withdrawn the nomination and appointed an Indian instead. In asking the withdrawal of his nomination, Patterson expresses gratitude for the high honor of having been considered for a position to which he has looked forward all his life.

The fact that Patterson stifles his personal ambition and surrenders a cherished hope, rather than to embarrass the administration, and that he should withdraw his name for the good of his race, desiring that a spirit of harmony and good will may exist between the races, indicates that he is a man of more than ordinary perception. Probably the president may yet find some place to which the negro may be assigned without embarrassment to the party. There are some such places in the diplomatic service and elsewhere—positions where the appointee deals with his own race. To such an appointment there would be no objection.

NEEDED RELIEF.

The bill introduced by Mr. Wohlwender, of Muscogee, providing for the regulation of fraternal insurance orders, and which is set for a hearing before the insurance committee today, should receive the unanimous indorsement of the committee and be pressed to prompt passage by the general assembly.

The reputation of the state of Georgia has already been permitted to suffer in foreign jurisdictions from the activity of the too numerous local Wallingfords, who capitalize energy by selling insurance that doesn't insure, backed up by nominal assets, of which the roller-top desk too often constitutes the principal item.

Not only is the general public, as well as the unfortunate victim, entitled to protection against fake institutions, but those reputable fraternal orders whose management and conduct insure the integrity of their administration, are likewise to be benefited by the adoption of the Wohlwender bill, which provides intelligent methods for segregating the sheep from the goats.

Although the present session of the legislature is hastening to an early end, the importance of this measure, which is indorsed by the comptroller general, and the good results to be accomplished by its passage, should afford sufficient incentive to the legislature to speed its enactment into law.

WHAT AGE IS THAT?

The other day, on a railway train coming into Atlanta, two elderly women were engaged in animated conversation. One was overheard to say to the other, "Yes, he is just the right age to be in the way."

The question is: What age is that?

Probably that woman is a grandmother and was speaking of some little fellow who is just beginning to crawl. If so, is he in the way? The child requires a good deal of attention, to be sure, but if his parents and grandparents are worthy of their responsibility, that crawling baby is the bond of love and sympathy in that household.

Surely the old woman was not speaking of the awkward lad who is large enough to run errands and chop stovewood; nor of the youth who is so dead in love that he can do nothing but strum a guitar and sing, "When you and I were young, Maggie;" nor of a young husband whose daily homecoming is the one bright spot in the life of a lonely young woman; nor of a man in middle life whose energies are spent in providing for a growing family. Surely she could not have been speaking of some grandsire, who is no longer able to care for himself, but who doubly earns his board and keep by entertaining the children with helpful stories of the long ago, and by instructing them in the way of life, while the parents are engaged earning and preparing the bread.

Doubtless there are some people in the world who are more of a hindrance than a help to their homefolk, but age has nothing to do with it.

Surely that woman was speaking idly. She has a kind face. If her grandbaby were sick she would walk the floor with him all night long. If her husband were in distress she would wade the Chattahoochee to get to him.

The solemn fact is, nobody in this world is just the right age to be in the way.

THE NEW POET LAUREATE.

Of Robert Bridges, the new poet laureate of England, The London Times gives the following brief autobiographical sketch:

"Mr. Bridges, who was born in 1844, was educated at Eton and Corpus Christi college, Oxford, of which he is an honorary fellow. After leaving Oxford he spent some time traveling, and subsequently studied medicine at St. Bartholomew's hospital. He became casualty physician at St. Bartholomew's, and afterward held appointments at the Children's hospital, Great Edmond street, and the Great Northern hospital. He retired in 1882."

Following the death of Alfred Austin a three-sided controversy ensued. The elements were: (1) Those who wanted the office abolished, on the ground that it had outlived its purpose and honor; (2) those who were pushing the appointment of favorites, and (3) Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, who suggested—with quiet English humor—that the honor should be conferred upon some poet already dead, "to benefit his family and to point out the beauties of his works to an otherwise indifferent posterity."

As surprising as it may seem, even to those Americans who are familiar with "wire pulling," some Englishmen urged for the office of poet laureate political friends and party favorites, seemingly without regard to poetic ability.

This is not saying that Sir Robert Bridges had no political friends, or partisans interested in his appointment. The fact, however, that he is a poet, and not a politician, is evidence that his designation was based on merit.

Mr. Bridges does not write liberal, nor conservative, nor imperial, nor "little Englander" verse. He is a poet. He knows what there is to be learned about the science of English verse and he applies his knowledge in his art. By the way, it is no small honor to the work of Sidney Lanier, of Georgia, that the present poet laureate of England learned from him something of the science of verse, especially of the tunes or tones of human speech.

Mr. Bridges, as a critic of English prosody, exhibits fine taste and splendid courage. It is in his poems, however—narrative, lyric and dramatic—that his lofty passion for poetic beauty finds expression. His appointment, therefore, is hailed by all lovers of poetry, the world over, as an indication that the spirit of Alfred, Lord Tennyson, still hovers over the island that was thought to be wholly commercialized, partyized, materialized. His appointment has caused no dissatisfaction among aspiring political versifiers.

Literary people, everywhere, are now attracted by what Mr. Bridges has already accomplished, and are eagerly awaiting the future output of his pen. It is safe to say that his odes, epithalamiums and dirges—if indeed he sees fit to write any—will be dignified and in good taste. Sir Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England, will honor his office.

His Sunday Experiences.

A pious brother, who is a county correspondent of The Howard Courant, relates his Sunday experiences as follows:

"Last Sunday evening was the time for unusual things to happen to me. I had to walk so fast to keep from being late at church that I was hot and out of breath; I didn't have any pencil to write down the hymn numbers for the preacher and had to borrow one from George Reid. I left my specs at home and had to borrow Fred Flory's; they didn't fit my eyes, and I could scarcely see the words of the hymns. When they received the offering I discovered that I had a silver half dollar and a copper cent; it was hard to give the Lord a square divide without going broke myself. I was serenely happy and went home after listening to a good sermon, at peace with myself and all the world."

Burglary as a Risk.

(From The New York World.)

Some of the companies that insure against burglary complain of their losses, holding that their clients are careless and that many of the claims presented are fraudulent. These would appear to be the natural risks of the business.

It was found not long ago that fire insurance as conducted in New York put a premium upon arson by writing policies without investigation. When men can insure "furniture" in an empty room for a large sum, strange things may happen.

Insurance against burglary, like insurance against accidents, opens up many possibilities of fraud. If the underwriters do not take these into account they are highly remiss in their business. It does not follow, however, because some people are swindlers that all or most claimants are to be so classified.

The number of fires has been reduced by making insurance something more than a slot-machine matter. Perhaps the burglary record can be cut down in the same way.

The World's Mysteries

DID FRANCES HOWARD POISON SIR THOMAS OVERBURY?

Was Frances Howard, who afterwards became the countess of Somerset, guilty of the poisoning of Sir Thomas Overbury, a famous courtier of James I? There is no doubt that Overbury was poisoned, though at the time of his death a jury of warders and fellow-prisoners pronounced a verdict of natural death, which was part of the prearranged scheme, and he was buried in the church in the Tower.

More than two years elapsed after the death of Sir Thomas before there was a suspicion aroused that it had not been regular. A boy who was in the employ of an apothecary at Flushing, gave the information to a newspaper correspondent. He had formerly been in attendance of Overbury.

Three months after Overbury's death, Frances Howard married the Earl of Somerset. Overbury and the earl had been intimate friends. The former had tried every means possible to prevent the marriage of Frances, who would have had to obtain a divorce from the Earl of Essex in order to wed again. Through her influence over Somerset, Frances Howard prevailed upon him to have Overbury confined in the tower. Somerset was duped by the woman, and after the marriage was over and he came to a realization as to what he had done, he lost his gavety and charm of manner, for he began to fear there might have been a tragdy in the death of Sir Thomas.

There has never been any stigma cast upon the Earl of Somerset as to being implicated in this crime. In fact when Overbury died, Somerset wrote to his mother and told her how he blamed himself for her son's disgrace, and said that he wished he could redeem him with any possible ransom.

But in the investigation that followed the rumors of a crime having been committed, both the earl and countess were arrested, as well as all the attendants of Overbury in the tower. Four tower attendants were convicted and executed. The earl and countess were also convicted, but were pardoned. The obvious anxiety of the king to shelter the earl and his wife encouraged a suspicion that he had connived at the murder.

The trial of the earl and countess was among the most sensational ever held in London. No marriage could have been more wretched than this one. They finally appointed the rooms of their house so that they should never meet, and the countess died a lingering death from cancer.

There seems to be not much doubt that Frances Howard was the real instigator of the murder. It is said that she suggested such a thing to one Sir David Wood, who believed that Overbury had done him some injury. She even promised Wood $1,000 as soon as the deed was done. After Overbury's committal, her granduncle, Northampton, although he may not have been wholly in her confidence, readily aided her in the preliminary steps of the plot, and did not too closely inquire into her aims.

Through Northampton's influence she was able to dismiss from the tower such attendants whom she had reason to believe would not enter into the scheme, and in their place substituted others who would carry out her bidding. She first succeeded in placing in the tower as lieutenant Sir Gervase Helwys, who was a protege of the Howard family, and at their bidding he took into his service as jailer Richard Watson, and appointed him Overbury's personal attendant.

Watson had instruction to mix with Overbury's food the poisonous contents of certain phials which were forwarded to him by others of the countess' agents. At the same time Frances Howard obtained permission from Helwys to provide Overbury's table with confectionery which the lieutenant was warned to allow none but the prisoner to taste. According to Franklin's testimony, the chief poison employed was white arsenic, but many other poisons figured in the list with which Franklin corrupted Overbury's food.

Overbury was in feeble health on arriving at the tower and although his sufferings, largely due to the machinations of his enemies ,were soon stated to be without parallel, yet his ailments were attributed to natural causes. He himself had no suspicion of their true origin. So cleverly was the plot worked, however, and so defective was the medicial science of the day that two of the most eminent London physicians who were deputed to examine him, were completely deceived as to his condition. There is no doubt that Frances Howard was the leading spirit in the movement to get rid of Sir Thomas Overbury, but there has been much doubt as to who were the others in the crime, for it is believed by everyone that her husband was innocent and was merely used as a dupe by the woman.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON, The Famous Prose Poet

THE MOTHER-IN-LAW.

"There's nothing more disgusting than the everlasting jokes about the mother-in-law," declared the school superintendent. "All the half baked humorists in the country continue to write such jokes, and I never see one of them without feeling indignant. The mother-in-law, in nine cases out of ten, is a blessing to the home wherein she abides."

"You'd have the time of your life accumulating the statistics to prove that," remarked the village patriarch. "I don't enjoy the jokes about the mother-in-law any more than you do. They usually are feeble and chestnutty, and they don't discourage the mother-in-law. Some more drastic action should be taken against that overpowering female. Each state should furnish an asylum for her, and she should be required to stay there.

"For the mother-in-law does more to destroy domestic happiness than strong drink or piano music or anything I can think of. She may be the finest kind of a woman, and I believe she often is; but just as soon as she invades the home of young married people trouble looms up on the horizon and the divorce lawyers begin to grind their weapons.

"No man was ever more passionately devoted to his mother than I was. She was the kind of mother you read about, and the best housekeeper in seven states. I was married the first time when quite young, and there was happiness to burn in our home. My wife was a highly attractive young woman, if I do say it myself. It is true that she wasn't the best cook in the village, and her pies tasted as though they had been embroidered rather than baked, but she was learning the points of the game, and there was every reason to believe that she would be able to cook rings around any of the neighbor women before long.

"One day I went home with a glad smile spread all over my face, and told Eliza Jane that I had joyful news. My mother was coming for a good long visit. I expected to see her dance and sing, but she didn't seem at all enchanted. 'That means the end of all our happiness,' said she. I tried to argue her out of her dismal forebodings. I pointed out that my mother was different from the average run of mothers. She was a wellspring of pleasure. But my wife said that her coming would upset everything.

"My mother came next day and she was fairly simmering with love for us both, and she called up pet names and was just too sweet for anything, but she hadn't been in the house an hour before she was rearranging the pictures on the walls and saying that the lace curtains would have to be washed. My wife looked at me with a Lady Macbeth expression in her eye, and whispered, 'I told you so!' My mother meant the best in the world when she began suggesting changes in the arrangement of things, and Eliza Jane resented it, and I really couldn't blame her, for such suggestions are criticisms, and nobody likes to be criticised.

"My wife went into the kitchen to compile some hash, and I tried to hold mother in the parlor, but she wouldn't stand for it. She was fairly pawing the carpet in her anxiety to go to the kitchen. 'I want to give that dear girl the benefit of my experience,' said she, and so she hotfooted it to the kitchen. Then I heard her telling Eliza Jane that the beefsteak was tough. 'Wherever I get such a piece of meat,' said she, 'I always hang it over the clothesline and beat it with a buggy whip until it's tender.' 'The steak ought to hit back,' replied Eliza Jane, and I realized that she was peevish.

"Then mother began to tell her how to make coffee so that a sane man could drink it, and how to boil potatoes with the skins on, and how to make biscuits that wouldn't explode, and how to fry eggs in their shells, and forty other things, and the result was that Eliza Jane handed down an ultimatum that first evening. I had to ship my mother to parts unknown, or she would resign her portfolio as my wife.

"I was foolish enough to stand up for my mother in this emergency, and so I lost the most satisfactory wife I ever had, and I have mourned her departure for many years. I have no doubt that thousands of yearning husbands could tell similar stories if they happened to drift into this drugstore for a game of checkers."

THE FIVE CENT PIECE.

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

The five cent piece is the day laborer of our coinage. It is the hardest working and most successful bit of money in use in these United States.

The twenty dollar gold piece is very popular and is madly sought after in the best society; the five dollar bill has millions of friends, and the hard silver dollar can be found nestling in the pocket of almost every freeborn citizen. But none of these works like the five cent piece.

The humble nickel runs the street cars of the nation, provides it with cigars and soda water, buys most of its magazines, operates its slot machines and has made the moving picture more powerful than the political orator.

The nickel has built 100 acre breweries and $200,000,000 subway systems. Where the $2 bill has given up in despair the humble nickel has stepped in and operated vast theaters. The quarter ran the magazine business for many years, and made a mess of it. But when the nickel went into the game it put the magazine on every news stand and filled the American home so full of Sunday newspapers that father has to clear it out with a pitchfork on Monday morning.

Place a dollar bill in the pocket and it has to be removed with forceps and an anaesthetic. But put a nickel in the pocket and within ten minutes it has leaped nimbly into the till of the nearest cigar store, soda fountain or moving picture emporium.

If the nickel's work were to be turned over to the dime, most of our moving picture theaters would close, the cigar business would disappear, street cars would travel empty and our most prominent brewers would be mowing lawns for a living. Many of our newest and freshest millionaries are men who found dimes and quarters doing work which was unfitted for them, and put nickels on the job in their places. And many of our future millionaries will be men who discover other jobs now being run into the ground by larger and fatter coins and who will put in cisterns for tills and begin the accumulation of nickels as a life work. The nickel has not broken into the automobile business and may never do so. But when every voter contributes a nickel to his party the troubles of the campaign committee will disappear and the large contributors, who have been renting our political parties in the past, will be told coldly and firmly to go to.

"The Day Laborer of Our Coinage,"

BE NATURAL.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The whole world vibrates in tune wit the human being that acts himself. Mos of us are on parade. We see too many eye centered our way. We estimate too highl and too falsely our own worth. Instead o being busy at our job, we worry for fea other people may fail to know we are bus at it.

Work as though No One sees, but wit the feeling that in time Everyone will see.

Naturalness is inherent, therefore it can not be acquired. It is false Standards an wrong Ideals and life misunderstood tha bring Unnaturalness. Unnaturalness is specie of Imitation—it's turning your Re Self around and seeking to make it wal backwards. Be Natural and you will be you Strongest Self. Also, you will be what n other human being can be. For no two o us are exactly alike or have ability in dupl cate.

Work as though No One sees, but wit the feeling that in time Everyone will see

BIG COTTON EXHIBIT ELICITS ENTHUSIASM

Cotton Refineries of North and East Are Willing to Do Their Part.

At an enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Georgia Cotton Seed Crushers' association, held yesterday at the chamber of commerce, a substantal subscription was made to the project for establishing a complete and permanent cotton and cotton products exhibit in the new chamber of commerce building.

The plan elicited the enthusiasm of every one of them and it was further reported that some of the big cotton refineries of the north and east would be glad to help out.

Chairman W. M. Hutchinson, of the subcommittee, will have a report to make to the cotton products committee on Tuesday afternoon, which, he feels, will practically decide the success of the cotton exhibit.

"I have talked with a great many people," said Chairman Hutchinson, concerning this permanent cotton exhibit, and I find it meets everywhere with hearty enthusiasm. Every man I have approached has not only been in favor of it, but will help support it.

"I have taken the matter up with some of the big cotton seed oil refineries in the nodth and east and I find that they, too, are willing to help.

"We are now in a position to state confidently that we will have a handsome and substantial subscription to report to the meeting of the cotton products committee tomorrow afternoon."

There were present at the meeting W. M. Hutchinson, manager of the Southern Cotton Oil company; H. E. Watkins, secretary and treasurer of the Empire Cotton Oil company; W. J. White, manager of the Central Cotton Oil company; P. D. McCarley, vice president of the Cotton Seed Crushers' Association of Georgia; F. M. Garner, of Thomaston, a prominent oil mill man; A. A. Fryerson, secretary and treasurer of the association; M. C. King, S. A. Corker, J. H. Taylor and J. C. Harris, all dealers in cotton seed products; C. M. Allen, local manager for Swift & Co.; E. P. Chivers, chairman of the association's publicity bureau, and J. H. Burton, representing the Southern Cotton Oil company at Lavonia.

WALTER COOPER GIVEN VACATION OF 90 DAYS

Walter G. Cooper, who has been the efficient secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce for the past ten or twelve years, has been granted a special ninety-day leave of absence in which to visit Europe. He will leave sometime within the next few days.

This comes as a special recognition from the board of directors of Mr. Cooper's faithful work as secretary. It is the first long vacation which Mr. Cooper has taken since he has been connected with the chamber, and that body thought that it was due him.

IF YOU CAN WALK YOU'RE NOT DRUNK, SAYS MACON JUDGE

Macon, Ga., August 4.—(Special.)—Judge Augustin Daly, of Macon's police court, does not consider a man drunk when he can both walk and talk. This was brought out this morning when a negro was arraigned before the judge on the charge of having imbibed too freely.

"Was he drunk?" asked the judge.

"Yes, sir, judge," replied Patrolman Thompson.

"Could he talk all right?"

"Yes, sir."

"Could he walk all right?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, he wasn't drunk, then," observed Judge Daly, as he dismissed the case.

"However, I don't mean any reflection on you," he told the policeman.

PROMINENT MACON MAN IS DEAD FROM STROKE

Macon, Ga., August 4.—(Special.)—J. Stein, for the past fifty years a resident of Macon, and widely known among the Knights of Pythias of the state, died here yesterday from a stroke of apoplexy, which came upon him at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. Pittman.

Mr. Stein was 78 years of age, and had been a member of the Knights of Pythias for thirty-five years.

The funeral was held this afternoon, and the interment was in Willian Rolff cemetery.

OCCUPATION TAX DOUBLED BY HOUSE

Slater-Akin Bill Is Passed by Vote of 109 to 13—Other Bills Passed by House on Monday.

With a measure doubling the occupation tax on corporations and another placing a special tax on antomatic bottling plants passed; a measue placing a registration tax on lobbyists tabled, and a fourth bill providing an annual registration tax on automobiles, the house concluded its delibrations for Monday.

By a vote of 109 to 13 theSlater-Akin occupation tax bill, doubling the occupation tax on corporations passed the house. This provides an annual increase of $46,000.

The bill passed practically without opposition either in argument or upon the vote.

This measure provides the following score of occupation tax is for corporations, excepting those not organized for the purpose of pecuniary gain or profit:

For corporations with capital not exceeding $10,000, a tax of $10 per annum; for capital over $10,000 and under $25,000, a tax of $20; for capital over $25,000 and under $100,000, a tax of $30; for capital over $100,000 and under $300,000, a tax of $50; for capital over $300,000 and under $5,000,000, a tax of $100; for capital over $5,000 and under $1,000,000, a tax of $150, and for capital over $1,000,000, a tax of $200.

This scale exactly doubles the tax figures in the old scale.

Bottling Plant Bill Passed.

The Akin bill placing a tax on bottling plants was pased by the house Monday. The law includes plants bottling soft drinks or beverages of any character whatever, and sets the following scale of annual taxation

For each bottling machine having one filling head, $25 for two filling heads, $75; for three filling heads, $125, and $50 for each additional filling head on such machines as may have more than three heads.

After a warm fight on the floor of the house, the Akin bill for a special registration tax on lobbyists, the measure was tabled on motion of Mr. Adams, of Hall, by a vote of 60 to 48.

The measure called for a registration tax of $50 for persons advocating through personal interviews and similar methods with members of the legislature.

The decission of this bill brought out the pestiflrous methods to which members of the house are sometimes subject by lobbyist to which there was a general protest. The point was also made that to place such a tax on representatives of people interested in measures pending in the legislature would often work a hardship upon such people and in some cases would eliminate the possibility of their having a special representative to appear before committee meetings.

Fight Over Registration Bill.

A warm fight ensued upon consideration of the measure recommended by the ways and mean committee to place an annual registration of $5 on automobile and other similarly propelled vehicles, involving an annual increase in the state's revenue of approximately $100,000.

This measure was still under discussion when the house adjourned.

The opposition to the bill was led by Messrs. Myrick, of Chatham, and Miller, of Bibb, while Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee Akin and Mr. Greene, of Houston, advocated its passage.

A motion by Mr. Pickett, of Terrell, to table the bill was lost.

Mr. Stewart, of Coffee, followed this last motion by calling the previous question. Immediately there was a storm of protest on the floor of the house, as the sustaining of this call would cut off debate and prevent the introduction of amendments to the bill. Mr. McMichael, of Marion, and others made personal appeals to Mr. Stewart on the floor to withdraw his call so that amendments might be introduced. Without offering reasons for his refusal to withdraw the call, he declined, whereupon the house, with marked promptness, set down upon his motion.

Mr. Oliver, of Quitman, introduced an amendment to make the measure apply in modified manner to horse-drawn vehicles. This amendment Chairman Akin declined to consider seriously, declaring it to be absurd.

Mr. McMichael, of Marion, introduced an amendment to apply the revenue derived from the automobile tax to the public roads.

Gave Warning to House.

When the temper of the house developed somewhat against the measure during the discussion, Messrs. Akin and Greene reminded the house of the state's urgent need for money, and warned it against the habit of voting down all measures levying taxes.

The discussion on this measure will be continued at Tuesday's session.

For the first time at this session the house met at 9 o'clock on Monday morning. Speaker Burwell complimented the house on the number of members in their seats at the hour of convening.

Bills Passed in the House.

By Mr. Dorough of Franklin—To provide for four terms per annum of Franklin superior court.

By Mr. Mills of Butts—To repeal act establishing the city court of Jackson.

By Mr. Arnold of Oglethorpe—To change the time of holding the superior court in Oglethorpe county. Also to amend act creating the city court of Lexington.

By Mr. Carter of Appling—To repeal act creating city court of Baxley.

By Mr. McLendon of Early—To abolish city court of Blakely.

By Mr. Hopkins of Thomas—To amend section 1249 of political code of 1910.

By Mr. Carter of Appling—To provide for holding four terms a year of the superior court of Appling county.

By Messrs. Akin of Glynn, and Slater of Bryan—To double occuption tax on corporations.

By Mr. Akin of Glynn—To tax bottling plants.

New Bills in the House.

By Mr. Field of DeKalb—To amend section 1062 of Code of 1910.

By Mr. Stewart of Coffee—To require the maintenance of sheds in the construction and repair of cars.

By Mr. Fiwler of Bibb—To authorize the state superintendent of education or county superintendents of education to license graduates of the Georgia Normal and Industrial Colleeg to teach in the public schools of the state.

Lewis Leaves Eatonton.

Eatonton, Ga., August 4.—(Special.) Dr. W. K. Lewis, who has had charge of the tick eradication work in Putnam and surrounding counties for the past two or three years with headquarters at Eatonton, left Thursday morning for Atlanta, where he will be permanently located with offices in the federal building. He has recently been promoted to the position of state supervisor of this work.

BIRMINGHAM ROTARY CLUB IS HERE TODAY

Atlantans Will See to It That Visitors Have Time of Their Lives.

A delegation representing the Birmingham Rotary club, forty strong, will arrive in Atlanta at 12:40 o'clock today, and will be the guests of the Atlanta Rotary club for twelve hours.

They will be met at the station by a delegation from the local club, headed by Hubert Anderson, president, and Howard Geldert, secretary. From the station they will be taken directly to the new Asnley hotel, where they will have luncheon at 1:15 o'clock.

The afternoon will be spent just as they choose, sightseeing, visiting relatives and friends, etc. At 7 o'clock they will gather at the Capital City club for dinner. The evening will be spent there. At midnight they will leave for Birmingham.

The Birmingham Rotary club is one of the strongest in the country, having been in existence for about two years. The Atlanta club is only a recent affair, but is rapidly growing in strength.

CHARGE OF SHOOTING UP TOWN IS FACED BY FATHER AND SON

Valdosta, Ga., August 4.—(Special.—Judge W. E. Thomas will go to Statenville, Ga., on Monday to hear the cases against H. S. Williams, his son Robert and a man named Jernigan, who are now in jail at Statenville charged with shooting-up the town of Howell and threatening the life of the marshal there.

The trouble at Howell, which occurred some weeks ago, excited more interest htna any similar affair that has happened in that section. The accused men were arrested on a special order issued by Judge Thomas when it was alleged that the people at Howell were afraid to swear out warrants for the men.

Williams and his friends declare that the affair has been grossly exaggerated and they are anxious for an opportunity to be heard.

UNCONSCIOUS GIRL FOUND BY OFFICERS IN SAVANNAH PARK

Savannah, Ga., August 4.—(Special.) Stretched upon the grass in a remote corner of Colonial park, Beulah Forrest, a young woman, was found in a semi-conscious condition today just before noon.

The police at headquarters were notified. The woman was hardly able to talk, and gasped that she had swallowed three bichloride of mercury tablets. She was evidently suffering severe pain.

It is believed she took the drug with suicidal intent. She was hurried to the Savannah hospital, where treatment was administered. She is in a critical condition.

SOLD STOCK TO FARMER; NOW THEY ARE IN JAIL

Greensboro, Ga., August 4.—(Special.) D. W. Moorefield and G. W. Bishop, who came to Greene county pretending to sell a patented car door, induced John H. Bowles, a prominent farmer, to invest $1,500 in the patent right. After investigation, he reached the conclusion that they were crooks and had them arrested in Arcadia, Fla., through E. C. Hixon, sheriff of Greene county.

Since their arrest the sheriff has received messages from Berrien, Oglethorpe and other counties in the state that they were wanted for similar offenses.

They will be brought to Greensboro either Tuesday or Wednesday.

TWO MEN MEET DEATH ON LOGGING TRAIN

Arlington, Ga., August 4.—(Special.) George L. Bessinger, white, and John Bennett, colored, were both killed and Charles Dunson, colored, injured, when struck by falling logs on a log train of the Arlington Lumber company this morning.

Bessinger's and Bennett's heads were so badly mashed and mutilated that they were hardly recognifiazle. The injured negro was hurt about the neck and shoulders, but not seriously.

The white man was a flagman on the train, and the two negroes were log hands. The three, with the conductor, were sitting on the end of the flat car riding and with their backs to the logs on the car. One of the logs rolled down and pinned the heads of Bessinger and Bennett between it and another log close to where they were sitting. The other negro narrowly missed a similar fate, and the conductor escaped unhurt.

Bessinger was about 35 years old, and was from Olar, S. C. His body will be shipped to that place. The negro's body was turned over to his people here.

LET GIRLS USE EYES TO CRUSH MASHERS

Chicago, August 4.—Hat pins, clubs, or whistles like the Boston women use are not necessary to squelch mashers—a look will do it. This was the opinion expressed today by police women at two Chicago beaches. One substantial, wide-eyed look, with a touch of scorn in it will send the boldest flirt about his business, they say.

"All you have to do when a man speaks to you insultingly is to look at him and he turns and runs," said Officer Mary Boyd. "I sometimes carry a little billy, but it's for dogs; men are scared to death of me."

Look a man over from hair to shoes and shoes to hat and he will vanish," is the advice of Police Woman Emma Heukom. "I've been all over the world and I never needed any weapons but my eyes. There are other methods too. I sometimes start talking in French or Greek to mashers and they always run away. But a look's the best."

Nephew of Longfellow.

Glouchester, Mass., August 4.—William Pitt Preble Longfellow, a nephew of the poet Longfellow and an architect of note, died here today, aged 77 years. Mr. Longfellow wrote several books on architecture.

BELLWOOD CONVICTS TO SPORT AND WASH IN 16 SHOWER BATHS

Shower baths are to be installed at once for the convicts at the Bellwood camps, and as soon as city water can be secured at the other convict camps of the county they will also be provided with showers.

This was the interesting announcement made yesterday by the county commissioners, following only one day after The Constitution's article of Sunday on conditions in the Fulton county convict camps, which called attention to the great need of better bathing facilities for the convicts.

"We will begin installing sixteen shower baths at Bellwood within a few days and they will be ready for the convicts probably within a week," said Shelby Smith yesterday. "It has always been our desire to throw every safeguard around the health of the men and we believe this will make conditions better.

"Bellwood is the only camp at present, however," continued Mr. Smith, "where the city has water pipes, for all the others are only temporary camps and are liable to be vacated at any time. But we are planning to lay pipes even to these temporary camps in the near future, and just as soon as this can be done we will have shower baths in each of the camps."

HEALTH BOARD ACTION REVERSED BY COUNCIL

Destructor Company Must Use Highly Polished Glass in New Crematory.

The generous spirit of the city health board was rudely rebuked by council yesterday afternoon when the city fathers turned down the board's recommendation to allow the Destructor company, of New York, to put in ribbed glass instead of highly polished glass in the new $260,000 crematory.

The change, according to Councilman Claude L. Ashley, of the sanitary committee, would cheapen the building by about $1,000.

Councilman Ashley, ex-officio member of the health board and the only opponent of the proposed change, led the fight in council when he called for adverse action on the board's recommendation.

"It would have been fatal for the city to sanction the change," Councilman Ashley said. "It would have afforded the company a technicality upon which to base an excuse in the event the plant is not completed within the stipulated time.

"I am going to stand guard over the crematory and am going to see that the city collects a penalty of $25 a day for every day overtime the plant is held from the city."

At the last meeting of the health board the company made the city a proposition to give it a lot of bricks, beams and other material, which, according to its own estimate was worth $823, in exchange for the privilege of changing the quality of the glass from a $1,500 kind to a $500 kind. The health board voted favorably.

TODD IS CONFIRMED TO ASSIST M'REYNOLDS

Washington, August 4.—The senate tonight confirmed the appointment of George Herald Todd, of New York, to be assistant to the attorney general of the United States. Another effort to bring about the confirmation of the appointment of James Coffey, of South Dakota, as internal revenue collector for the division of North and South Dakota resulted in a protracted filibuster, which ended without action having been taken on the appointment.

Senator Sterling, of South Dakota, was one of the leaders in the opposition to eliminate action on the Coffey nomination. It is understood that it was suggested in executive session that Mr. Coffey should resign the democratic state chairmanship of South Dakota.

SOLDIERS ARE CAMPED IN THE HOP FIELDS

Wheatland, Cal., August 4.—While six companies of militia camped in the school grounds and the hop pickers encampement on the Durst brothers' ranch reduced to a few hundred persons, there was little indication here tonight of the rioting which brought death last evening to four men, among them District Attorney B. T. Manwell.

Every train today carried out a full load of hop pickers from the force of over two thousand, which yesterday occupied the huddle of tents and brush leantes which formed the harvesters' camp. Every hour saw the number dwindle as the workers were paid off and departed by train, wagon, or a-foot. Only fifty pickers appeared for work this afternoon and the ranch owners and Adjutant General Forbes, personal representative of Governor Johnson on the scene, were not inclined to look for further trouble.

Rumors were rife today of various parties of Industrial Workers of the World, said to be marching to the scene. No foundation for these reports could be discovered and General Forbes said tonight the soldiers probably would be withdrawn tomorrow. The feature today was the entire lack of ill-feeling toward guardsmen on the part of the hop pickers.

The Oreville and Chico companies arrived soon after daylight today and marched at once to the center of the pickers' camp. Not a hoot greeted them and officers of the command said today no indication of ill-feeling was exhibited at any time. Soon afterward General Forbes and the four Sacramento companies rolled in on their special train and the militiamen were at once withdrawn to public ground to make camp.

CITY COUNCIL OPPOSES CHARTER AMENDMENTS

Passes Resolution Asking the General Assembly to Pass It Without Changes.

To quote from "Roughneck" O'Rourke, Georgia's general assembly "is in bad" with Atlanta's city council.

The vigilant city fathers are peeved because the legislature is treating the council charter shabbily, so to speak, and council wants the aforesaid legislature to know that it won't stand for any tinkering with the precious document.

In order that the legislature might know on which foot it stands, council Monday adopted Alderman James R. Nutting's resolution protesting against the slashing of the initiative, referendum and recall, and curtailment of the recorder's powers, by the house judiciary committee. The resolution will be sent to the legislature, if it escapes the eye of Mayor Woodward, and get executive approval. In the event it does—the chances are a thousand against one—City Clerk Walter Taylor will be assigned to carry a copy of the resolution to the legislature every morning so that the said legislature might know that council still desired the charter passed, and passed without any amendments.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER ARE CHOKED TO DEATH

Kirksville, Mo., August 4.—Mrs. Ivy Chevelier, 40 years old, and her daughter, Ella, 15 years old, were found murdered in their home here today. Apparently they had been dead for two hours. The two had been beaten over the heads and were lying on the floor in their night apparel. Mrs. Chevelier and her daughter conducted a laundry.

There was evidence that the mother and daughter had been choked and beaten to death after being attacked. Their bodies lay on a pallet on the floor. Extraordinary brutality was indicated.

A neighbor seeing no signs of activity about the place entered and discovered the bodies. Sheriff Willis and deputies immediately instituted search for the murderers. Blood hounds ordered from Springfield, Ill., are expected to arrive tonight. A former man friend of Miss Cheveller is said to have threatened her.

19 TOWN BLOCKS OBJEC TOF SUIT IN BANKRUPTCY CASE

Savannah, Ga., August 4.—(Special.) Suit for the recovery of a large part of an incorporated town in Emanuel county as a bankruptcy asset was filed in the United States court here today by R. A. Flanders, trustee in bankruptcy for Cook & Fountain.

The property which is the object of the suit, was transferred to Mrs. Hattie Fountain, wife of one of the parties, a short while before the bankruptcy petition was filed. The real estate involved is situated in Wesley, Emanuel county, a township located about half way between Swainsboro and Vidalia. There are 19 town blocks in the tract, much of which is improved. The town postoffice has been erected on one lot and there are a number of residences going up on other of the lots.

Fred T. Saussy, Esq., and Williams & Bradley are attorneys for the trustee. The suit was filed in the United States court in the morning and Deputy Marshal J. Ben Wilson took the first train for Wesley to serve the papers on Mrs. Fountain.

It is estimated that under fair market conditions the land sought to be recovered might bring $30,000, in which case all of the creditors would be paid in full. There is certain to be a lively fight or else a compromise.

Shot Fired at Chief.

Omaha, Neb., August 4.—An attempt to assassinate Chief of Detectives Stephen Maloney was made early today when some person fired two bullets at him as he sat in his office at the police station. Chief Maloney's office is about 100 feet from a switching track on which were standing several box cars. The two shots were fired from behind these cars.

Several officers ran from the station, but were unable to find the assailant

Knights of Columbus.

Boston, August 4.—An automobile trip to Beverly, the exemplification of the fourth degree on 500 candidates and a banquet were the features of the "pre-convention" day of the Knights of Columbus supreme convention. The convention officially opens tomorrow morning. Twenty thousand delegates and guests had arrived tonight.

It is one thing to make soda crackers that are occasionally good.

It is quite another thing to make them so that they are always better than all other soda crackers, always of unvarying goodness.

Harry Holland came through in the eighth inning with a single, with the bases full, that broke up a perfectly good ball game. Watch his smoke now.

Holland's Pinch Hit Beat Lookouts

WHIFFS

Came True.

WHIFFS made the statement yesterday morning that as soon as the Crackers got on the road Harry Holland would start hitting. "Maybe today will be the day," was the way we expressed it. Well he certainly came through with a couple of nice wallops yesterday, one with the bases drunk. He'll bear some watching after this.

Going Strong.

AL DEMAREE is certainly cutting a wide swath in that National league pennant race. Al won his tenth game in twelve starts when he let the Pittsburg Pirates down with three hits Monday. Keep your eye on Al. He's likely to prove another Babe Adams in the world's series.

As We Predicted.

WHIFFS predicted that President Kavanaugh, of the Southern league, would order the forfeited game in Nashville, claimed by both Atlanta and Nashville, played over. Local headquarters received a letter from the judge yesterday in which he advised them that the game would be played over on the coming trip of the Crackers to Sulphur Dell.

A Correction.

THE CONSTITUTION has corrected its standing to coincide with the ruling of the league head. One game won has been deducted from Atlanta and one game lost from Nashville. The standing as it appears this morning is official.

Much Interest.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT Sunday of the proposed one-mile automobile board track has already created a world of interest in automobile racing in Atlanta. Every automobile man knows that the new track is a big proposition, safe in every respect, with records sure to fall. From the spectacular standpoint, the one-mile board track has all the others backed off the boards. All the world's greatest drivers will race in Atlanta.

Going Fine.

BISLAND, the Crackers' speedy little shortstop, is playing the best ball at that position of any player in the league these days. In the last twenty-two games he has handled 107 chances, with only one bobble. He went fourteen games in a row without making a miscue. Some fielding that.

Mercer Wants Him.

CHARLIE WAHOO, the Indian football star, coach and referee, is being sought by Mercer to pilot her athletic teams during the coming season. Whether the school and Wahoo will come to terms or not is not known definitely, though both are considering the proposition carefully.

We Should Worry.

THE NEWS, of Birmingham, is trying to make it appear that the temperament that exists in the Atlanta camp is the cause of Bill Bailey's demise as a Cracker. All we ask them is that they ask Bill for his personal views on the subject. As to the possibility of some other Southern league club picking him up, Bill would promptly advise said club that he would be unable to stand the gaff. Bailey is going to be operated on for appendicitis. There's the real answer. The News just saw the usual chance to slip in a knock for Atlanta. But Atlanta worries none concerning Birmingham's knocks.

Extend Sympathy.

CHARLIE CARROLL, the peppery utility player of the Barons, has been called to his home in Durham, N. C. Mr. Carroll, Sr., died the other day. The sympathies of the press, players and fans of Atlanta are extended herewith to the bereaved ball player.

Such Is Luck.

"THEY sometimes fool you" would be a splendid phrase in referring to some pitchers. For instance, take the case of Boehling of the Senators and Russell of the White Sox. Southern league clubs could have had these players this spring for a song. Take a look at 'em now. No amount of money would buy them. Baseball is a funny game—sometimes—mostly all the time.

Would Help Him.

MIKE DONLIN would be a great help to the downtrodden Yanks is the opinion of Sam Crane, the veteran New York sporting writer. And we agree fully. Donlin just bubbles over with "pep." The Yanks need some of it. Donlin's presence in the game every day would certainly infuse quite a bit of this needed requisite into the Yanks.

"Going Up."

TWIRLERS will be the most sought for players via the sale, draft route and recall of options in the Southern league this season. Pug Cavet, of Mobile; Clinton Prough, of Birmingham; Harry Coveleskie, of Chattanooga; Joe Conzelman and Elliott Dent, of Atlanta, and possibly Gil Price, and Kid Williams, of Nashville, are a few of the Southern league twirlers who stand a good chance to "go up" at the end of the Southern league season, not to mention Elmer Brown and Manning, of Montgomery, and Buck Brenton, of New Orleans, already sold.

JOE RIVERS MATCHED WITH LEACH CROSS

Los Angeles, August 4.—Leach Cross and Joe Rivers were matched late today for a twenty-round bout on Labor Day at te Vermon arena. It is a part of the present plan to have the winner of the Cross-Rivers match meet Willie Ritchie on Thanksgiving Day provided the champion retains his title on Labor Day.

Wells a Winner.

London, August 4.—Bombardier Wells, the English heavyweight fighter, knocked out Pat O'Keefe, welter weight champion of Ireland, in the fifteenth round of a bout held in the Blackfriars district tonight.

Harry Holland's Pinch Swat Beat Lookouts in the Eighth; Dent Was in Excellent Form

By W. G. Foster.

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 4.—(Special.)—Holland's ripping single to left in the eighth with bases full drove over two runs today and practically won the battle for the Crackers.

When the drive came the score was two to one in favor of the Lookouts. A wild pitch and a terrific smack to center by Joe Dunn followed, and swelled the Atlanta total four for the inning and five for the game.

The clouting and the wild toss of Sommers were on the heels of two awful errors by Dee Walsh, which filled the bases.

The Crackers were more than ready to jump in the breach which appeared in the armor of the Lookouts.

Pitchers' Duel.

Sommers and Dent fought out a great pitching duel up to the eighth, with honors even and Sommers receiving the fastest support. Dent's drop had the best of the locals going and easy chances for the Cracker infield and outfield were the order of the day. On the other hand, the Crackers landed solidly on Sommers all the while, but unluckily.

The Crackers scored first in the third inning, the run being due to Dent's hurrying up in beating a bunt and Welchonce's corking double. Dunn opened the round with a safety to the left field fence. Johnson's fast play held it to a one-baser. Dent beat his bunt, but Dunn was out at third on Long's bunt, and Agler filed out. Welchonce's double then paved the run.

The Lookout tied it in the fifth, their run being the rankest sort of a donation. Graff pried with a two-sacker and Williams sacrificing. Bisland made a great throw to the plate on Street's tap, nailing Graff. To the surprise of everyone Street did a Ty Cobb stunt here. He stole second.

Two Costly Errors.

Dunn's throw was low and shot past Smith to center. Street kept right on to third. Welchonce's throw was a mile ahead of him, but when past Holland. Dent failed to back up and Street came on home.

The second local run came over in the seventh on King's scratch past short, Graff's sacrifice and Williams' hot baser to center.

Agler opened the eighth with a single. Welchonce popped out, but Walsh's errors on Smith and Bisland filled the bases. Holland shot one past third, scoring two. Chapman went in for Holtz, who was helpless before left-handed pitching.

Chap hit to third and Bisland was thrown out at the plate. Sommers uncorked a wild pitch, Holland scoring and Dunn's long one to center scored Chapman.

Dent was as steady as a Dutch clock in the final innings.

Vols 7, Barons 6.

Nashville, Tenn., August 4.—Nashville made it two straight from Birmingham by winning today's game, 7 to 6. Foxen had the better of Williams as far as pitching went, but two errors by McDonald and another by Marcan in the seventh inning gave the Volunteers three runs, enough to win the game. Birmingham rallied in the ninth and scored two runs. McDonald and Knisely got home runs.

Admission will be free.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Yanks 6, Tigers 4.

New York, August 4.—New York won from Detroit today, 6 to 4. Both teams hit hard but Fisher kept the visitors' hits scattered. New York threw away many chances to score by poor base running, but a muff by Cobb enabled them to win in the seventh when they scored five runs, four coming in after Cobb's muff. Had he caught the ball he would have retired the side. Bush was put out of the game in the seventh inning for protesting a decision.

White Sox 5, Senators 3.

Washington, August 4.—Chicago players lived up to their reputation as "hitless wonders" when they defeated Washington today 5 to 3. The visitors were outbatted more than two to one, but their hits, coupled with Washington's misplays and two bases on balls by Enbel, who started for Washington, gave them a lead which Washington could not overcome. Both Russell and Engel were forced to retire.

EVERS WILL BE KEPT BY CHICAGO CUBS

Chicago, August 4.—Rumors that John Evers wouldn't be retained at the end of the season as manager of the Chicago Nationals were denied this afternoon by President Murphy. Murphy declared Evers' work was entirely satisfactory, and that he wanted a manager of the "fighting spirit" shown by Evers.

SOUTH ATLANTIC

Peaches 2, Scouts 1.

Macon, Ga., August 4.—Gordon, the Suwanee college pitcher, was tight in the pinches in his first game today and defeated Jacksonville by 2 to 1. With the score tied and one down in the ninth inning, and Matthews on second base, which he had stolen after Bitting had thrown his sacrifice, hit wild to first, Nixon singled to center, Matthews making the winning run.

Score by innings:

Indians 3, Foxes 1.

Savannah, Ga., August 4.—In the fastest game played in the South Atlantic league this season Savannah today beat Columbus 3 to 1, in a pitchers' battle between Robertson and Baker, the latter throwing his own game away in the fifth after fielding an easy bunt. The game consumed but one hour and nine minutes. Robertson twirled magnificent ball throughout, the visitors' one run resulting from a triple by Jackson followed by a wild throw in the ninth.

Babies 5, Gulls 2.

Albany, Ga., August 4.—Albany won the opening game of the series from Charleston today by a score of 5 to 2. Morrow, though touched up for seven hits, was invincible with men on bases, except in the sixth inning, while Winchell was wild, walking eight and hitting one. This, coupled with timely hits, gave the locals five runs. The hitting of Welmer, Weir, Menefee and Hamilton and Wells, featured the game.

Score by innings:

RAGTIME AT WEDDING; ALSO FUNERAL MARCH

Chicago, August 4.—A funeral march and rag time were played at the secret wedding last week of Gene Green, a vaudeville performer. The ceremony, which was performed in the Presbyterian church at Rensclaor, Ind., did not become known until today.

The dirge was in memorium of Green's first wife, who died in February, and was substituted for the wedding march. The organist struck up a popular melody as the groom and his bride, who was Miss Harriet Kliessendorff, left the church.

HIS HIT DID IT

HARRY HOLLAND,

Former Tech star, whose single, with the bases full in the eighth inning, won a ball game for the Crackers Monday. He also got a double and fielded splendidly.

INJURIES ARE FATAL TO BANKER LAIMBEER

Hempstead, L. I., August 4.—William Laimbeer, banker and society leader, injured last night in the automobile accident in which S. Osgood Pell and his chauffeur were killed outright, succumbed to his injuries today.

Throughout the night he remained barely alive and hope for his recovery was practically abandoned early today. Mrs. Laimbeer, who was Miss Nathalie Schenck, a famous beauty of Newport and New York, was in a critical condition this forenoon, but it was believed she would recover.

Laimbeer's first wife was Clara Blodgood, the actress. She committ suicide in 1907. Mrs. Laimbeer was formerly the wife of Charles Glen Collins, a captain in the British army. She divorced him.

Aviation Pupil Killed.

Berlin, August 4.—An aviation pupil named Broke died here today from burns received last evening when the fuel tank of his aeroplane exploded, after an abrupt landing at the Johannisthal aerodrome.

Renal and Graves Expect To Break Some Records At Motordrome Tonight

The motorcycle races postponed from last Friday night will, weather permitting, be run off tonight at the local Motordrome on the Jackson street grounds, the first races commencing promptly at 8:30 sharp.

Tex Richard and Jock McNeil, the two speed merchants who have been winning most of the races held on the local saucer, are in danger of having their winning streaks broken tonight.

George Renal and Morty Graves have been working like Trojans on the new machines that they received a week ago and the way they have been tearing around the track in practice is a caution.

The special match race between Harry Glenn, the local boy, and Billy Shields, the twenty-four hour champion, should furnish a world of sport and excitement.

Harry has been cleaning up in his match races of late and has gotten so cocky that the other riders are planning to take him down a peg. Shields will endeavor to do it tonight, and he thinks it is pretty easy picking. Glenn laughs when he is told of Shields' boasts. "Wait and see" is all that he will say.

Three one-mile heats and a two-mile final in the Motordrome purse will start off the program for the evening.

The Atlanta sweepstakes promises to be a swell race. The riders' five in each heat, will go two miles to qualify. The two leaders in each heat and the three men in the fastest heat will compete in the finals, which will be over the ten-mile route, forty circuits of the track.

Here is the complete program:

First Event.

Motordrome Purse—Three one-mile qualifying heats, final two miles. First heat, Graves, Schwartz, Shields.

Second Event.

Second Heat Motordrome Purse—Lockner, Richards, Luther.

Third Event.

Third Heat Motordrome Purse—Renal, McNeil, Lewis, Glenn.

Fourth Event.

Special match race between Glenn and Shields. Distance, two miles. Best two heats in three.

Fifth Event.

Final of Motordrome Purse, Two Miles—First in each trial heat and second man in fastest trial heat.

Sixth Event.

Special Match Race—Second heat between Glenn and Shields.

Seventh Event.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Giants 2, Pirates 1.

Pittsburg, Pa., August 4.—Demaree's great pitching won for New York from Pittsburg this afternoon 2 to 1. In the seventh, when Murray and Snodgrass started the double-steal, Simon bluffed Murray ten feet off third, but threw wild to left field, giving the Giants the winning run. Chief Meyers had his right thumb split by a foul tip in the third and had to quit.

Score by innings:

| | R. | H. | E. |
|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 000 001 100—2 | 7 | 0 |
| Pittsburg | 000 000 010—1 | 3 | 1 |

Batteries—Demaree, Marquard and Meyers and Wilson; Camnitz, McQuillan and Simon and Gibson. Time, 1:47. Umpires, O'Day and Emslie.

Phillies 6, Cards 3.

St. Louis, August 4.—Beals Becker lived up to his reputation today, as able to hit right-handed pitchers. It was his home run in the seventh inning that started the locals to defeat, the final score being 3 to 6. He secured two singles in addition to the home run. Willie Doak pitched steady ball until the seventh inning. Harmon, in the final inning, allowed Becker a single. He scored with Cravath when the latter hit out the third circuit smash of the game. After the third inning but one local player reached second base.

GHEESLING FURNISHES HIS FORMULA TO JURY

Writes It So That There Will Be No Risk of Having Spectators Copy It.

W. H. Gheesling, the undertaker who embalmed the body of Mary Phagan, and who had previously testified, was again recalled to the stand, following Mel Stanford.

Mr. Dorsey then asked him about the curtains through which it is alleged Frank went suddenly at the undertaker's shop to escape a full view of Mary Phagan's body.

After that the solicitor asked Mr. Gheesling if there was any formaldehyde in the embalming fluid he had used on the girl and the ingredients of which he stated he did not want to make public.

"There is formaldehyde in it; I'll state that about 8 per cent of it is formaldehyde," he replied.

The fluid is Mr. Gheesling's own invention and he keeps it as one of the secrets of his trade.

Mr. Rosser then made the point that it was unfair for the solicitor to make public one ingredient which might aid the state, and yet allow the witness to keep the others a secret.

"I wanted to show that the fluid had formaldehyde in it," retorted Mr. Dorsey, rather hotly, "because I can show by physicians that the injection of formaldehyde removes the congestion of the lungs, and the defense has drawn from Dr. J. W. Hurt that the lungs were not congested when he examined the body.

"I don't want to make Mr. Gheesling give away his secret process of making embalming fluid," he added, "and if the defense wants to require that of him, let them do it."

After a conference it was decided that Gheesling should write out the ingredients of his fluid and let the lawyers, judge and jury and the testifying physician know it. This, it was decided, would prevent the risk of some spectator copying down the formula and selling it to another undertaker.

Gheesling was then furnished with pencil and paper and he wrote out the formula. He was excused at 10 o'clock.

M'DONALD WINS PAYNE TROPHY

Defeated K. R. Cobb in the Finals, 6 Up and 5 to Play. Dickey and Jones Also Winners.

J. K. McDonald won the J. Carroll Panye trophy over the East Lake course of the Atlanta Athletic club by defeating K. R. Cobb in the thirty-six holes' finals, 6 up and 5 to play.

J. L. Dickey defeated E. D. Duncan in the second flight, 1 up.

R. P. Jones, Jr., won the third flight by defeating D. R. Cowles 6 up and 5 to play.

CRACKERS AND ALIBIS MUST PLAY OVER GAME

Advices have been received from President Kavanaugh, of the Southern league, that the muchly protested game, which Nashville and Atlanta rowed over, must be player over when the Crackers visit Sulphur Dell this week.

This decision of the league head is the only one that he could make under the circumstances.

JOHN E. M'CLELLAND RESIGNS AS ALDERMAN

Meeting of Second and Third Ward Voters Will Be Called to Decide Successor.

Because of his removal from the city, John E. McClelland, alderman from the second ward, sent his resignation to the general council yesterday afternoon, and it was accepted.

Fletcher Quillian, chairman of the bond commission and for years an active figure in municipal affairs, was tendered the nomination by the second ward delegation, but he refused.

Councilman C. D. Knight, second ward member, made the announcement following the acceptance of the resignation of Alderman McClelland that there would be a meeting of the voters and taxpayers in the upper end of the second ward Thursday night, the object of which is to agree on a successor to Alderman McClelland. Voters in the lower end of the third ward will also attend the second ward meeting.

Mr. McClelland refuses to discuss his future political plans.

Alderman McClelland will continue the practice of law in Atlanta with his son, John Spence McClelland. He has a new home at Stone Mountain and will make his residence there.

Council elected Dr. R. N. Weaver, of the fifth ward, to the health board to succeed W. W. Hilderbrand, resigned. It also elected W. H. Terrell a member of the educational board to succeed R. O. Stamps, resigned.

CASTRO'S CARD WILL BE AT AUDITORIUM

Skating Rink Will Not Be Finished in Time to Be Used With Safety.

Count Louis Castro will not be able to hold his first boxing show at his new club in the Ponce de Leon skating rink Wednesday, August 3. The contractors, who are remodeling the building, state that they cannot get it ready by that time.

But like all new pieces of work, it requires a little settling before being used, and Mr. Castro, with the safety and comfort of his patrons first in his mind, did not want to take a chance on anything collapsing by using the hall the day it was completed.

But he is going to put on his show just the same. He has made arrangements with the Fifth regiment to pull the show off at the Auditorium-Armory, and the militia will get a percentage of the proceeds to defray the expenses for the night and give them a little for their treasuries.

A wire was received yesterday morning from Jimmy Perry, who is traveling with Frank Whitney, one managing the other's affairs when they are not fighting, saying that he and Whitney will get in here Wednesday at the latest.

A wire from Nate Lewis, manager of Charley White, does not state the exact date of their leaving, but acknowledges the receipt of their transportation and that they will leave shortly.

ESTATE OF BRADY VALUED AT $70,000,000

New York, August 4.—The will of Anthony N. Brady, traction magnate, as made public here this afternoon, leaves to his five children and a grandchild the bulk of his estate, estimated at $70,000,000. The widow receives $1,000,000 outright and an annuity of $60,000. One hundred thousand dollars goes to charity.

The five children are

Nicholas F. Brady and James C. Brady, of New York; Mrs. James G. Farrell, of Albany, and Mrs. Francis P. Garvin and Mrs. Carl Tucker, of New York. The grandchild is Marcia Ann Gavit, daughter of E. Palmer Gavit, of Albany, who married Mr. Brady's second daughter, now deceased.

Each receives a sixth part of the residue of the estate after the payment of the bequests to the widow, the charity gifts and three annuities of $1,000 each.

The charity bequest of $100,000 is divided among four Albany hospitals.

KID ELBERFELD WILL MANAGE CHATTANOOGA

Leader of the Lookouts Will Hold the Same Position Next Year.

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 4.—(Special.)—Kid Elberfied will be Chattanooga's manager for 1914. The manager was signed today for another season and the contract wants but the ratification of the board of directors which will be readily given at the meeting in September as Moguls Andrews and Patten own practically all the stock of the club. The kid probably will play the outfied next season as he thinks he can stay longer in active service in the gardens than in the strenous shortstop work. Catcher Mike Giddo, now with Troy, N. Y., will join the Lookouts in a few days.

Grand Circuit Races.

Kalamazoo, Mich, August 4.—Featureless racing marked the opening here today of the week's grand circuit program. The three events decided were won in straight heats without much of a contest at any stage.

The best time of the day was made in the second heat of the 2:08 pace, in which Cabel, without urging, stepped the mile in 2:05 1-4.

Cheeny, in the 2:07 trot and Strathators in the 2:15 pace had little opposition.

The 2:16 trot carded for today was postponed until later in the week.

AT THE THEATERS.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

When it came to amusing folks in front, it seemed to be very easy for Van Hoven, the dippy mad magician, at the Forsyth yesterday afternoon. Van Hoven is not much as magician, but with the aid of two carefully trained youngsters, he creates continued laughter by his quick fire commands to "do this" and before it could possibly be obeyed, "do something else." The two boys are kept on the jump, trying to accomplish the impossible—do two or more things at the same time—and all the time the audience is howling.

The Eight Berlin Madcaps, headliner of the bill this week, are generously applauded.

Robert Everest, with his monkey hippodrome, will keep the children interested all the week. As a usual thing the trainer is on the stage, or appears afterwards to bow to the applause of the audience, but in this case only monkeys are seen back of the footlights.

Harry Hayward and his company, said company consisting of two pretty girls, please. The act resembles somewhat that of Milton and the Long sisters.

Dunham and Freeman, two men in songs and patter, were one of the surprises of the bill. Both have good voices and their material was excellent. They received a number of well deserved encores.

Others on the bill were Annie Kent, "the little jester," and Pero and Wilson, in juggling, opened the bill.

SLATON AND WOODWARD GREET METAL WORKERS

400 Delegates Are Attending the Thirteenth Biennial Session in Atlanta.

Governor Slaton, representing the state of Georgia, and Mayor Woodward, speaking for Atlanta, yesterday morning extended a hearty welcome to nearly 400 delegates from every state in the union and from British Columbia, Manitoba, Canada and the Canal Zone to the thirteenth biennial convention of the Amalgimated Sheet Metal Workers' International Alliance in session in the Piedmont hotel assembly hall.

Following Governor Slaton and Mayor Woodward came S. B. Marks, president of the Georgia federation, who happily extended the glad hand to the visiting delegates.

M. O. Sullivan, of Pittsburg, president of the international organization, and J. E. Bray, of Kansas City, secretary treasurer, were present at the opening session, both having reached Atlanta Sunday afternoon, and from each came a response to the addresses by Georgia's governor and Atlanta's mayor.

While practically every session of th convention will be executive the entertainment committee has arranged for a number of pleasant events. After the credentials committee, which was in session the greater part of Monday afternoon, has made its report this morning, an adjournment will be followed by a barbecue this afternoon at White City.

C. Harrison Barnes, treasurer of local 85 and incidentally president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, and K. J. Little, delegate from the Atlanta railway shops, are working hard to make the session an interesting, as well as a pleasant one.

Maxwell Sales Manager Tells Of New Era for Pleasure Cars

In an address before several score of local and southern automobile dealers at Ansley hotel, Sales Manager C F. Redden, of the Maxwell Motor company of Detroit, yesterday announced the beginning of a new era in the manufacture and sale of pleasure cars.

At the same time the first of the little four cylinder Maxwell cars, concerning which the trade papers were manifesting so much interest, was placed on exhibition by the southern district manager, Mr. Booth, at the company's sales room, 280 Peachtree street.

C. F. REDDEN,
General Sales Manager of Maxwell Motor Company.

Address by Mr. Redden follows luncheon.

The dealers who were present by invitation gave most profound attention to Mr. Redden's address and it was evident that their interest in the new Maxwell line and in the broad gauge policy, which has been adopted by President W. E. Flanders, was intense.

Salesmanager Redden, who has made an enviable record for himself assuming one of the three biggest jobs in the industry, was introduced by Southern District Manager Chas. H. Booth.

In commenting on the bright outlook for Maxwell dealers, Mr. Redden said:

"The manufacturing facilities of the Maxwell Motor company, comprising as they do all the plants of the late United States motors and Flanders Motors companies, are now greater than any other individual concern in the business. This enables us to manufacture in enormous quantities and thereby successfully meet any competition. The well known financial backing this company enjoys enables us to inaugurate and successfully carry out an extensive and aggressive manufacturing and sales campaign.

Offer Three Models.

"Our 1914 line, comprising as it does three good selling models, each listing at from 15 to 25 per cent below competing cars of similar style and power, insures a big demand for our product. Our policy of standing squarely back of our cars and extending our owners a more liberal treatment and protection than they have generally received from automobile manufacturers in the past, and our liberal policy towards dealers and the friendly co-operation we will extend them, constitutes, in our judgment, a policy

Such a policy insures a success as certain as the law or gravity.

"Fortunately, the unique manufac- which affords a safe foundation to build on and justifies our optimism.

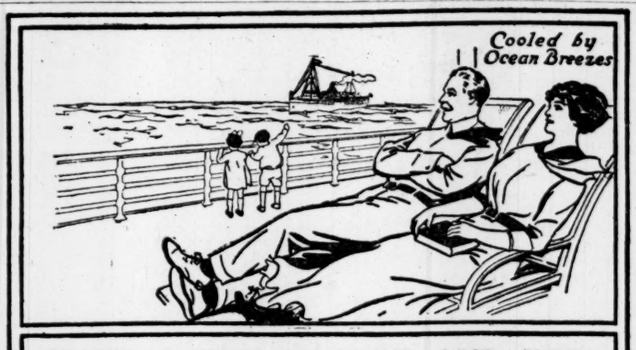

"In other words, we are simply applying the laws of good merchandizing to the automobile business, manufacturing cars the people want to buy, producing them in such quantities that we can undersell our competitors; back them up with a guarantee as good as a government bond, and protect our dealers with a policy that enables them to protect their customers. turing facilities we enjoy afford us advantages over almost any other manufacturer, and with such a well known captain of the industry as Mr. Flanders to lead us, with the organization of experts he has placed in the various manufacturing divisions, insures our agents that they will now get cars and get them in quantities, and instead of being confronted with the expensive and irritating delays generally caused by developing and testing out new models, we are now practically ready to make deliveries, and offer our dealers an opportunity to get more than their share of the early fall business."

Ethel, aged 4, and Jack, aged 5, are in conversation over their play.

WOMEN FIRST IN GEORGIA

If money must be saved by sacrifice,
Let the blow fall upon our cows and hogs,
Or even upon our men and boys---
But not upon our girls.

Georgia has a reformatory for boys at Milledgeville.

Its Superintendent says:

"We are frequently embarrassed by requests to have girls received here—

"The experiment was tried more than once, with only one girl at a time; and she proved a veritable firebrand—and of course had little chance for self-improvement."

THIS DISGRACE—

The unspeakable disgrace of confining girls in a reformatory with boys will not be repeated in Georgia. Superintendent Lovvorn says truly:

"This is simply unthinkable."

But what will you do? A local paper says:

"It is estimated that each year from ten to twelve girls in each county in Georgia are lost through the lack of such an institution."

Seventy-five girls are in charge of one court. The officials are helpless; they have no place to put these children.

Georgia will not wait begging, with hat in hand, until some charitably disposed persons drop in a fund sufficient to take care of her daughters.

If you must economize, you will sacrifice hogs, cattle and chemicals rather than girls.

The Medical School—

The University of Georgia—

The School of Technology—

These are for men and boys; they should get far more than they are today receiving from our state.

And yet even these might wait for funds; men and boys can make shift without money or a great deal of book learning.

But a girl upon the brink—

A girl sinking beneath the whirling scum of the underworld cannot wait. The frightful quagmire sucks her down. For her the gift of charity or of the state, a year or more from now, will be wholly wasted.

Today they are being lost.

Tomorrow will be too late.

Now is their need desperate.

Men will not shoulder them aside for the sake of hogs and cattle or even for the schooling of men and boys. They will provide.

If any must be sacrificed, it will not again be girls, in Georgia.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

In the Paris fire men trampled upon women in their mad desire to save their own most worthless lives—

And when the Elba and the Bourgoyne went down, men crushed the fingers of women who tried to cling to the gunwales of the boats in which men were rowing away.

Thank God it was not so when the Titanic sank—

Men of our race gladly embraced death that women might live.

Today, when there is no storm or fire or sinking ship, will you save hogs and cows and leave girls to die a thousand deaths?

Long ago came the Word of God—

"Behold the cry of the daughter of my people—

"The harvest is past and the summer is ended, and we are not saved.

"For the hurt of the daughter of my people am I hurt—

"Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician there?

"Why, then is not the healing of the daughter of my people perfected?"

Not man, but God, asks:

"WHY?"

Recall those who begged Jesus to leave the land because of the loss of a herd of hogs.

And you will never reply:

"Lord, we have cows and hogs—

"And these must be saved,

"Even though a few score girls are lost."

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE MEN AND RELIGION FORWARD MOVEMENT

Two Scholarships to Be Given By Daughters of Confederacy

Mrs. T. T. Stevens, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Atlanta chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy, announces two scholarships to be given through the chapter this year—one in the collegiate department of Miss Woodberry's school, the other, in either the primary or collegiate department of Miss Hanna's school. Applicants must be descendants of confederate soldiers, and applications must be sent at once to Mrs. T. T. Stevens, 450 Luckie street, telephone Ivy 324, the decisions to be made as to the winners of scholarships next week.

Each year the Atlanta chapter offers scholarships in educational institutions, this principle being one of their order to help the children of the confederate heroes, as well as perpetuating the history and brave deeds of the latter. Miss Woodberry and Miss Hanna have given scholarships for several years, and it is probable that similar offers will be made by other Atlanta schools.

Credentials are required of applicants.

Hunt-Sewell.

A beautiful event of last Wednesday evening was the marriage of Miss Bessie Hunt and Mr. Roy Sewell, which took place at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Martha Hunt. The house was artistically decorated with quantities of handsome ferns, palms and smilax. The ceremony was performed in the drawing room before an altar of palms, ferns and American Beauty roses. Mr. Paul Donehoo played the wedding march, Dr. W. R. Owens officiating.

The bride was pretty in a dark blue charmeuse serge coat suit with hat of blue straw, trimmed in peacock tips shading from blue to rose. She wore a corsage bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley tied with white silk cord.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Jack Vaughan, Mrs. Clarence Langford, Mrs. George Taylor, Misses May Christian and Purdie Bankston. Misses Annie Ruth Sewell and Ethel Foster presided at the punch bowl, while Misses Irene Sewell, Sarah Bankston, Helen McCown and Nell Cox served refreshments. The color scheme was green and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell left during the evening for the mountains and on their return will be at home to their friends at the home of the groom's mother, 83 Highland View.

McLaughlin-Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Arthur, of Americus, announce the engagement of their sister, Miss Linda McLaughlin, to Mr. N. H. Anderson, of Albany, Ga., the marriage to take place at their residence in Americus early in October.

Matinee Party.

Miss Lucile Daley entertained at a matinee party yesterday afternoon in compliment to her guests, Misses Louise and Julia Warren, of Louisville, Ga., and Miss Madeline Arline, of Savannah. Miss Lillian Daley and Miss Louise Alexander, of Augusta, completed the party.

Vandiford-Vance.

The marriage of Miss Della Vandiford and Mr. J. E. Vance is announced, the wedding having taken place Saturday night at 124 Mangum street, Rev. A. C. Ward officiating.

Miss Patterson to Entertain.

Miss Ann Patterson will entertain a number of the younger set this evening at her home on West Peachtree street in compliment to Miss Anna Lowry, of Lenoir, Tenn., who is the guest of Miss Emma Lowry Freeman, to Miss Blanche Devine, who is visiting Miss Carrie Blount, and Miss Dorothy Brown, of New York, Miss Dorothy Dillons' guest.

Miss Stewart's Dance.

Miss Helen Stewart was hostess at a delightful dance last evening at her home on Piedmont avenue in honor of Miss Marie Dinkins' guest, Miss Dora Candler, of Dallas, Texas.

Miss Stewart, who was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Stewart, and Mrs. L. C. Dinkins, wore a pretty gown of pink mull and lace. Miss Candler wore white lace over pink charmeuse, and Miss Dinkins' gown was blue chiffon, with pearl trimmings.

About two hundred members of the college set were entertained.

House Party.

Mrs. W. A. Parker and Miss Louise Parker are entertaining a house party at their delightful summer home, "Ashantee," near Clayton.

The guests who went to Clayton yesterday were Miss Margaret Murphy, of Newnan; Miss Florine Hardwick, of Cedartown; Miss Edith McKenzie, of Montezuma; Misses Jessie Thompson, Myra Scott, Mary Murphy, of Atlanta; Mr. Robert Tate Stevens and Mr. June Bunn, of Cedartown, and Charles Thompson, James F. Roane, Robert Baugh and Robert Redding, of Atlanta.

The party will remain throughout the week, returning to Atlanta on Saturday.

CITY COUNCIL MAY SELL EDGEWOOD PLANT

The sale of the gas power plant which the city acquired when Edgewood was annexed to the city is considered as a possibility in the near future.

Charles W. Smith, chairman of the tax committee of council, took the matter of the sale of the plant up with Chairman W. G. Humphrey, of the finance committee, Monday afternoon, and both are agreed that the city should sell the property. Chairman Smith believes that between $4,500 and $5,000 can be realized. In fact a party has approached Chairman Smith with a proposal to buy the site for $4,000.

It is ideally located for a manufacturing plant, having a frontage of fifty feet near the Georgia railroad. Chairmen Smith and Humphrey will have another conference regarding the sale in the near future.

CONTRACTS ARE MADE FOR PAVING STREETS

Council acted favorably on the following contracts for street paving at its meeting yesterday afternoon:

R. M. Hudson, bituminous macadam on Woodson from Little to Love, $1.15 yard.

Nichols Constructing company, bituminous macadam on Beckwith street, at $1.15; rubble gutters, 60 cents; rock and chert, $1.05, and rubble gutters 60 cents.

Cement Stone and Tile company, Lakewood, from Ponce de Leon to St. Charles, rock and chert at 98 cents; rubble gutters at 65 cents. Linwood, from Ponce de Leon to North avenue, macadam, $1.13; rubble gutters, 65 cents; South Prado to Piedmont, macadam, $1.13; gutters, 65 cents.

MOTHERS' RIGHTS BILL FAVORABLY REPORTED

The mothers' rights bill, of which Representative John Y. Smith, of Fulton, and Sam L. Olive, of Richmond, are joint authors, was recommended to pass by substitute by the general judiciary committee of the house No. 1 yesterday afternoon.

The measure gives to mothers the prima facie right to the custody of their children under 12 years of age. The law now vests the father with the sole control of all minor children unless he is determined by the court to be a person unfit, when the custody may be awarded to the mother.

Another bill passed upon favorably by the committee was the tax discoverer bill of Representative McMichael, of Marion.

A., B. & A. TO BE SOLD BY ORDER OF COURT

The Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad was declared formally foreclosed yesterday after having been given a month in which to settle all outstanding obligations.

The property will now be advertised once a week for six consecutive weeks in the Atlanta, Birmingham and Boston papers. The date of actual sale will be set by Victor L. Smith, special court commissioner.

The outstanding obligations of the road amount to about $14,000,000 in bonds and about $5,000,000 in receivers' certificates. The actual obligations per mile are $90,987.

EAT MEAT SPARINGLY DURING SUMMER

Meat heats the blood—eat very little of it during hot weather. That doesn't mean that you have to sacrifice nourishing food because it is heating.

You will find Faust Spaghetti more nourishing than meat, and it is also a light, cooling food. By analysis you will find that a 10c package of Faust Spaghetti contains as much nutrition as 4 lbs. of beef. It is a rich, glutinous food made from Durum Wheat, the cereal extremely high in protein.

Faust Spaghetti can be served in many different ways—write for free recipe book. Sold in 5c and 10c packages.

To improve your hair, try this treatment

If there is any condition of your hair you want to improve, you must first improve the health of your scalp.

To keep the scalp healthy and active, shampoo regularly in the following way: Rub your scalp fully five minutes with the tips of your fingers to loosen the dandruff and dead skin. Then apply a hot lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap and rub it in, rub it in, rub it in. Rinse thoroughly in gradually cooler water, having the final water really cold. Dry perfectly then brush gently for some time.

This treatment with Woodbury's if continued regularly, will make your hair soft and fluffy, and give it the gloss and glint so much admired. Try it tonight—see what a delightful feeling it gives your scalp.

SAYS ENNIS DID NOT RESCUE WEBB BILL

Evans Claims Would Have Been Chance of Action by Unfavorable Report.

Representative J. H. Evans, of Screven, has addressed a letter to The Constitution telling why he thinks the bill to enforce the Webb law, which passed the senate, will not come up in the house this year.

He says that if the temperance committee had made an unfavorable report he would have got the matter before the house with a minority report which several of the committee would have signed. That would have given the measure a chance this year.

The effect of Mr. Ennis' substitute was to postpone consideration of the bill until next year and ended the measure so far as the current session was concerned.

Editor Constitution: I must confess that I was surprised at an article in your issue of July 31, headed, "Ennis Rescues House Liquor Measure." The facts are: When the committee met, the question was taken up as to the advisability of concurring in the measure as passed by the senate. Mr. Fulbright, of Burke, who is not a member of the committee, led the discussion in favor of recommending the bill favorably to the house, followed by myself.

Mr. Ennis and others of the committee opposed its being recommended for passage at this session of the house. I then moved that we recommend that the bill do pass. At once Mr. Ennis moved as substitute that the bill be submitted to a committee of three to be reported back to the house at its regular session in 1914. On the question being called, all except two members who were present at the meeting supported the Ennis substitute. Those two were Dr. Dean and myself.

I will state in justice to several members who were not present had they been on hand we would have given a larger dissenting vote to the Ennis substitute.

Now, had Mr. Ennis' substitute not been introduced and sustained by the committee, we could have at least brought a minority report favorable to the passage of the bill, which would have brought it before the house for consideration and given it at least a living chance.

J. H. EVANS.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE GIVES TURNER AN AUTO

That little game of see-saw between Atlanta's council and the aldermanic board over certain items which various committees want put in the finance sheet, goes on as merrily as ever.

Council passed favorably on each item, but the aldermanic board turned each one down. Alderman Maddox Monday called for a conference committee to take up the rejected items, with the result that $750, instead of $850, has been recommended for an auto for the city electrician; $200 has been recommended to pay the expenses of delegates to the League of American Municipalities convention, and $400 agreed on for a shed over the night soil tank near the crematory.

The committee sustained the aldermanic board in its refusal to concur in council's action to refund $100 to Assistant Manager Rupp.

Council adopted the report, and the matter now stands to be approved by Mayor Woodward.

WILL NOT CONSOLIDATE METHODIST COLLEGES

Macon, Ga., August 4.—(Special.)—The plan for the consolidation of Wesleyan, LaGrange and Andrew Female colleges will not be carried out this fall as originally planned. Last spring the presidents and executive boards of the three institutions conducted negotiations looking to a consolidation, believing that it would be to the best interests of all concerned.

The proposition was heartily indorsed by the representatives of all of the institutions, but it was discovered, when detailed plans of finance and administration were considered, that the interests of each were so complex and varied as to make it practically impossible to work out a satisfactory arrangement. No consolidation, therefore, will be presented to the conferences this fall.

FIRST MEETING IS CALLED TODAY

Convention Is Called to Order at 10 A. M.—Addresses of Welcome by Gov. Slaton and Mayor Woodward.

Convention is called to order at 10 a. m. Address of welcome by Governor Slaton and Mayor Woodward.

Today is the first big day of the convention. Numbers of merchants arrived in the city yesterday, but the big crowd will come in this morning. Everything is in readiness for the big doings and there will be a constant stream of merchants registering at the Auditorium from 7 a m until night

William L. Percy, the genial secretary of the Dobbs & Wey company, will be on hand as the official welcomer and those who remember his genial smiles from previous conventions will be delighted to see him again.

The first meeting of the convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock this morning. There will be addresses of welcome from Governor Slaton and Mayor Woodward. At 10:55 o'clock the speeches and discussion on the leading topic will commence. The subject is "How Can Merchants, Landlords and Bankers Best Direct Their Influence Towards Securing Greater Diversity of Crops?"

This evening at 8 o'clock the merchants will be entertained at the Forsyth theater. The entire theater has been engaged and it is sure to prove a splendid send-off for the big times scheduled.

The following is the complete program for the morning session:

Tuesday's Program.

10:00 O'Clock—Convention called to order.
10:05 O'Clock—Invocation.
10:15 O'Clock—Address of welcome—Governor Slaton
10:30 O'Clock—Address of welcome—Mayor Woodward.
10:45 O'Clock—Response to address of welcome.
10:55 O'Clock—LEADING TOPIC. How can merchants, landlords and bankers best direct their influence towards securing a greater diversity of crops.
11:15 O'Clock—RELATED SUBJECTS. The marketing of over-plus of grain.
11:25 O'Clock—Cattle and hogs as a by-product.
11:35 O'Clock—"The Greater Stability of Credit Resulting."
11:45 O'Clock—Open parliament on leading topic. (Limit 5 minutes to each speaker.)
12:30 O'Clock—Adjourn.

Si Hawkins Is in City; Is Ready for Big Time

New Member of Firing Line Staff Arrives and Immediately Takes Up His Duties—Much Impressed With Atlanta's Hospitality.

Dear Folks:

Well, I got here. I started from home Sunday. (I don't aim to tell yew what time I started, 'cause yew might get ter figgerin' 'bout how far I come, an' I don't 'tend to tell youall whar my homeplace is).

When I hit Atlanty I shore did feel mighty queer fer quite a while. Y'see bein' as how I ain't bin nowhars to speak of, I was some rattled, what with all the hubbub and rattletybang of the big city. When I got out of that gosh-almighty big depot I wuz standin' 'round lookin' a mite lost, I reckon, when a mighty nice appearin' young feller comes up and and ses:

"Be you a visitin' merchant?"

First go off I reckoned he must be one of these yere "skin" fellers yew read 'bout, but I seen that some other men wuz goin' with him as didn't know him, so recokened it mus' be alright. I got in his autymobeel and he ses:

"All right, Jim," and right away we started. It wuz the first time as how I'd ever bin in an autymobeel, but I'll be durned ef I was goin' to let on to him an' his friends that I wuz as green as I looked, so I jes' dug in my finger nails and hung on. By and by we comes to a big buildin' all fixed up with flags and suchlike, and we stops and goes inside. The name of the place wuz Silvey & Co., and they ran a kind of a dry goods store, but it is so durn big I reckon a man couldn't buy a piece of print stuff for a dress for his wife. They all ses they wuz might glad to see me, an' one feller ses:

"I'll bet this is Si Hawkins?"

I reckon he knew me from the picter I had in the paper Sunday. He ses his name wuz Rambo, and he tells one of the other fellers to tak me round to a good hotel, and so we gets in the autymobeel agin and goes up the street apiece til we comes to a fine lookin' buildin' called the Hotel Ansley. It wuz shore some fine lookin' place inside, and they fixed me up with a room that wuz jes as pretty a place as yew coul dthink of. I slep thar lasnight, and, believe me, it felt so good I jes stayed awake all night enjyin' it.

Well, after I'd got my room all fixed I thought as how I'd take a walk round and see the sites. I got on a street called Peachtree, but I couldn't find no peachtrees anywheres as I could see. I never want to see another circus as long as I live. That thar street is better than any circus

ANOTHER GATHERING HERE IN NOVEMBER

Southern Textile Association Chooses Atlanta for the Meeting Place in November.

As a special meeting of the executive committee of the Southern Textile association, held yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Ansley, it was decided, for various reasons, to hold the next convention of the association in Atlanta. The dates chosen were November 21-22, 1913, and the headquarters will be established in the Ansley.

Alonzo Iler, of Greenville, S. C., who is president of the association, pointed out that Atlanta was undoubtedly the place to hold the convention, as it was the geographical center of the cotton mill territory. He said that when the association met in Charleston there were over 300 members present, and that he had no doubt, that, with its more central location, Atlanta would attract around 500. As most of these gentlemen will bring their wives with them, it means quite a large crowd coming to the city at that time.

Mr. Drake, a local member of the association, was made chairman of a special committee to make all arrangements for the convention in November.

In the Manager's Office

"And After the Last Letter Was Signed They Talked Together of Many Things."

The Oldest Salesman was sitting in the office yesterday with a broad grin on his face. It was a regulation "joy look" and the Young Traveler was moved to remark upon it.

"Somebody must have left you a million dollars," was his comment.

"If they did, I haven't heard of it yet," replied the O. S. "But I simply can't help grinning when I think of the big time I'm going to have this week, and, as I can't help thinking of it all the time, I have to wear this pleased look around with me every minute."

"Well, I'm anticipating a good time myself," said the Y. T., "but I have looked forward with more pleasant anticipations to certain events than I do to this merchants' convention we're going to stay in for. To my mind, it seem that we will simply have to work in the house extra hard meeting customers and selling goods, and then, maybe, have to go out with a bunch of them to places we are not particularly anxious to see. It always seems to me that when you feel that you have to go to a show or a barbecue or something or other that you don't enjoy it as much as when you just take the notion and pick up and go. I must admit that if I was going to have a week's vacation instead, or was going on a trip to Europe, or to see a world's series played, I would be more eager than I am right now."

"Son, you're young," said the Oldest Salesman, with a reminiscent look on his face. "When I was your age I remember a baseball team we fellows got together—say, that sure was some team. Why I remember one time when we played Decatur—"

"Cut it, cut it." It was the Manager speaking. "When you get on your old town lot baseball you are a worse fan than anyone in the city. Stick to your subject and go on with the story."

"All right. As I was saying, the Young Traveler over there is quite young. He doesn't realize yet all the good times to be had at a convention like this, because he hasn't experienced so many of them as we older fellows have. You see, the good times he has experienced so far have consisted of small stuff—the kind of thing that school boys and college sports go in for. He hasn't had a chance to know what a real man's good time consists of, and when he does get that chance—just watch him eat it up.

"I expect to see him much more anxious for the next convention to come around in February than he was for this one, and each one will make him a little more appreciative of the next. Now, I'll bet there is one thing he hasn't even thought of. And that is that playing host to a bunch of merchants is one of the most liberal educations a salesman can have. It gives him a chance to understand his trade better, to know human nature in its best form, and to learn how to treat a man so that he will be anxious to see him when he comes around next time. Then all selling is pretty much the same in its basic principle, and while the talks at the convention are particularly directed to merchants, I anticipate learning a good deal myself. I know I always have learned a lot at these conventions. Then again, it is a splendid chance to meet all my old friends amongst my fellow craftmen of the road. They will all be in, you know, and we'll find time for a little 'lie swapping,' at any rate.

"Then our friend also scorns 'arranged' theater parties and barbecues, etc. Shucks. He'll have a better time than he ever had before at a show or 'cue, either. Why, he'll see Tom Jones, of Griffin, there, and Bill Smith, from Florala, and Sam Brown, from Walhalla, and he'll feel that he is part of the Atlanta Spirit that is playing host to these men, and he'll feel proud of himself for helping to give them such a mighty good time.

"Good time! Of course, he'll have a good time. He just can't help having a good time. He'll be learning something every minute and if that doesn't insure the best of all possible times. I don't know what does."

The Young Traveler rose and stretched himself. Then he said:

"I believe you. I didn't quite look at it in that light before, but I'm glad you've pointed out the possibilities of enjoyment and I'm going out after them, every one."

WARD-TRUITT CO. ARE SELLING OUT

Well-Known Wholesale Dry Goods House Announces Closing Out Sale—Passing of Old Firm.

It came as a distinct surprise when the announcement was made that the dry goods house of Ward-Truitt company was closing out their business. This is one of the best known of the Atlanta houses in this line, and they have long been prominent in the wholesale world of the south.

They have announced a big closing out sale starting this week, and the president of the company, W. A. Ward, stated yesterday afternoon that they had already sold several nice bills and that he was very well pleased with the first day of the sale.

They have called in all their salesmen to wait on the visiting merchants during the convention, and amongst these are:

D. P. McDaniel, Louis Parker, Luther Parker, C. V. Nally, D. G. Garrard, L. G. Woodall, E. K. Culpepper and Paul Cooper. They will all be glad to meet their merchant friends in the house.

IN FOR CONVENTION.

Brown, Perryman & Greene Co.'s Salesmen Are Enthusiastic.

Brown, Perryman & Greene company, the big wholesale house, are always one of the popular places of call with the visiting merchants. They are prepared to entertain their friends with every facility the city offers and have called the following salesmen in off the road to help entertain:

Al. N. Greene, H. M. Walker, from South Carolina; L. S. Peterson, from sonthwest Georgia; C. R. Hubbard, southeast Alabama; J. F. Jenkins, Florida; J. O. Chambers, C. D. Dickinson, J. H. Martin, southwest Alabama; W. A. Haley.

James A. Bates, who is now house salesman with the company, is especially anxious to meet his many friends who he remembers so kindly from his days on the road. Mr. Bates only left the road for the house salesmanship a few months ago.

G. Lipes, house salesman, will also be in all week, meeting the visitors.

BACK-PEDALLING.

About twenty-five years ago, when bicycles were much in vogue, I was the fortunate possessor of two good wheels, one of which was a "tandem"—built for two persons to ride; and many times have I enjoyed an outing with a fair one as a partner, on some long country ride.

In those days no "good roads" commission had been busy, and the average country road was rough and either muddy or dusty—most of the time buried in 6 inches of dust, often obscuring a rock or other obstruction which would occasionally throw us off the wheel to be literally immersed in pulverized macadam or ordinary clay dust.

As I look back now, it seems to me the hills were longer and steeper than they are today, and certainly they were long enough and steep enough to test our strength and endurance.

I recall very distinctly one glorious Saturday afternoon—that is, glorious overhead, but quite warm, and the road a little heavy from a recent shower. For a partner on that trip I had a beautiful companion, and withal, a delightful girl for such an occasion. We wheeled through Forest Park quite gayly, and then out on the Clayton road, and I recall so well that as we approached a long, steep hill, I gathered myself together for a long pull, of course expecting the young lady to pedal hard enough to offset her own weight or a part of it at least.

Well, I thought I would never get to the top of that hill. I strained every muscle to the limit; I leaned 'way forward, pushing, pulling, puffing, blowing and sweating (I was going to say perspiring, but the word won't fit the occasion); finally I reached the top of the hill, and, exhausted, I stopped, and as I got off I turned to help the young lady off, with the little strength I had left. She looked at me, her lovely face wreathed in smiles—and looking as fresh as a daisy, she said (oh, so sweetly), "I was back-pedalling all the way up—you must be awful strong!"

According to the best rules for writing stories, here's where we should stop, so you will never know what happened after that never-to-be-forgotten moment in my young life.

Now the moral from this story of the long ago is quite plain and easy to understand. It is this: We should work together; co-operate; not "lie back" and let the other fellow do all the work, and especially we should assist him and not retard his efforts!

Since the date of that wonderful ride on the tandem bicycle, I have had a quarter of a century's business experience, and it is a fact, much to be regretted, that many of your associates and co-laborers are constantly "back-pedalling" on you, and not always with a smile on their faces, either.

Co-operaton, team work, a "pull all together" is so very essential in order to show high efficiency, and this little story is told to point this moral.—W. Daviess Pittman, in The Business Philosopher.

He Gives Away Cigars

E. F. Malone is the man who proffers one of those genuine "glad-to-see-you" handclasps when a visitor walks into the Capital City Tobacco Co.'s offices on Marietta street. And it is a fact that he really is glad to see any visiting merchants, whether they sell cigars or not. He says that, anyway, there are more people who smoke cigars than sell them and so he is placing a table full of their best brands right by the door where everyone can help themselves as soon as they get inside.

SI HAWKINS IS HERE READY FOR BIG TIME

that ever come our way, and I reckon it mus' be the busiest place in the world. Several fellers seemed to no me from my picter, 'cause they ses, "Howdy, Uncle Si!" real perlite.

Finally one feller interduced himself as named Addy. He tuk me down to his place and it turned out to be called the M. C. Kiser company. Seems they sell shoes, but I reckon they must sell mor'n a dozen pair a day, 'cause they use another of these here big buildins, and had a mighty busy lookin' lot of fellers around.

Along about this time I wuz beginnin' to feel kinder vacant in th' place whar my corn bread goes, so a Mister Sullivan, who seemed like a mighty smart feller, ses to Addy to take me to an eatin' place. He shore give me a grand feed, and I reckon I'm lookin' some fatter sence.

In the evening I just loafed around the city, and saw some sites along Peachtree and Whitehall streets that I never counted on seein' when I come to town.

First thing today I'm going to register my name, and then I kinder feel like I'll hear some speakin' at the Audytorium. Every feller I talked with on the cars seemed to be agoin' to hear it, so I reckon I might jes' as well go 'round, and mebby I'll learn some 'bout store keepin' I don't no. Anyhows, I'll let youall no what I do tomorrow morning, and til then. Affeshunately yours,

SI HAWKINS.

He's Busy Today

R. K. Rambo is one of the many well-known Atlantans who feels that this is about the pleasantest week he will spend this year. Sales manager for John Silvey & Co., the big wholesale dry goods and notions firm, he is wearing an ever-broadening smile as he shakes hands with merchant after merchant who he remembers as an old and good friend of the days when he used to pack his samples and hit the steel tracks for orders.

The company has three automobiles which they use to meet all incoming trains and these cars are at the service of the merchants who arrive. Every time a train comes into the city there are a bunch of merchants who go straight to John Silvey & Co. and Mr. Rambo and the salesmen who are in the house are kept busy seeing that these guests see all they want to, get all they want, and are assured of being well taken care of during their stay in the city.

Mr. Rambo is a busy man, but he enjoys it.

PROVERBS OF MONEY MAKING

Success measured by the accumulation of wealth is a very dazzling thing; and men are naturally more or less the admirers of worldly success. And with such valuable sources of necessary information within our reach, it would seem nearly impossible for the diligent worker to fail. Of course one who recognizes no higher logic than that of the dollar, may become a very rich man and yet remain an exceedingly poor creature.

A great number of books have been written for the purpose of communicating to the public the grand secret of making money. But there is no secret about it.

"Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves."

"Diligence is the mother of good-luck."

"No pains no gains."

"No sweat no sweet."

"He who will not work neither shall he eat."

"Better go to bed supperless than rise in debt."

And the best of all is: "The world is his who has patience and industry."

Such are specimens of proverbial philosophy embodying the hoarded experience of many generations. They were current in people's mouths long before books were printed. Solomon poured out wisdom when he said:

"Go to the ant thou sluggard; consider her ways and be wise."

"The hand of the diligent maketh rich."

"Seest thou a man diligent in business? he shall stand before kings."

No man is proud of his ignorance or idleness; but every man glories in the patient industry by which he won his laurels.

The road is rough, but in work alone man finds contentment.

Though the world scoff at small beginnings, yet by such, history tells the story of greatness.

Of course Jay Gould began by selling rat-traps.

J. C. Hoagland began on a little side street, worked nights manufacturing baking powder, and today the word "Royal" is worth a million dollars a letter.

Disraeli prohesied in the house of Commons when they laughed at his oratory; "I will sit down now" he said, "but the time will come when you will hear me."

The time did come and he earned his position by dint of patient industry.

With one idea ahead, and patient concentration and work behind, all difficulties will fade into successes.—Carlysle Holcomb, in the Business Philosopher.

ADVERTISING COSTS.

A gentleman asked the writer the other day if he could outline an advertising campaign for him for a new article he was going to put out shortly. The first question asked was, "What territory do you want to cover?" The reply came, "From Canada to Mexico and from the Atlantic to the Pacific." Question No. 2 was "How much money are you prepared to spend?" and the answer was, "Well, how much will it cost?" So that ended the conversation then and there.

It is absolutely impossible to say how much an advertising campaign for a given article is going to cost. That is the wrong way to approach the question. The way to go at it is to figure out what percentage of the capital to be invested is to be put into advertising for the first year and then what percentage of the income is to be used for advertising for the future years. Then see that the best possible results are obtained for the money expended. A good advertising manager can always get results for money spent on publicity. The difference between a good advertising man and a better one is in the percentage of results.

When you start to figure on an advertising campaign of any scope at all don't ask, "How much will it cost?" but "How much can I spend?" The results will be better in the long run.

WHICH IS THE CORRECT VIEW?

A young salesman recently came in after his first trip on the road. He is a nice young fellow, with a smart, clean appearance, looks neat and talks neat, and as a result he had had good business. He was feeling encouraged about his work and talked optimistically about everything. But he was asked one question and when he answered it, although he was still optimistic, it could be seen that he was thinking carefully and gave his reply just exactly as he felt in the matter.

The question was this:

"Do you think that all these kicks that you hear some travelers making about the condition of hotels and travel are thoroughly justified?"

In his reply he gave what, to the unprejudiced observer, must appeal as the only correct and sane answer. He said that he had found that the railroad men and the hotel men in the territory he had covered were just human. That they all had their faults and their good points just the same as other people and that on the whole he had been well treated. He said that he was perfectly satisfied with hotel fare, because the great majority of the hotel keepers were men who were trying to act unto others as they would have them act towards them. The hotel business in Georgia is well conducted with the exception of a few isolated cases, and these are so few and far between that, while it would be advisable to pass a stringent hotel inspector bill in order to look after theb, still to the man who thinks of the good as well as of the bad there are mighty few poor places to stop at compared with the good ones.

Now let us take the opposite view of this matter. An older salesman who has covered territory in many different states sent in a letter to these columns the other day which declared that the hotel accommodations throughout the country are mighty poor. He declared that if a hotel inspector was appointed that he would find a lot of work to do in practically every hotel he could find and that a man who lived on the road got the worst treatment of any man.

Let us compare these two viewpoints. In the first place it must be remembered that the biggest influence there is for good in this world is the home life that we live. The man who is deprived of any part of that home life suffers in his character and personality accordingly. Now, the man who has spent eight months out of every year on the road for the past twenty years cannot help but have suffered in certain aspects of his character as a result of this. Of course he has improved in certain other aspects, which possibly make up for the lack, but the point now is that the things which he lacks are the very things which he needs to make him see the good in his daily hotel life. The hotels are to him his home, and when he has missed a real home for the greater part of many years he is not in condition to appreciate what accommodations he is getting. To a certain extent he is probably soured on his surroundings and as a consequence he cannot see good in anything connected with those surroundings. It is probable that of the two views expressed above, that of the younger man is the more correct, because he is fresher from the good influences of a home and so is in a saner condition to estimate the things that he is getting.

The big wonder of the traveling men's fraternity is that as a set they stay so genial, broad-minded and kind to their fellow humans. It is excusable in people who hardly ever see their home if they develop into perpetual grouches. All honor to the men of the road in that they always remain the best class of men to meet that there is anywhere.

Well-Known Shoe Man

C. J. Sullivan is secretary of the M. C. Kiser Co., the firm whose shoes are known all over the country as the "Shield Brand."

Mr. Sullivan always wears a smile which does a man good to see, but this week he is even happier looking than usual. He is kept busy helping the salesmen of the company entertain their guests, the merchants, and he states that he is having the time of his life.

"Some people," says Mr. Sullivan, "seem to think that a host's job is not the pleasantest in the world, but my idea is that it all depends on the people you are entertaining. Personally, I am enjoying myself this week first-class and it does me good to see that all these good fellows of merchants are put in the way of getting everything in the amusement line that we can provide for them. Incidentally, we are selling some mighty nice bills of shoes and that also helps to make a man feel good."

CHRISTMAS SAMPLE ROOM

Tower Manufacturing and Novelty Co. Shows New Goods.

William G. Lewis, who represents the Tower Manufacturing company in the south, announces his new and complete line of Christmas, holiday and novelty goods in his sample rooms at 8 Peachtree street. Mr. Lewis is a well known novelty goods man in this territory and is sure of a warm welcome from his many southern customers when he meets them with the new line of samples.

Mr. Lewis is anticipating a big trade from his territory this year, and states that he feels this way because of the fact that people have been buying very lightly for the past year, and that crops are coming along so splendidly this season that there is bound to be a relaxation in the money situation this fall.

Eastern Hostesses.

One of the most unique households in the diplomatic circle is that of the Turkish ambassador, Zia Youssouf Pasha. The ambassador is a widower, but has had with him during a great part of his service in Washington his son and daughter-in-law, Mme. Zia, a charming American, and his daughter, Mills. Zia, who, unlike the majority of her countrywomen, dresses in American fashion. The family of the ambassador represents the new and progressive party in Turkey, and the women of their household are quite as up-to-date as those of many of the countries of Europe.—Isabel Joyce in July National Monthly.

A College Park Mercantile Firm

BASKIN & NICHOLS, GENERAL MERCHANTS, COLLEGE PARK, GA.

The above gentlemen are the two members of the firm of Baskin & Nichols, of College Park. They run a general merchandise store and are rapidly forging to the front as progressive retailers. They buy practically all their goods through the Atlanta market and have recently purchased a splendid bill of goods from the wholesale dry goods and notions house of the Ridley-Williason-Wyatt Co.

Both members of the firm will be in Atlanta for the greater part of the convention.

He Made Ten Cents Famous

C. W. McClure is president of the McClure Ten-Cent Co. He is one of the pioneers of the idea of five, ten and twenty-five-cent retail stores. McClure stores are to be seen all over the country and wherever they are found it is certain that the buyers in that place are getting full value for their money. But this company has done more than establish these stores themselves. They have made it possible for the retailers throughout the country to handle this kind of business and many big department stores are now carrying lines of low-priced goods which are purchased from the McClure wholesale department.

Mr. McClure has taken a big interest in the arrangements for the Southern Merchants' convention, and visitors will remember their wholesale house on South Broad street as one of the most prettily decorated places in the city on this occasion.

SALESMANSHIP

A college president once said that a gentleman never dresses to attract attention. This is probably one of the best definitions ever given by the difference in appearance between the true gentlemen and the one who is merely trying to ape the manners of those whom he recognizes to be better than he himself.

One of the secrets of successful salesmanship lies in the appearance of the salesman. Every man who has ever tried to secure a position has, consciously or unconsciously, admitted the truth of this fact. No man ever tried to secure a position for himself unless he was looking at his best. And when he is trying for a position he is merely selling his own services and the problem before him is simply one of salesmanship. Of course, it is about as important a problem as can confront him, as an individual, and this very fact emphasizes the importance he attaches to his personal appearance.

The wise employer, in engaging a salesman, will look for one who dresses neatly, attractively, but whose clothes do not divert attention from the man himself. For it is the man who is to sell the goods, and he must not hide his personality under a striking method of adornment which will cause comment and special remark.

Understood the Oath.

In the early days of Arizona, an elderly and pompous chief justice was presiding at the trial of a celebrated murder case. An aged negro had been ruthlessly killed, and the only eye-witness to the murder was a very small negro boy. When he was called to give his testimony, the lawyer for the defense objected on the ground that he was too young to know the nature of an oath, and in examining him asked:

"What would happen to you, if you told a lie?"

"De debbil 'ud git me!" the boy replied.

"Yes, and I'd get you," sternly said the chief justice.

"Dat's jus' what I said!" answered the boy—August National Monthly.

WHAT I WOULD DO—

If I Were a Furniture Man—During my August sale, I would place on every article in my window the actual amount saved in bills and coins, and then advertise in the papers and cars as follows:

"On a hot day this month, it's refreshing to know that there's $500 in cold cash saved for you right in our windows."

If I Were Sending Out Samples—Instead of simply inclosing the sample with the literature, I would paste the envelope or box on the last page of a booklet. Then cuttng the pages of the booklet, the sample would show through on each page of reading Where the product is mentioned, arrows would point to the sample. This will keep the selling talk and the article itself in closer contact.

If I Were a Store Manager—I would classify the various bargains on my dodger or newspaper advertisements under headings that represent the various human desires:

"Appetite Department—A hearty appetite free with every purchase.

"Good Looks Department—A compliment guaranteed with every purchase.

"Comfort Department—Underwear that feels cozy. Hose without seams to fuss you.

"Satisfaction for Sale—In our household utensil list.

"Health Department—Our drugs, etc. Toilet articles that include beauty free.

"Sporting goods that make you take the outdoor exercise you need."

If I Were a Paint Dealer—I would take photographs of the houses in town that needed painting. Then I would have these photos tinted in attractive color combinations showing the trimmings, body, base, and so on, in harmonious effects. The owners of the houses would be interested to say the least, in seeing their homes in more attractive guise. If I felt that I could not stand all the expense of this work, I believe I could get the manufacturer from whom I buy paints to do the tinting for me.

If I Were a Grocer—Or any other merchant, I would capitalize the influence of the store next door. If a grocer with a milliner's shop adjacent, I would trim a great straw hat with the fruit or vegetables in season and label it "Latest styles in greens."

If a shoe dealer beside a hardware store, I would put up a sign, "Latest thing in hard wear." If a restaurant next to a drug store, "We prescribe one of our big juicy dinners—if you don't find your appetite, it's time to see the druggist."

If I Were a Printer—I would get out what might be called an Idea Card or Problem Solver. The card might be very simple. The essential thing is that it display a circle with no type inside.

Below the circle could be this explanation:

"To get an idea, to solve a knotty problem or to get your temper smoothed out, fix your eyes on the space within the circle and think hard. But if you want an idea of what good printing is, fix your eyes on our telephone number and call it."—System.

ABOUT TURNING OLD ACCOUNTS INTO CASH

When a great proportion of retail business is done upon a credit basis the success of the average retail merchant depends in no small degree upon his ability to handle accounts. He must know every available method for collection from the delinquent .

Experienced merchants agree that a system of limits is necessary for the successful operation of a credit business; first, a limit on the total amount of outstanding accounts—governed by the available working capital; and, secondly, a limit on the amount and terms of payment for individual accounts—governed by the financial condition of each customer.

Indeed, a system of limits properly applied to credit business can cut risks to the minimum; but it cannot bring in the old unpaid accounts left over from pervious years. Many of these are fast outlawing, and it is a big problem to turn them into cash.

In many cases, the solution can be found through applying the experience of retailers who have been successful in handling this class of collections. Here and there one has discovered a new way to get money from seemingly worthless accounts. Equipped with a knowledge of the successful methods of others, the average retailer should be able to collect a portion of his "uncollectable" accounts.

An Ohio merchants, who did a $35,000 business last year, three-quarters of it on a credit basis, and lost but $150 in bad accounts, believes that an ounce of prevention is worth pounds of cure. He works accordingly:

"I find," he says, "that the best time to talk to a customer is when an account is first opened. Granting credit seems like a favor then. I make it plain that the terms will be rigidly enforced, and it is seldom that an applicant will not agree. Of course, it is necessary to use some discrimnation in fixing the limit, but by learning a man's salary and the time of his pay day, I don't have much difficulty."

"That sounds very well," I answered, "but how are your clerks to know whether or not a customer is in good standing?"

"I arrange that, too," he replied. "I use a filing cabinet for the original sales slips as an account register. The total is carried forward each time a new slip is made out, so the last slip always gives the total amount due. I attach a red cardboard showing the time and amount limits to the clasps that hold the sales slips in place. If the amount of the purchase added to that already owed exceeds the limit shown on the red card the clerk notifies the customer.

"No, my present credit system doesn't bother me, but I would like to collect some of the bad bills that accumulated before I started placing limits on accounts."

"My banker helped me to discover the best way to collect slow accounts that I ever heard of," said an Iowa hardware dealer.

"I carried a large amount for a contractor who was very slow pay, until finally I could not get even a small payment on account, I was obliged to cut off his credit. This man wanted to pay all right ; but he was a poor manager, and could not get the money together. I finally put it up to him. 'Why,' I said, 'you ought to pay me this money even if you go to the bank and borrow.' 'I'd gladly do that,' he replied, 'but my credit at the bank is used up. If they would take a chattel mortgage I could raise the money for you, but they are not taking chattel just now.'

"I chanced to mention the matter to my banker. He said: 'Send Jackson to the bank and tell him that you have a lot of influence with me, and that you think I might take a chattel mortgage if you are to get the money. Then I will require you to indorse the note—but he need not know that. He'll think he has settled with you, and I'll collect where you could not. The queer thing about a lot of men is that they stand in awe of the very name of bank.'

"I acted on the suggestion and 'backed' the note. The carpenter thought he was liable to the bank, met the interest punctually, and took up the note on maturity.

"Now, when I get notes from a man instead of holding them myself, I discount them and let the debtor think I have sold them outright. In nearly every case the bank has been able to collect. But I am sure that I would not have got a cent on some of these accounts, if I had carried them myself or if the debtors realized that my indorsement rendered me liable if they failed to pay."—Frank Cook, in System.

HOLIDAY DISPLAY.

New York House Opens Atlanta Display Rooms.

The new firm of the Fielding-Behrend tStationery company, incorporated, of 524-528 Broadway, New York, have recently opened a display room in the city. It is located at 8 Peachtree, on the third floor.

Their line consists of holiday goods, both foreign and domestic, of every variety, cards, toys, leather goods, etc. They are also sole representatives for the Baker & Taylor company, of New York, with their full line of holiday books, latest fiction, gift books and others.

Harry J. Sternberg and George S. Anderson, who cover the southern territory for the firm, are in charge of the display and will meet their many southern customers here.

Quieting the Mob.

On one of his vacations in the country a circus ticket-seller took with him his pet parrot. During the season the bird was kept in a cage near the wicket. She had seen many a big crowd clamoring for tickets, and heard her master quietly talking to the throng as he made change with lightning rapidity.

But on the second day in the country the parrot strayed away. Going into the orchard in search for her, the showman was attracted to a tree where a huge flock of crows was making a great commotion. Polly was the cause of the excitement. Surrounded and pecked at from every side, scarcely a feather was left on her body. But above the raucus caws of the crows he could hear his pet solemnly admonishing: "Don't crowd! Don't push! Plenty of timee! Plenty of time! The performance hasn't begun yet! Don't crowd! Don't push!"—July National Monthly.

L. B. ROBINSON.

L. B. Robinson, who is in charge of the dry goods department of the A. M. Robinson company, has spent the last ten days on a business trip through south Georgia for his firm. He will, however, be on hand to welcome the incoming delegates to the Southern Merchants' convention, and will see that everyone has a good time as far as lies within his power.

Mr. Robinson is one of the pleasanest men to meet in the ranks of the wholesale business houses of Atlanta, and he will be kept busy shaking the hands of his many friends who will be here for the convention.

Father's Mistake.

Johnny came home from school looking very downcast.

"Well, how did you get on at school today?" asked his father.

Johnny replied that he had been whipped and kept in.

"It was because you told me the wrong answer," he announced sadly. "Last night I asked you how much was a million dollars and you said it was a 'hell of a lot.' That isn't the right answer."—July National Monthly.

He Ran the Lawn Mower.

John, four years old, was trying to run the lawn mower, which he had been forbidden to touch.

His mother came to the door and told him to stop it, but John ran the mower down the strip of lawn and back again before he stopped.

"You will have to come into the house and stay for an hour," said his mother.

"Why did you run that mower after I told you to stop?" she asked.

"Well, mamma," said John, "I'd rather have run it twice and have to stay in the house for an hour, than not run it at all."—August National Monthly.

Not His Treat.

A drunken man by the name of Riley boarded a trolley car, and after paying his fare made himself comfortable. The conductor, after calling off the streets, was nearing a street which corresponded with the drunken man's name.

"Riley street next," yelled the conductor.

The drunker man, who was half asleep, understood him as, "Riley's treat next," yelled out:

"You're a liar, I treated last."—August National Monthly.

THE BETHEL WASHER

FOR

HOME & HOTELS

Of which the annexed cut is an illustration of the same.

With this machine washing can be done without rubbing, beating, or standing around a fire punching, as in the old way, that is always more wear and tear to the garment than the natural wearing.

Fig. 1 in cut shows a compresser which forces air and water through the clothes, and the force is made very powerful by Fig. 6, which is an air pump with much power, which is operated by 11, as shown in cut. Fig. 2 and 16 holds the clothes, slowly passing them under 1, which makes a stroke of 8 inches up and down. Fig. 17 is a tank that holds the water, which is 2 feet in diameter and 15 in. deep. Fig. 20 is the fire box, which is 16 by 30 inches and 8 in. deep; sheet iron double and lined with asbestos will not burn out. If any part of this machine break or wear out in two years I will make it good free of charge. One glance at this machine in operation will convince any one of its merit. When you get your clothes in, it will wash, boil and rinse; you only make the fire, it does the balance. You can see it demonstrated any time at the Bethel Faith Mission, Atlanta, Ga., except Saturday and Sunday.

If you are 50 miles away from the city send the price of the machine, $50, and it will be shipped to you, and you can try it 3 days, if it is not all we claim for it you can return at our expense and your money will be returned. If desired we can furnish a 1½-horse power engine also with it for $30. All complete, F. O. B. for $90, or set down and put to running anywhere in the city limits at same price.

209½ Marietta St., Atlanta, Ga. Pat. applied for. JOHN ELENBURG.

This machine will run by any kind of power.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

This is legal sales day. Promptly at 10 o'clock this morning before the courthouse door a number of parcels will be put on the block. No large sales have been advertised, but there will be quite a volume of small parcels which are expected to change hands. Among the more important will be No. 111 Whitehall Terrace, which orrest & George Adair will offer, and a lot of the Gussi estate on Fraser street which the Greene Realty company will offer.

Ponce de Leon Agents.

The B. M. Grant company has been awarded the agency for the Ponce de Leon apartments, which will open soon. This is considered the prize plum of them all, and in selecting the B. M. Grant company the owners will feel satisfied that they have one of Atlanta's most prominent firms representing them.

Floral Company Moves Soon.

Rapid strides are being made in the remodeling of the Alfriend building, 97 Peachtree, for the Atlanta Floral company, which will move in about September 1. At present the floral company is located at 41 Peachtree, on the east side of the street.

Big Acreage Tract Deed.

A bond for title has been recorded transferring to Mrs. Kate Green Hess from Duncan McDougall, 105.31 acres in land lot 178 for approximately $20,000.

Atlanta Delegates Returning.

The Atlanta delegates who recently attended the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, at Winnipeg, Can., are expected to return within the next few days. It is expected that they will have some interesting observations to make, and will no doubt tell of many new pointers which they gathered at the convention.

Subdivisions Being Improved.

Improvements in a number of subdivisions recently opened are progressing rapidly. Almost every day there are a number of permits granted for houses, and if the present rate of building continue, within a few years Alanta will have gained her coveted 500,000 population.

The Limit of Your Dollar

One hundred cents make one dollar.

Yet when you spend your dollar how efficient is it? Do you get 60c, 80c or 100c worth?

The answer is squarely up to you. It depends upon your method of spending.

If you go through life paying no heed to what you buy or where you buy it, the chances are that your dollar is worth 60c—or less. If you now and then run into the right article half by chance and half by intent, the value of your dollar increases perhaps to 80c.

If, however, you are alive and interested in finding out for yourself the "what, when and where" of money spending, every purchase, every investment you make brings you the fullest possible return for your dollar.

VOTERS GLAD FITE'S BILL WAS TURNED DOWN

Testimonial From Cartersville Praises Representatives and Senator for Stand Taken.

Cartersville, Ga., August 4.—(Special.)—As a consequence of the assertions made by Judge Augustus W. Fite, of Cartersville, in his card, which appeared in the issue of The Constitution of July 29, to the effect that his proposed bill to amend the charter of the city of Cartersville relating to schools, would, if submitted to the voters, "be ratified by an overwhelming majority of the people," a testimonial signed by 232 citizens of the town has been presented to the senator from the district and the representatives from Bartow, the caption of which is as follows: "We, the undersigned citizens of Cartersville, hereby express our approval of the declaration of Senator J. W. L. Brown and Representatives W. A. Dodd and E. D. Cole 'that they will refuse to introduce or support any bill to amend the charter of the city of Cartersville relating to schools and the management thereof.'"

It is said that the intention of those who caused this testimonial to be circulated among the adult white male citizens of the town was to ascertain the desires of the people as a whole and get it in written form, in order that the "will of the people" might not be violated by those men whom they had chosen to conduct the affairs of the town.

Majority of Registered Voters.

The letter to Senator Brown and Representatives Dodd and Cole which accompanied this testimonial reads in part:

"The 232 names which are affixed to this testimonial of the people's approval of your action in the premises indicate their confidence in the ability and integrity of our board of commissioners and board of education, comprise a majority of the qualified voters of our city, though a thorough canvass has not been made, and to this body of men who declare their approval of what has been done could be added the names of a great many of our citizens who expressed themselves as being in sympathy with your attitude with regard to the proposed change, but who preferred to remain in the background until it was necessary for them to voice their disapproval at the polls of any change of the charter relating to schools."

The statistics, as above quoted, do not bear out Judge Fite's contention that "the speaking was largely attended—the courthouse being crowded, and two-thirds or more of the audience were from the city, and were with me almost to a man. The little fellows who had succeeded in breaking up the mass meeting were completely routed, and the following resolutions were unanimously adopted, etc." among which resolutions (there being three in number) was "That we favor the passage of a bill to increase the members of the school board from three to five members, and to elect them by the people."

Committee Turns Bill Down.

Judge Fite, for reasons best known to him, desired to abolish the present school board and make certain other changes in the city charter. He requested Representative Dodd, from Bartow, to introduce his "school board act," and it is claimed that he had mutual friends to approach Representative Cole and Senator Brown with a similar request, all of which requests were refused from the fact that the people of the town seemed perfectly satisfied with the present order of things. After it was seen that these gentlemen would not introduce such a bill the judge then prevailed upon representatives from other counties in his judicial circuit to introduce the bill. By a unanimous vote and without even asking to hear from the Bartow representatives and senator, who were ready to oppose it, the house committee on municipal affairs reported the bill adversely.

SELLING COTTON ON RAIN REPORTS

New Low Records for Movement Recorded — January Sold Under 11 Cents—Spot Cotton Quiet.

New York, August 4.—Interest in the cotton market today again centered largely around the weather situation in Texas. Early private reports of further rains started a selling movement at the opening, which forced prices off partially six points under Saturday's close. Although several spot houses were heavy buyers on the decline, the offerings, which included a renewal of hedge selling from the eastern belt, where crop prospects are said to be magnificent, bore the market off to new low records for the present downward movement, January selling under 11 cents.

The entire list of new crop positions at one time sold ten to twelve points under Saturday. Upon the arrival of the Texas weather details at noon, however, those operating for higher prices contended that the rainfall had been neither heavy nor general enough to afford the relief desired, and on good buying led by this interest, together with renewed support from spot people and a fair trade demand which was attacted by the approach to the 11 cent level, the market gradually regained all its previous loss, and at one time in the last hour stood even with the previous close on new crops, while August, which was influenced by Liverpool buying and rumors that freight room had been engaged for August shipment from the New York dock, sold up 16 points above Saturday's close. August setback occurred in the last few minutes, on reports of rain at San Antonio, and final prices were 8 points net higher on August and 4 to 11 lower on new crops.

The official forecast was for fair weather in all parts of the belt. While unfavorable for Texas and Oklahoma, this was regarded as satisfactory for eastern states, which have had almost too much rain of late.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, August 4.—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 4 to 9 points in an accumulation over Sunday of selling orders which was met by only a small demand, although the weather map indicated that dry weather still prevailed in those sections of the western belt that need rain badly and the forecast promised fair weather for practicaly the entire western belt. After the call the market stood at a loss of 9 points on all the trading months. Sports commenced to take profits and the market gained a little strength. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were 4 to 6 points under Saturday's close.

Around the middle of the morning selling increased somewhat, and the market stood at a net loss of 9 to 10 cents, which was the low level up to the noon hour. The long distance forecast of continued dry and hot weather in the cotton belt for this week caused some uneasiness among bears. Private reports of rains in Texas were circulated, but they apparently had none too good a foundation, and late in the morning had little influence. The market gradually recovered until at noon the new crops were only 3 points under Saturday's last quotations.

The market closed quiet.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, August 4.—Liverpool will open tomorrow and, pending the uncertainty of its prices in view of the sensitive crop conditions in the far southwest, our market was very steady and absorbed the large Wall street offerings easily. There is no feature beyond the dependence of prices upon the Texas situation. The rains of Saturday were followed by dry weather and were not considered adequate. Speculation is dormant and the trade, while bearish, is unwilling to act upon its convictions. Some crop advices are glowing, especially from the middle and eastern sections. Private advices from abroad fear the consequence of the eastern wars upon trade, but business here seems fair with some slackening at Fall River. Buring at about 11 cents was believed to be for spinners' account and caused some demand from the short interest created in the recent showers.

Comparative Port Receipts.

Following were net receipts at the ports on Monday, August 4, compared with those on the corresponding day last year:

| | 1913. | 1912. | | 1913. | 1912. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Galveston | 2,337 | 478 | Wilmington | ..... | 45 |
| New Orleans | 108 | 122 | Norfolk | 702 | 233 |
| Mobile | 509 | 21 | New York | ..... | 130 |
| Savannah | 427 | 346 | Pensacola | ..... | 135 |

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, August 4.—Cotton seed oil was steady for August and November on demand from refiners, while the balance of the list eased off under scattered liquidation in October and in sympathy with the big break in hog products. Closing prices were unchanged to 7 points net lower. Sales 9,000 barrels.

Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow 9.35@9.65; prime winter yellow and summer white 9.40 bid. Futures ranged as follows:

| | Opening. | Closing. |
|---|---|---|
| August | 9.32@9.50 | 9.38@9.43 |
| September | 9.35@9.48 | 9.35@9.37 |

Memphis, Tenn., August 4.—Cotton seed products, prime basis: Oil 8; meal $31.50@32; linters 2½@3½.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, August 4.—There is no doubt but that, as conditions are today, the prospect is for a large cotton crop. A great portion of Texas has had rain and the belt, as a whole, is in fine shape. With this condition and the buying public frightened out of the market by the wild legislation pending in Washington to make cotton the subject of a most dubious experiment, the outlook is not good. New crop months declined from 4 to 11 points today, and when Liverpool opens again tomorrow it will be due down 10 to 12 points on new crop positions.

CORN TAKES JUMP, THEN COMES DOWN

After Advancing Rapidly in Morning Report of Showers in Iowa Caused Heavy Selling and Prices Declined.

Chicago, August 4.—Corn buying took such gigantic proportions today that the market became dangerous for holders. Merely the mention of a sprinkle of rain in Iowa brought a selling stampede that rattled down prices two cents a bushel, more than wiping out all the gain previously made during the day. The close was nervous at the same as Saturday night to 1-4 cent up. Latest trading left wheat at a net decline of 3-8 to 1-2 @5-8; oats off 1-4@3-8 to 1-2, and provisions showing a break of 7 1-2 to 52 1-2.

Accompanied by the most exciting transactions of the year, corn climbed early as high as 71 1-2, although last week 70 was regarded by many as a nearly impossible goal. The government forecast of at least seven days more of dry weather was largely responsible for the continued advance this morning. Topmost figures reached today were 10 cents a bushel above where the market stood ten days ago before alarm as to crop damage from drought had begun to be acute. Leaders who have watched pit operations declared tonight that a number of the largest holders had sold out on today's bulge. The fact that no hot wave was in sight led some of the more conservative owners to believe that the buying and advance had been too feverish and heavy profit taking was under way when news of the Iowa showers turned a decline into a smash. Only the knowledge that to-thirds of the corn fields of the United States were reported as showing irreparable damage or as being over the danger line, saved the market from a net loss for the day.

In wheat, as in corn, there was a collapse of prices after midday. The break in corn had much to do with causing general selling of wheat on the reaction, but depression also came from a huge increase in the visible supply total, 4,596,000 bushels being added as against 787,000 bushels added a year ago. Primary receipts were 2,716,000 bushels, compared with 2,609,000 bushels last year. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equalled 1,202,000 bushels.

Oats swayed with other grain. The lower finish was attributed in part to the fact that eastern buyers of cash oats appeared to have withdrawn from the market.

Unexpectedly heavy receipts of hogs here and elsewhere knocked the bottom out of the provision trade. Stop loss orders were executed in plenty.

Corn Jumps at Kansas City.

Kansas City, August 4.—The drouth controlled the market here today. Wheat and corn jumped from 2 to 4 cents a bushel. The Missouri crop report published Saturday said over three-fourths of the state is in need of rain, with corn prospects but 70 per cent. The live stock markets alone were disorganized by the heat and lack of rain. Stockers and feeders sold 35 to 75 cents under last week's prices. All grades of cattle were lower.

MOONSHINE DISTILLERY CAPTURED BY A GIRL

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 4.—A special from Scottsboro, Ala., says Miss Annie Higgins, daughter of a prominent farmer of Jackson county, near Larkinsville, single handed, captured and destroyed a large wild cat distillery and a lot of liquor found in a wooded swamp near her father's farm. The young lady had noticed that the farm hands came in from work in an intoxicated condition and so she set to work to find the source of their liquor supply. She secretly followed one of the workmen and found the still in full operation. When the operators saw her approaching on horseback they fled. The girl at once destroyed the still and poured out the liquor on hand and then notified the revenue officers who went to the place and confirmed her statement that she made good work in the still's destruction.

Deaths of Lifetime Chums Come Within Few Hours of Each Other

G. E. WALLACE and J. A. TUGGLE.

A romance of everyday life was brought to light when John A. Tuggle, of 193 West Fourteenth street, and G. E. Wallace, of 707 Ponce de Leon, died within a few hours of one another. The former died Monday morning at 5 o'clock, and the latter Saturday night at 10 o'clock.

The two were the same age, 33 years, and were reared together. In early youth they went to school together, played ball together, and studied together. A little later, when they reached manhood, there was a double marriage.

For years they were associated together in the contracting business.

Mr. Tuggle is survived by his wife, one child, three brothers and four sisters. A wife, one child, two brothers and five sisters survive Mr. Wallace.

As a fitting climax to their life-long friendship, their funeral will be held together from the Peachtree Baptist church this afternoon at 4 o'clock. They will be interred side by side in the old churchyard.

16 PER CENT CUT IN EXPRESS RATES

Washington, August 4.—Reductions in express rates which will cost the companies $26,000,000 a year—approximately 16 per cent of their gross revenue—were ordered by the interstae commerce commission today to become effective on or before October 15, 1913. Notable reforms in practices also were ordered.

The most important change prescribed by the order is by way of modification of the present graduated scale of parcel rates. One hundred pound rates for short distances either have been left unchanged or slightly reduced; for longer distances they have been lowerd; for 50 pounds or less all rates have been practically reduced. For packages of more than 4 pounds going more than 200 miles and less than 2,000, the new express rates are generally lower than the parcel post rates; for more than 3,000 miles the rates are practically the same.

The report and order of the commission prepared by Commissioner John H. Marble are a virtual affirmation of the findings of former Commissioner Franklin K. Lane, now secretary of the interior.

Block System Provided.

By prescribing a so-called block system, dividing the United States into 950 blocks, averaging 2,500 square miles as originally proposed by Mr. Lane, 900,000,000 different rates now published by the express companies will be reduced to less than 650,000, and the interstate commerce commission believes that the system points the way to a solution of the existing maze of freight rates.

The general impression in official quarters is that the express companies will attempt to test by legal means the constitutionality of the commission's order.

The express companies had filed satements indicating that the losses of revenue under the proposed rates would be intolerable, and argued strenuously that the establishment of the parcel post had deprived them of quite 20 per cent of the revenue they formally received from parcels of 11 pounds are less. They contended that the express business could not survive the losses from both sources.

"This is equivalent to saying," comments Commissioner Marble in his report, "that inasmuch as shippers have been given the convenience and economy of the parcel post, the express carriers must, on that account, be allowed to charge higher rates than otherwise would be reasonable. That is to say, the commission is called upon to take from the shippers of the country all the benefit that they receive from the parcel post and give it to the express companies in the form of higher rates upon the remaining business."

Simplifies Existing System.

The new system of rates is not only a simplification of existing rate structures and methods, but in the opinion of rate experts, lays the foundation for future practice in all rate revisions.

While the commission has not considered the practicability of the application of the block system to the making of freight rates, it is known that the question may be taken up almost at any time. With a standard freight rate once established between blocks instead of between points and all other rates stated in percentages of the standard, the mystery of the present complicated mass of feright rates, in the opinion of the commission's experts, would be solved.

The basis of the classification prescribed by the commission is that all articles of merchandise of ordinary value are to be carried at first-class or ordinary merchandise rates. Articles of food and drink, with a few exceptions, are second-class, and are to be carried at 75 per cent of the first-class rate.

The rates for newspapers and periodicals, as well as for bread and such articles for which specially low rates now are charged, are substantially the same as the present rates.

A permanent committee has been appointed to revise the routes of express carriers to eliminate the circuitous routes which are now a cause of considerable complaint on the part of shippers.

PRESSURE BROUGHT BY UNITED STATES

Carranza have been made in the press rejecting mediation proposals, but administration officials realize that both sides fear they may be showing weakness in the acceptance of such a proposal at this time and are not convinced that friendly efforts to mediate would prove ineffective. Officials here hope that the effort to put an end to bloodshed and destruction of property would appeal to public opinion in Mexico and unite the factions on a peace program.

Henry Lane Wilson Out.

Little of an affirmative nature came from President Wilson or Secretary Bryan during the day to indicate what the future policy of the Washington government would be, though the acceptance of the resignation of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson settled finally that his recommendations for recognition of the Huerta government after a period of military co-operation in northern Mexico on the part of the United States to restore peace had been rejected.

The ambassador's views and activities at Mexico City in the closing days of the Taft administration were officially described as at variance with those held by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, and a reiteration came from high officials that the morality of the situation would not permit the recognition of Provisional President Huerta on account of the circumstances surrrounding the death of Madero and Suarez.

While officials of the administration here look with disfavor upon the processes of armed revolution to overthrow constituted governments in Latin-America, there is a distinct feeling of sympathy manifest toward the liberal movement in Central America, of which Madero's administration was the beginning in Mexico.

"Iron Hand" Not in Favor.

Arguments, therefore, that it was necessary to have in Mexico the "iron hand of Diaz," which might be expected in Huerta, failed to make an impression on government officials here, who believe that the Latin-American governments cannot thrive on the extremes of civil tyranny or military distatorships.

These ideas are likely to be reflected in whatever pronouncements the president may make in the near future and form the keynote orf the administration's policy toward Latin republics.

FOUR WARRANTS ISSUED FOR ARREST OF ZACHRY

Augusta, Ga., August 4.—(Special.) Information received here today is that the governor of South Carolina had directed that four warrants be forwarded to Georgia, accompanied by requisition for Julian J. Zachry. None of the Richmond county officials have made any effort to arrest Zachry, who has been here during the day.

What Warrants Charge.

It is stated that the warrants charge kidnaping, cruel treatment of a child, desertion and non-support of wife and child. The basis of the charges, which are said to have been brought directly by Governor Cole L. Blease, after an interview in Columbia with Mrs. Zachry, is that Zachry has failed to pay his wife the alimony awarded her by the court, that he has left her without means of support in ignoring the order of a Georgia court to provide for her, that he has been cruel to his infant child, in that he has deserted the mother and infant, while the latter is sick and left them with no means of sustenance. The kidnaping charge is said to be purely technical, in that he ran away with Frances Zachry, leaving the state of South Carolina without complete due process of law.

Blease to Slaton.

Governor Blease's letter to Governor Slaton is as follows:

"Hon. John Slaton, Atlanta—Dear Sir: Under four separate covers, by registered mail, I am sending you requisition papers in Zachry case. You will notice that this demand is made upon request of the attorney general of our state, who has looked into the matter and has satisfied himself of the facts therein and that Zachry can be convicted. I desire also to state that I have personally examined the statutes in each of the cases and have talked with the witnesses in the matter, and I am thoroughly satisfied that Zachry is guilty under each of the charges as preferred, and that he will be convicted by a jury in this county. Having made personal examination of the supreme court decision and other matters in connection therewith, I am satisfied beyond the shadow of doubt that this man has most flagrantly violated the laws of our state.

"Usually requisitions are made without any personal investigation, merely upon the request of the solicitor of the circuit, or proper prosecuting officer, but in this particular case, knowing of its importance and the interest being taken in it, in both your state and in mine, I made it my particular business to give it my personal attention. I received your wire in reference to hearing. Of course I expected that and, of course, it is right that I should give it, and am satisfied that after you have had full hearing you will do what you believe will be for the best interests of the peace and dignity of both our states. Very respectfully,

"COLE L. BLEASE,
"Governor.

"P. S.—Please forward extradition to this office and I will send agent of this state. In the meantime I respectfully request that Zachry be held in custody by the proper sheriff of your state."

Specialist in diseases of men. 22½ S. Broad St., Room 32 Inman building, Atlanta, Georgia.

For the past nine years I have been located in Atlanta and have devoted my entire time and attention to the treating and curing of special diseases of men. I have never let anything appear in my advertisements that I could not accomplish, and for this reason I have gained a reputation excelled by no other specialists in this line of work. I have demonstrated that a doctor may advertise and yet stand well in the profession, provided he is truthful, well equipped and able to give the best of treatment. If you suffer from any of those diseases peculiar to men and desire honest, conscientious treatment for your case, call and see me. There will be no charge for a thorough examination and all transactions are satisfactory and confidential. I am successor to Dr. Hathaway & Company, so long established in Atlanta. Office hours, 9 to 1, 2 to 7. Sunday, 10 to 12 o'clock only.

On next Tuesday morning (legal sale day) at 10 o'clock, we are going to sell before the Courthouse Door,

111 WHITEHALL TERRACE

The lot fronts 42 feet, has a depth of 108 feet, and has on it a 7-room, 2-story frame dwelling now renting for $20 per month; and with just a little money spent on the house it would easily bring $25 per month.

This property is obliged to be sold in order to wind up the estate of Mrs. Victoria A. Foster. There is a mortgage of $1,000 bearing 7 per cent interest, maturing September 1, 1918, which must be assumed by the purchaser; and the balance paid in cash.

Go out and examine this property carefully and attend the sale next Tuesday.
